

Dr. Stillion To Speak At Library

Dr. Judy Stillion, associate professor, author and lecturer, will speak on "Keepin' and Copin'" as an Appalachian woman Thursday, Aug. 7 at 7:30 p.m. at the Yancey County Public Library in Burnsville.

Stillion, associate professor in psychology at Western Carolina University and Director of Research and Special Programs, will look at being a woman in Appalachia today. She will discuss keeping the culture and heritage while coping with changes as a woman in Appalachia today.

The series of forums, "The Essence of the Appalachian Women: Makin' a Livin' - Makin' a Life" is being sponsored by the Council on Appalachian Women, Inc. (CAW).

The CAW will pay 17 cents per mile to the driver of any car with four or more people. Admission is free and the public is invited. Refreshments will be served following the forum.

Ice Follies

Scheduled

In Asheville

The Ice Follies and Holiday on Ice combined shows opens Wednesday, August 13, at the Asheville Civic Center for 8 performances through Sunday, August 17.

Highlighted in this presentation produced by Irvin and Kenneth Feld, are such skating talents as 1976 Olympic Silver Medalist, Dianne deLeeuw; Paul Heath, acrobatic skater; the Beattys, presenting their comical ballroom dance parody; Sue Engbrecht, a 20-year-old skater from Illinois making her debut as a solo skater; Almut Lehmann and Herbert Wiesinger, three-time German Pair Skating Champions; Jim and Judy Sladky, five-time U.S. Ice Dancing Champions; and 32 other skaters performing a variety of precision routines throughout the lavish spectacular.

Tickets are on sale at all Civic Center Outlets and the Civic Center Box Office. Reserved seat tickets are priced at $5.50, $6.50 and $7.50. A special discount for children under 12 and senior citizens is available at selected performances.

CARD OF THANKS

Madison 4-Hers Return After Wisconsin Visit

By EDITH CHEEK

Last summer a group of Walworth County, Wisconsin 4-Hers made a trip from Wisconsin to North Carolina by plane and stayed for a week in the homes of Madison County 4-H leaders and members. They experienced living "Madison County Style" and had an exciting week of fun, learning, and trying new things.

As the week came to a close, members from both states made promises to write often and said goodbye for a year. That year was a busy year with fund-raising activities for both clubs looking forward to meeting once again; this time in Walworth Co., Wisconsin. Such fund-raising attempts as car washes, bake sales, roller-skating parties, rummage sales, a haunted house at

Halloween, and lots of baby-sitting finally enabled the Madison County Exchange Club to board a Piedmont airplane last Sunday and visit their friends in Wisconsin for a fun week of living "Wisconsin Style!"

Sixteen Madison countians composing the Madison Exchange Club include chaperones Sharon Brown and Mrs. Gene Breedlove, and the "gang": Stuart Franklin, Allen Stines, Robin Self, Edith Cheek, Betty Jean Lawson, Marlon Franklin, Penny Frisby, Peggy Sexton, Donnie Roberts, Linda Self, Delmar Swaney, Edwin Cheek, Trina Breedlove, and Donna Deal.

Each member lived with a Wisconsin family in one of the several towns in Walworth County. The adventures planned by the Wisconsin 4-Hers for their Madison County guests included: an elevator ride up 103 stories in the Chicago Sears Tower, a ride on the Lake Geneva mail boat as it made its daily route around the lake delivering mail to the residents, a tour of Yerkes Observatory in Williams Bay, the Walworth County 4-H Picnic, a day in Milwaukee (including a tour of the Miller Brewery, the State Fair and a ballgame between the Brewers and the N.Y. Yankees!), not to mention the two free days left for each family to plan.

After such an exciting visit, sixteen very tired and sorry to leave Madison County 4-Hers said farewell to their Walworth County friends and returned home to Madison County and home. All agreed that the chance to experience another region, culture, and way of life made them appreciate many things about their own even more.

The club is back at home safe and sound and already excited about trying some of the new ideas they learned on the trip. If your curiosity has been aroused about Walworth County, Wisconsin, or just about hearing a more detailed account of the trip, just ask one of the 16 who went and they will be very glad to share what they learned and observed.

Sourville / Festival To Show Off Train

Visitors to the Sourville Festival in Black Mountain, N.C. will have an opportunity to learn something of the history and modern sides of railroading this weekend. Both the "Best Friend of Charleston" — Southern Railway's colorful train from the past — and the Southern Railway Exhibit Car will be on display.

The Exhibit Car, with many new displays, including a working model train actually powered by solar energy, will be open to visitors Saturday, August 9 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the side track beside the old depot in Black Mountain. In the car, slide shows, dioramas, scale and working models depict Southern's computerized operations, detection of overheated wheel bearings and many other facets of modern railroading. A display on solar energy shows how Southern harnesses the sun's rays to meet varied energy needs.

The "Best Friend" consists of steam engine, tender and two open coaches, and was built in 1928 from the plans of the original "Best Friend," which inaugurated regular steam railroad passenger service on December 25, 1830. It will be on Ridgecrest's side track, Saturday, August 9 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. and will give brief rides.

Between 1970 and 1979, the "Best Friend" was viewed by an estimated 4.3 million people, while 271,000 rode the famous replica.

Its appearances have included a number of functions connected with the 1979 South Carolina Tricentennial and the 1976 United States Bicentennial celebrations, and such events as the Presidential Inaugural parade in 1977.

Since 1971, the Exhibit Car has visited 150 cities and been viewed by over a quarter-million people.
