Tuesday Deadline

The public is again reminded that Tuesday morning is the deadline for news and advertising to be published that week.

This newspaper often receives articles after 11 a.m. on Tuesdays, both personally delivered and through the mails, which are too late for printing.

This early deadline is necessitated due to printing the News-Record on Tuesday nights, although the deadline on paper is Thursday.

Articles received after the deadline are published the following week, where feasible.

Another reminder is that the office of The News-Record is open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Mondays, Thursdays and Fridays. On Tuesday the office is open from 8 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., with the same hours for Saturdays. Those wishing to leave "copy" when office is closed may do so by slipping "copy" through slit in door.

Individuals who wish original glossy pictures which have been published (marriages, engagements, etc.) are urged to pick them up immediately after publication. They may be misplaced if left in office too long.

A correction is in order... In last week's issue, in the birth announcements, it read, born to Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Cody, of Marshall, a son, Kermit Bernard Cody III. of course this should have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Cody, JR. Edith and I laughed about it and I promised to make the correction after all, Kermit and Edith are proud grandparents... I'm glad that two of my close friends are able to be out again... Jeter P. Ramsey is recuperating at his home from leg injuries suffered several weeks ago, he's now able to drive again and says he'll soon be able to resume checker playing and on Monday afternoon, my croquet pal, Andrew Bridges, came in the office to say "hello", he's been with his daughter, Sue, on Route 1, Swannanoa, after being a patient at the Orthopedic Hospital in Asheville... I really enjoyed all three basketball games at the gym here last Friday night... the JV boy's game was close and exciting and I was thrilled at how well the girls played in defeating the girls of Owen High... and the night was complete when the Patriots defeated the Owen Warhorses... it was also pleasing to see the fans from Mars Hill, Marshall, Spring Creek, Hot Springs and Laurel all sitting on the same side of the gym yelling for the same teams... the Patriots incidentally, I don't know the feminine of Patriots so I guess the girls will be called girl Patriots... don't think there's such a word as Patriotesses oh, well, just so they keep on winning, I want to thank the Ralph Ramseys for bringing Bill and me those delicious oranges from Florida... mighty nice of them, the Christmas street lights look real nice, as usual, but due to the energy crisis, they're not turned on at night... the gasoline shortage is really being felt around here... and thank goodness for these "warm nights" which don't require much heating fuel... can't last for long, though... Woman Can't Open Mouth

Carlton, England — Roly poly housewife Shirley Turner, jealous of the wolf whistles her bikini-clad daughters attract on the beach, has got her teeth into a new slimming diet. She's had surgeons cement her jaws together to stop her eating.

The 35-year-old housewife, a hefty 238 pounds, chuckled through clenched teeth and said: "I've lost 15 pounds in two weeks and my teeth will stay locked together until I'm down to 124 pounds."

At this rate she won't be able to open her mouth until next June.

Mrs. Turner's trouble is that she's a compulsive eater and nothing could make her stop. So doctors at nearby Nottingham General Hospital decided the only way to get her to kick the habit was a cement muzzle.

They applied cement to her upper and lower teeth and screwed a silver splint in the cement on each side of her mouth. "It was painful at first, but not it feels better and gnawing hunger pangs have gone," she muttered.

"What really made me decide to have this treatment was that I love fashionable clothes, but I just couldn't get any to fit me."

The clincher came last summer when wolf-whistling beach boys giving her two teen-age daughters the eye made her feel embarrassed about her bulk.

"It was awful," Mrs. Turner groaned. "I just couldn't put my bikini on and face it. But if this treatment works, I'll be wearing a bikini and sunbathing next summer. Being fat is terrible."

She can't open her mouth at all. "I'm living entirely on tea, coffee and tomato soup spiced with plenty of salt, pepper and vinegar."

Doctors keep a close check on Mrs. Turner because mechanical lockjaw isn't the easiest way to lose weight. "It could be done only under strict supervision," a medical expert said.

IN MEMORY
Of My Mother,
MRS. MANDA CANTRELL
Who Recently Passed Away

"BLESSINGS THAT REMAIN"

My dear loved Mother who, is missing
From the fireside and the feast
Her face that has vanished
Her voice that has ceased
But I know she's passed forever
From our mortal grief and pain
And I thank thee, O our Jesus
For the blessings that remain

Thanksgiving, oh Thanksgiving
That her love once blessed all of us here
That she so long walked beside us
Sharing every smile and tear
For the joy the past she brought us
No one can take away
For the sweet and gracious memories
Growing dearer every day

For the faith that keeps us patient
Looking at the things unseen
Knowing spring shall follow winter
And the earth again be green
For the hope of that glad meeting
Far from mortal grief and pain
I thank thee, O our Jesus
For the blessings that remain

Sadly missed by her daughter, Marie Byars, of Rochelle, Ill.

Pharmacy Comments

The Patient's Right

Do patients have the right to take their doctor's prescriptions to any drug center? "Absolutely!" This goes for prescription refills, also.

That right holds true even if the physician dispenses drugs from his own drug dispensary. In such a case it is natural for the doctor to want you to fill your prescription in his office pharmacy, but the fact remains you still have a perfect right to have all your prescriptions and "refills" filled at the pharmacy of your choice.

Why not exercise your freedom of choice by bringing your next "script" to our prescription window? Think of us as your "personal" pharmacist and of me as your "personal" pharmacist. We're independently owned and operated.

FIRST UNION NATIONAL
Marshall Weaverville

Get the job done, and done right. That's the North Carolina tradition.

There are few places in America where people live so far apart and spread out for so many miles as in North Carolina. It gives us a privacy and freedom unknown to most of the modern world. To your telephone company, that privacy and freedom means fewer telephones per mile than practically anywhere else. Telephone wires must run great distances, often for a single telephone. And the distance our skilled repairmen must travel to repair a line is longer. This means that your telephone company's costs are much higher than most. But it's a tradition in North Carolina that whatever the problem, somehow you get the job done, and done right. And that's why we've invested millions of dollars of new cable, switching equipment and telephones, to give you fewer party lines, faster calling, and service as modern as any in the nation. There are still more improvements coming, and much more to do. That means a great deal more money will have to be invested. But if that's what it takes to give North Carolina the best service possible, it's worth every penny!
