

MHC Choir To Perform

The Mars Hill College Choir has received an invitation to participate in a European festival next summer celebrating the 300th birthday of J. S. Bach. The 45-member choir will travel to Vienna for the festival June 12-15, and then give a series of performances in Berne, Switzerland; Strasbourg, France; Munich, West Germany; and Leipzig, East Germany.

To help meet the $1,500 per-student cost of the trip, the choir will perform a pops concert Saturday, November 17, at 7:30 p.m. in Moore Auditorium. The concert's theme is "A Night on Broadway," and will include selections from "The Sound of Music," "South Pacific," "The King and I," "Oliver," "Fiddler on the Roof," "Annie," "The Fantasticks," and "The Music Man." In addition, there will be a variety of group numbers, solos, and instrumentals during the performance.

Tickets are $4 for adults, $2 for students, and children under six will be admitted free. Additional information about the tour, the concert, or donations may be obtained from Dr. William Thomas, Choir Director, Mars Hill College, Mars Hill, N. C. 28754, telephone 689-1209.

UNC Alumni To Meet

John Swofford and Douglas Dibbert will be the special guests at a dinner and meeting of the local University of North Carolina Alumni chapter on Nov. 21 at the Asheville Civic Center.

Swofford is the UNC athletic director and Dibbert is the university's director of alumni affairs.

The Nov. 21 meeting will precede the Carolina basketball game against Marathon Oil. It will open with a social at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. Cost of the dinner is $8.50 per person. Game tickets are available at $9 each. Game tickets will be distributed at the pre-game party.

For reservations or more information, contact J. Roger Gregg at 254-6357.

Commissioners Hear Road Complaints

Roads—their maintenance and names—were the prime topics of discussion at Monday's meeting of the Madison County Board of Commissioners.

Robert Rouillard of Spring Creek asked the commissioners for help in getting the state Department of Transportation to repair the road he lives on. Rouillard and other homeowners along Wooleyshot Rd. asked for help.

Speaking for the other residents, Rouillard told the commissioners that Wooleyshot Rd. is designated as State Road 1171 on state highway maps. Rouillard said that DOT officials have told him that the road is not a state-maintained road and was placed on the map by mistake.

The commissioners gave Rouillard a petition to be signed by the other homeowners along the road. The petition will be forwarded to DOT officials in Raleigh.

The ongoing saga of Grandview Rd. continued Monday night when Mrs. Jane Hendrix again asked the commissioners to rename her road near the Buncombe County line. The commissioners had earlier designated the road 'North Grandview' after Mrs. Hendrix requested a change.

The road, which crosses into Madison County before returning to Buncombe County, had been incorrectly named the Huey Extension Rd. before being renamed by the commissioners.

Further complicating the situation is the road's state designation. One section of the road in question is State Road 1568, and a second section of the same road is designated as SR 1592.

Renaming the road "Grandview" as Mrs. Hendrix requested will require a public hearing. The commissioners listened to Mrs. Hendrix for more than a half hour Monday night, but took no action on her request.

In other business, Sam Parker came before the board to ask for a resolution accepting a grant to the county to provide sewer service to the Madison Manor Nursing Home. The commissioners accepted the grant and signed signature cards needed to appropriate funds for the project. When completed, the sewer line from the nursing home will connect with sewer lines being installed by the town of Mars Hill.

The commissioners went into executive session twice during Monday's meeting. They met behind closed doors with Ed Morton of the county Health Dept. to discuss what was termed a personnel matter and later met with board attorney Larry Leake to discuss a legal matter. In both cases, no action was taken following a return to open session.

Microswitch To Assist Mars Hill College

Mars Hill College has received a $15,000 grant from the Micro Switch Division of Honeywell to assist with the construction of a waste water plant which will serve both the college and the town of Mars Hill.

The college and town put together a joint venture in 1981 which will replace the college's current treatment facility and establish a system for the town's residents. The college will furnish four acres of land, collector lines already in place, a cash outlay of $150,000 and will operate the plant as its share of the costs. The town of Mars Hill has received FHA financing, state and federal grants, and a citizen-approved bond issue for its $2.5 million portion of the project. The debt will be financed through user fees.

"We are pleased to be able to assist our good neighbor and friend, Mars Hill College, in this project," stated Robert Holey, Location Manager for the Mars Hill plant.

Micro Switch has provided scholarships for Madison County students to attend Mars Hill since 1975. The plant opened in 1973, and produces three of the division's major product lines.
