

Allen Stines Is Honored

Allen Stines was recognized as an outstanding 4-H volunteer during ceremonies in Raleigh recently. The award was presented at the Volunteer 4-H Leaders Association conference at the Marriott Hotel in the Crabtree Valley Shopping Center.

Some 325 adult volunteers attended the two-day conference which featured the election and installation of state association officers, an idea fair and awards banquet. Among Madison County attendees attending the conference were Pauline Cheek of Mars Hill and Brenda Spence of Walnut.

Dr. Chester Black, North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service director, presented the award to Stines. Mrs. Spence assisted in a workshop that developed a leader handbook that will be distributed statewide and Mrs. Cheek received thanks for completing her term as state treasurer of the association.

hills of Madison County, measuring the temperature of its springs and looking for other signs of escaping hot air from beneath the surface. By means of infrared photography, Stupka hopes to be able to show evidence of thermal activity.

"Anyone knowing of any hot springs, or hot steam blow holes or vents, or even deep caves, we'd like to hear from them," Smathers said. "We want to compile enough conclusive evidence by April 16, to convince the DOE that Western North Carolina is unsuitable for their purpose."

Dr. Garrett Smathers has asked that anyone who has any information concerning geological, hydrological, ecological or other scientific characteristics that could disqualify WNC from DOE's list of repository candidates to call him at Canton Town Hall, 648-2363.

long-term lease of the property for one year, Tilson said.
In the only action taken at the special meeting, the attendees approved $800 to reseed a bank on property owned by Ruby Reese.

Augusta Jenkins mentioned that she had received several complaints concerning dogs running loose in town. She suggested that the town might enact a dog ordinance. Dahryl Boone said that the town already has such an ordinance on the books, but that he has been unable to locate it.

The board will meet again on Monday night at 7:30 p.m. in Town Hall.

Workshop Planned At Lake Junaluska

A workshop entitled "Ministering to the Chemically-Dependent Individuals and Families: The Church's Role" will be held on April 22-24 at the Lake Junaluska Assembly.

Jointly sponsored by the International Growth Center and the Woodhill Treatment Center, the conference will assist pastors and lay leaders in developing skills in identifying and intervening in the destructive cycle of drug dependency.

The conference will be conducted by a team of psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, alcoholism counselors, a clinical pastoral counselor and a clinical pharmacist.

For more information on the conference, contact the International Growth Center at 452-2881, extension 720.

Revival Planned At First Baptist Church

The Marshall First Baptist Church will conduct revival services beginning on Sunday and continuing nightly through April 10. Dr. Jack Millwood, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Chickasaw, Ala., will be the guest evangelist throughout the revival.

A nursery will be provided for parents who wish to attend.

The Oak Hill Missionary Baptist Church on Rector's Corner will conduct nightly revival services beginning on April 6. Rev. Danny Little will be the guest evangelist.

Enon Baptist Church Bake Sale

The Enon Baptist Church will sponsor a bake sale on April 5 at 9:30 a.m. at the Ingles Shopping Center in Marshall. Proceeds will be used to purchase a new sound system for the church.

Bloodmobile Here Today

The American Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the Marshall Presbyterian Church this afternoon from 1 until 5 p.m.

Six To Attend Retreat

The North and South Carolinas Division of the Salvation Army Church will be holding a youth retreat at the Rich Crest Baptist Conference Center in Black Mountain this Friday through Sunday.

Attending from Madison County will be Lt. Thomas Friddle, directing officer for Madison County, along with five youths from the Sleepy Valley Salvation Army Church. They are Jerry, Kevin and Kenny Brown, of Hot Springs, and J.D. McFall and Tim Fowler, also of Hot Springs.

Lt. Friddle said approximately 400 youths will attend the weekend camp retreat from all over the Carolinas.

CARING for BODY & SOUL

Saturday John 21:1-19

Dr. William Barclay, British theologian-pastor, wrote some years ago that "the moment a person neglects his body, that moment his spiritual life begins decline."

Human beings are minds, bodies, and souls. Neglect of either diminishes each. We often say that "a person is a body possessing a soul." A truer statement is: "A person is a soul that possesses a body."

My body is the only place my soul can live. The better care I take of my body, the better I provide for my soul because my body belongs to my soul.

A soul with a body we call LIFE. A soul without a body we call death. And in many cases, we determine which it shall be.

Paul nails it down for us in I Corinthians 6:19: "Do you not know that your body is the temple of the Holy Spirit within you, which you have from God? You are not your own: you were bought with a price. So glorify God in your Body."
