District 31-A Lions Meeting This Sunday

The fourth Cabinet Meeting of District 31-A will be held at the Elsie Home in West Asheville this Sunday at 1:00 o'clock. This is the final Cabinet meeting before the State Lions Convention in Asheville.

Marshall Lion President Wade Huey and Edward Morton, secretary, as well as other members of the club are expected to attend. The Hot Springs club is also expected to be represented at the meeting.

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court told the states Monday they have the right—even a duty—to decide what kind of sex material youngsters may see and read.

"The well-being of its children is of course a subject within the state's constitutional power to regulate," Justice William J. Brennan Jr., said in a 6-3 decision.

Moreover, Brennan said, parents, teachers and others who have the prime responsibility of rearing children "are entitled to the support of law designed to aid discharge of that responsibility."

The ruling was the court's first venture into a growing kind of antipornography law—one designed especially for children.

A New York statute was specifically endorsed. And in a companion case, the court threw out a Dallas ordinance geared to movies, because the justices found the classification standards vague.

Here, too, the court said—through Justice Thurgood Marshall—that "a state may regulate the dissemination to juveniles of, and their access to, material objectionable as to them, but which a state clearly could not regulate as to adults."

The vote was 8 to 1. Justice William O. Douglas and Hugo L. Black filed a dissent in the New York case.

Commenting wryly that "the juvenile delinquents I have known are mostly over 50 years of age," Douglas described the court as "the nation's board of censors."

"With all respect," he said, "I do not know of any group in the country less qualified first, to know what obscenity is when they see it, and second, to have any considered judgment as to what" (Continued To Last Page)

ALUMNI BANQUET HERE MAY 18 TO BE ONE OF BEST

Great Team Of '57 To Be There; Addresses Needed

The 1968 Marshall-Walnut Alumni Banquet, to be held at the Marshall luncheon room on Saturday, May 18, is shaping up to be one of the most enjoyable and interesting banquets in history. Charles "Ham" Crowe, president, and the various committees are making preliminary plans and more will be publicized at a later date.

The theme in this year's banquet will center around the great Tornado football team of 1957 which compiled the greatest record of any team in Marshall's history. This was the team which won 10 consecutive games during the regular season and won two playoff games to reach the State semi-finals before Mebane defeated the Tornadoes 25-0 in the rain and mud.

It is hoped that many members of the team, the cheerleaders and the majorettes will be present where they will be recognized and honored. It is thought that films of the Glen Alpine-Marshall and Walnut-Marshall games of '57 will be shown. (Continued to Last Page)

STOCKER SALE IN SPRING NETS HIGHER PRICES

By FREDERICK E. BOSS, Agricultural Extension Agent

The annual Spring Stocker Sale is now history. In looking back, those who watched other people bid up to thirty-one cents for calves last fall and shaking their head, said, "They'll never make money on those," were wrong. Good Hereford steer calves averaging 427 lbs. last fall sold for $9.80 or $127.24 per head. Under average management a man should have been able to put 200 pounds per head on these calves, and if he sold them in the Spring Sale they would have averaged 627 pounds and brought 29.25 cents per pound or $183.39 per head. This would be an average of $56.15 increase in value. The calves would have to have been fed a total of 200 days with the use of fall pasture and winter cover crop. The price of silage used protein supplement would amount to a cost of about $18.00 which means the return to labor and management would be strong $40.00 per head. When you consider that this would be about $10 profit in a good year on keeping" (Continued to Last Page)

Encyclopaedia Britannica announced the bicentennial gift program recently in a ceremony at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington attended by President Lyndon B. Johnson.

In accepting the gifts, President Johnson call the donation a "very generous and farsighted act."

"Nothing gives me greater satisfaction than the fact that the old ideas of station and the old ideas of privilege are withering away and are dying on the vine. I think that is especially true in education," President Johnson said.

The books are being distributed to 665 elementary and 335 high school systems, public and private, selected by the U. S.
