Marketing Rights Bill To Benefit Many Farmers

The president of the North Carolina Farm Bureau predicted today that the recent passage of the Marketing Rights Bill "would go a long way toward restoring some degree of stability to the marketing of agricultural products grown under contract."

B. C. Mangum condemned the practice of those handlers who have engaged in unfair practices in dealing with producers. "Those pockets of discrimination are exactly what prompted the drive for such legislation and the reason for its approval by the Tarheel Congressional delegation," he said.

Major divisions of the marketing rights measure make it unlawful for a handler to coerce a producer in the exercise of his right to join and belong to an association of producers. In addition, a handler who intimidates or coerces a producer to breach, cancel, or terminate a membership agreement or marketing contract with an association will be in violation of the law.

"We have known for a long time," Mangum continued, "that farmers must get into a position to bargain more effectively if they are to measurably increase their income. The enactment of the Marketing Rights Bill should eliminate the fear of discrimination among farmers."

The Farm Bureau chief lauded the bill as "the most important piece of farm legislation to be passed by Congress in a long time."

GETTING MIXED UP
The wrongs of some people are continually getting mixed up with the rights of others.

our own folks! We met some old friends from other camping events, and we visited with the Mars Hill Cadettes; it was nice to see familiar faces in that gathering of 650 girls, the largest Girl Scout gathering we had ever been in. Our leader, Miss Janet Rougier, says we were well-behaved and worked well together. She even told our parents that she had no "behavior problems" (what's that?) and that every girl got a chance to prove herself in the camping situation with others. One great experience was getting to know Miss Rougier's friend who went with us to assist, Miss Ana Simonetti of Argentina. Ana was named by her country to be an exchange VISTA, and works and teaches in Mitchell County. She has only been in this country for five months, and is still working hard at the language.

Patrol Leader for Troop 350 is Phyllis Lyden; other Cadettes going were Becky Reed, Susan Frisby, Marilyn Wyatt, Penny Houston, Nancy Gentry and Susan Gregory.

Thought for the Month: "Pitch your tent at the side of a mountain, in a field blanketed with flowers. Make your way through the crisp, cold air. This is the world of the out-of-doors. The wonderful world where campers live. This is a world where children can do things they cannot do, or do as well, anywhere else." From "Because of Camping" — (A Girl Scout filmstrip.)

equipment from the supply area, and by six o'clock had our three tents up, and our firewood stacked. This is a wonderful campground, firewood in all sizes piled in two easily accessible places, a water faucet and picnic table at each camper's site, and a wonderful fishing lake with swim area and pier. Becky got a rope burn while helping with the first tent, but all went well until Saturday when we all began to get sunburns. A scraped foot, a threat of laryngitis, and an ingrowing toenail were all manageable, but by Sunday afternoon that sunburn was getting after us! We were thankful for the glorious weather. We managed our camping chores so that we did not need to mess a single part of the program.

We had a nice surprise at the Sunday morning worship service when the minister was introduced as a former pastor of Marshall Methodist Church. That's our meeting place, and of course we heard every word. The minister was Mr. Joseph M. Reeves, now the pastor of St. Timothy's Methodist Church in Brevard. We didn't get to perform our Hippy version of The Three Bears, but we were prepared, and you may be sure we'll be doing it soon for

Vote For Liston Ramsey In The Democratic Primary On May 4

Board Of Education Candidates

We are seeking your support for a position on the Madison County Board of Education. If nominated in the Democratic Primary May 4, 1968 and elected to the Madison County Board of Education, we promise to cooperate with the State Department of Education and spend all of the State and Federal monies available to Madison County in order to improve the educational opportunities for every child in Madison County.

We further promise to show no favoritism toward any group, section, or locality. We simply promise to live up to our oath which will be required if nominated and elected, that is, to use all means at our disposal to give each child in the public schools of Madison County the maximum opportunity available under the law.

By law, as well as custom, the candidates' names will appear on the voting machine in alphabetical order, therefore, you will observe the last two names for the Board of Education will be the names of Emery Wallin and William A. Whitson. Vote for these two candidates in the Democratic Primary May 4, who will work to give you a program of progress for our public schools.
