Roberts Receives Award

Doris Jean Roberts of Madison County received a certificate for 10 years of service as a program aide in the Expanded Foods and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP) Thursday, July 2 in Raleigh.

A total of 33 program aides from across the state received 10-year service awards at the recent "On-Campus Days" for EFNEP aides at North Carolina State University.

The EFNEP program of the Agricultural Extension Service, is marking its 12th anniversary this year.

Its objective is to help families with limited resources, especially those with young children, to acquire knowledge, skills, attitudes and changed behavior to improve their diets.

The program is currently in operation in 95 counties, including the Cherokee Indian Reservation, reaching 73,000 North Carolina families.

EFNEP program aides usually live in the community where they work and teach on an individual or small group basis.

As of March 31, 1981, a total of 261 aides were permanently employed on a part-time basis.

The "On-Campus Days," held this year for the sixth time, are designed to acquaint the aides with the resources of the university, present educational programs and stimulate ideas and enthusiasm for future work.

Speakers addressing the EFNEP aides included University of North Carolina President William Friday, Extension Director T. C. Blalock, Dean J.E. Legates of the School of Agriculture and Life Sciences and Mrs. Minnie Miller Brown, state home economics agent and administrator of the EFNEP program.

Youth Choir To Present Musical Drama

The Youth Choir of the Boiling Springs Baptist Church will present a musical drama, "Bright New Wings," on July 19 at 7 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Marshall.

The choir has recently returned from a week-long mission tour to New York, presenting the program in churches, nursing homes and on village greens en route and in the Farmingdale Baptist Church in New York.

The public is invited to attend the musical which has been favorably received wherever it has been presented.

Suzanne and Michelle Sanford, granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Corbett, are members of the choir.
