Make Plans At Meeting Tuesday

Members of the Marshall Merchants Association met Tuesday night at the REA Building where various plans were discussed and made.

The group voted to again assist the firemen in having fire works on July 4.

The group also plans to see highway officials in efforts to get more interstate signs for Marshall and Mars Hill posted since there are practically no travel directions to either town.

It was also planned to contact the extension department in efforts to start new cash crops for the county to complement tobacco and tomatoes, if possible.

A liaison committee will also be named to assist town officials in local problems and solutions, it was stated.

finally been made, according to an announcement by Charles Huey, president of the Madison County Ambulance Service.

Huey states that he has had a meeting of minds with all three of the Madison County commissioners of which he has the highest regards and they unanimously accepted his recommendation in resolving the differences heretofore existing with the Madison County Ambulance Service.

Huey states that the recommendation accepted by county commissioners, R. Bruce Sams, chairman; W. T. Moore and Ervin Adams, members, reads as follows: "To use Talmadge McLean and Edward McLean, who have been certified by the state, as ambulance attendants and to use Celola Ramsey and Truman Wyatt as assistants". Huey stated that the assistants did not have to be certified for these posts.

The McLeans officially began their duties last Saturday with Ramsey and Wyatt as assistants, Huey said.

He also stated that other ambulance attendants in the county who are now serving include Jim Ammons, Auther Ammons and Carroll Ammons, at Mars Hill; and George K. Ramsey at Hot Springs.

Marshall Youth Improving After Pistol Wound Here

Ronnie Brazil, 20, of Marshall, is improving in the Memorial Mission Hospital after being in critical condition since early last Sunday morning when he was shot twice in the chest following an altercation on a parking area on the Marshall by-pass. Sheriff E. Y. Ponder, who investigated, said Brazil was wounded with 22-caliber pistol shots.

J. D. Gosnell, 20, also of Marshall, was arrested following the shooting and placed in the Madison County jail here. He was released Tuesday on a $1500 bond, Ponder stated.

Brazil, a graduate of Marshall High School, is the son of the late Mrs. Charlie Nix, of Marshall. Gosnell, who attended Marshall High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jonah Gosnell of Marshall.

According to Ponder, Gosnell and a companion, Jerry Haynie, had attended movie at a local drive-in theater and the two youths were traveling east on the by-pass. With Brazil in another car, also traveling east, were Ronnie Baker, Rickey Baker and Danny Goforth. It was stated that these youths had attended a dance at the local community building earlier. When the two cars pulled off the highway into the parking area about 12:30 a.m., an altercation started and in less than a minute, Brazil had been wounded. An ambulance was called and he was rushed to the hospital.

The cause of the shooting and altercation has not yet been determined, Ponder said.

MARS HILL COLLEGE PRESIDENT, DR. FRED B. BENTLEY (right) and Mrs. W. K. Anderson of Mars Hill examined this week the construction of the entrance pergola to the college's new half-acre amphitheater complex. The complex was named in honor of the Andersons at formal dedication ceremonies Saturday night. The 35-year-old outdoor theater has been developed into a scenic arena with the additions of the pergola, lighted fountains, rock gardens, dressing room building, roof garden and landscaped walkways. The development was financed by the Anderson's daughter, Mrs. Doris Jean Wallace, and her husband, Bruce Wallace of Houston, Tex. (Mars Hill College photo by Walter Smith.)

Scholarships Awarded Students At Mars Hill

Over $25,000 worth of scholarships were handed out to enrolled and in-coming students at Mars Hill College during a recent honors day program.

Chief scholarship winners were rising seniors Shirley McIntosh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Frank McIntosh of Weaverville Rt. 2, and Lawrence Pfaff, son of Mrs. Louise J. Pfaff of Pelham Place, Winston-Salem. They were awarded $500 Treadwell scholarship, established this year with a gift of $42,000 worth of Zenith Radio Corp. stock from Mr. and Mrs. Leonard C. Treadwell of Ocala, Fla.

History professor, Dr. Harley E. Jolley and English assistant professor, Mrs. Betty Jean Hughes were selected by students and faculty for the college's $500 "Excellence in Teaching" awards. By coincidence, the two were undergraduate classmates at Appalachian State University during the late 1940s. The award was prompted by a grant received last year from the First Baptist Church of Greensboro for such faculty recognition.

Selected for Whitehorse scholarships of the Citizens Bank of Marshall were three Madison County spring graduates: Miss Brenda Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. General G. Cook of Marshall Rt. 3; Herbert Buckner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Buckner of Marshall Rt. 2; and Nancy Jo Gentry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Gentry of Marshall.

The remaining students of Madison County honored were the winners of other scholarships, as follows:

MARS HILL—Kenneth Buckner, a rising sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard E. Buckner of Sprinkle Creek Rd., received a $400 Trustees scholarship. Kenneth Castelleo, a graduate of Mars Hill High, son of Mrs. Helen Murray Castelleo, received a $400 Trustees scholarship. Miss Susan Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Chapman, was installed as a college marshal. Mrs. Janet Buckner Farkas, a rising junior, received a $400 Trustees scholarship. Miss Debra Ferguson, a rising junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ferguson of Burnsville Hwy., received a $400 Trustees scholarship and was installed as a college marshal. Miss Diane

Hunt, a rising senior, received a $200 Dean's scholarship. Benjamin Jolley, a rising junior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley E. Jolley of Anderson St., won a John Maxwell Bunn biology scholarship and was installed as a college marshal. Miss Diane
