PRIZE-WINNING 'Scarlett O'Hara' dolls are displayed in New York.

Susie, Kathryn Boone Win Awards For Dolls

Suzie Boone and Kathryn Boone of Marshall recently received awards in a New York competition sponsored by the Doll Artisan Guild.

Both received red ribbons for their "Scarlett O'Hara" dolls.

The Scarlett contest involved researching the dolls to insure authenticity in painting and costuming. The dolls were dressed from scenes of "The Barbecue" and "The Street Scene in Atlanta" from the movie "Gone With the Wind". They were on display during the annual Doll Convention held in June at Hunt College in Oneonta, N.Y., then left at the guild throughout the summer for visitors to view.

The annual reproduction contest, held in June, involved dolls that are authentic reproductions of dolls dating from the 1870's to the 1920's. The original dolls are now considered to be antiques.

Suzie entered a reproduction of Angelica Bru, a French doll, circa 1878, that was awarded a White Ribbon. The doll was dressed in beige silk and French lace.

Kathryn entered a Baby Gloria, a German doll, made around 1920. The doll, dressed in imported peach batiste and ecru French lace, was also awarded a white ribbon.

Suzie and Kathryn are members of the Doll Artisan Guild, an International Organization with over 4,000 members.

Suzie is owner of Suzie's Ceramics, on Main Street in Marshall. Kathryn is a teacher at Marshall Elementary School.

They are currently working on their projects for the Guild's 1983 Convention in New York, New York, which they plan to attend.
