The annual French Broad EMC meeting last Saturday on the Island was highly successful — large crowd, good entertainment by the Kingsmen Quartet — fine dinner in luncheonroom served by Marshall Boosters Club — good speeches — everything went off swell except that I didn't win one of the prizes — oh, well, that's par for the course — I did win an electric clock last year — J. C. Brown, Jr., the principal speaker, and I had quite a fine "visit" with each other before the meeting — it's a wonder he didn't clobber me as I kept talking to him while he was trying to review his notes for his talk — Eldridge Fox and the Kingsmen Quartet are fine fellows — and I enjoy hearing them sing — they're just about the best in my opinion — Mark Bennett of Burnsville, was present and told me to put his name in the paper — so there you are, Mark — glad to see you again — ate dinner with Representative Ernest Messer and enjoyed talking with him — went over to Asheville after the meeting and enjoyed sitting with Congressman Roy Taylor and Tom Mallonee at the S&W during supper — Con. Taylor said he enjoyed seeing the Marshall Seniors in Washington last week and stated that "they were having a wonderful time when he talked with them" — Wade Huey and I had a fine time at Eliada Home last Sunday p. m. at the Lions Cabinet meeting — plenty of good food and entertainment — Eliada Home is a beautiful place and well supervised — the children are neatly dressed with most courteous manners — I urge you to visit there sometime — several of the candidates for Congress, etc., have visited the office in the past few weeks — it's been nice meeting them — they all seem like real nice fellows — but some of them are going to be disappointed Saturday night — and some are going to be happy — but that's the way the political ball bounces — heard that the Seniors of MHS really had a fine time in Washington and N. Y. — I'm glad the boys saw Mantle connect for a homerun at Yankee Stadium — I'll bet Roy Reeves almost fell off the third tier — last Friday morning the Rev. Clell Fisher, pastor of the Locust Grove Baptist Church, asked me to "try out" an Allen organ which his members were about to buy — although I'm no qualified judge of organs, I went with him and I'm glad I did — the Locust Grove church is one of the most beautifully furnished churches I've seen — and what a beautiful location — he was most complimentary about the members and from all I understand it would be a fine church to belong to — I played the organ and quickly fell in love with it — I told him if the church didn't buy it, I would — but he later told me the church decided to purchase it — I'm sure it will greatly add to the already fine sanctuary — the piano is also a good one and when they get the piano and organ synchronized it will be great — hope to get back up there soon — speaking of organs, I attended the concert by internationally-known Tom R. Thompson who demonstrated the Hammon in Lee Edwards auditorium Monday night — he was great, as was John La Duca, a few nights ago — two organ concerts within two weeks were greatly enjoyed since I love organ music — the "going-out-of-business" sale at Belk's continues but the merchandise is getting scarce — everyone hates to see Belk's leave Marshall — our town can ill afford to lose any business — we should be growing — not moving out —

OBSERVATIONS
By DOROTHY B. SHUPE

I'll bet I've got something at my house that you have never seen! I have a snake plant — that is blooming! It has three blooms and by the time this gets into print, they will probably be gone, but I've taken a picture of it and I'll be delighted to show it to you when we meet. There are other names for the plant, such as mother-in-law tongue, and the official name, according to Lib Baker's flower book, is sansevieria.

Her book also said it was sort of unusual for one to bloom, but with proper care — and you know how well I tend to flowers? — that one could expect blooms. I have tried hard to remember to water it — at least once every three weeks.

I ran into Bruce and Dot Teague in Asheville this (Tuesday) afternoon and they were talking about people down here that they hear about through this column. They have a married daughter and a son and seemed to be enjoying life at about the same pace as the rest of us — working and not having enough time to visit friends. We all ate at the Bonanza House and Margaret Ramsey is still working there and was her usual pleasant self.

Congratulations to Freida Allen and Jewell Ball on getting a scholarship at Mars Hill. Both are fine girls and a credit to our school and county. Also saw in the paper about Linda Redmon Moore's husband, Jackie, getting the Purple Heart for some bravery in Vietnam. Thank you, Jackie, and may you not get any more wounds.

Several of my former students have been around. At the JV baseball game Friday afternoon, Fred Messer, Hugh Messer and Earl Davis were chatting with me — and guess what Fred was complaining about? He said our girls were too silly! I can remember when he was so fat we had to beat some of it off! And Tom Nolan came by yesterday and he was complaining about the girls' homelife! What a change a few years make!

Saw James Lee Davis, former Walnut students, in Asheville this afternoon and he's a hustling bread salesman in Asheville. Gee, I can remember when he and Lewis Randall, James Plemmons, Russell Thomas, Johnny Chandler, L. D. Roberts and Eldridge Leake were in my health class and how much fun they had playing basketball — Seems like a long time ago, boys!

OBSERVED — Did your lilacs get by the frost this year; mine did, but I didn't have too many blooms — My azaleas were pretty until frost nipped them — Pearl has some pretty yellow flowers in her yard, I forget what she calls them — David and Edith have beautiful phlox next door, but I hope everyone thinks they are mine cause they are right beside my line — Do you realize that school is about out for this year, three more weeks, and I'd better hush and get to the pile of work waiting for me — Don't forget the Spring Festival to be held at the Walnut School Friday night, sponsored by the Walnut PTA.

LEAVE A RUMOR?

Husband answering the telephone: "She's not home, Mrs. Smith. Would you like to leave a rumor?"
