Mrs. S. E. Pope and children, are spending the week with relatives in Falcon.

Mr. Ellis Goldstein was a business visitor in Baltimore and New York last week.

Mrs. J. B. Smith, of Smithfield, is here visiting her daughter, Mrs. E. E. Smith.

Mr. Jere Paazall, of Newport News, Va., is spending the week here with relatives.

Mr. D. C. Fumell spent Sunday in Sanatorium with Mrs. Fumell, returning the afternoon.

Enoch Lee, of Wilmington, arrived Monday to spend a few days here with his father, George Moore Lee.

Messrs. O. T. Wilson, and Eugene Wilson returned the latter part of the week from a visit to their parents in Roxboro.

Mrs. Mamie J. Pittman returned Sunday night from Fayetteville where she had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Claud Gardner.

A number of our citizens were in Lillington Monday, the Board of Education and the County Commissioners being in session.

Prof. J. A. Hornaday, Jr., and Mrs. Hornaday, of Littleton, are spending some time here with their parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Hornaday.

Mr. Otis P. Shell left this morning for Goldsboro, where he will visit his son, Henry, and attend the Fourth of July celebration being held in that city today.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Rufus Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Z. V. Snipes left yesterday for Wrightsville Beach, where they will spend a few days. They made the trip in Mr. Smith's car.

Miss Winnifred Turlington, of Clinton, formerly a member of the graded school faculty, arrived in Dunn yesterday and is the guest of Mrs. McD. Holliday.

Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Harrell, who are visiting relatives in the city, left this morning for Rocky Mount, where Mr. Harrell will officiate at a wedding to take place in that city today.

Prof. and Mrs. J. C. Lockhart, who have been spending several weeks with relatives in Durham county, have returned to Dunn and will spend the remainder of the summer here.

Mr. John P. Johnson, who has been in Johns' Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, for several weeks, returned home yesterday morning. His friends here and elsewhere will be glad to learn that his condition is much better and that he is gradually regaining his strength and good health.

Vary little business is being transacted in Dunn today. The banks and the postoffice are closed, the rural carriers are enjoying a holiday, and the city carriers will make only one trip. The Fourth is passing off in a quiet manner, there being no celebration here today.

Mr. J. E. Dowd, of Angier, was a visitor in Dunn Monday. Mr. Dowd who has been principal of the Angier High School for the past two years, has given up his school work and will move to Dunn and make this his permanent home. He has purchased the residence recently built by Mr. R. L. Denning in the northern part of the city and will move here with his family within a short time.

Lewis Strickland was a visitor in Raleigh Sunday.

Ed Strickland and Paul Pope were in Clinton Sunday visiting friends.

Miss Hamilton, of Dillon, S. C., is visiting her sister, Mrs. V. B. Morgan.

Miss Rachel Pearson, of Rocky Mount, is visiting relatives in the city.

Miss Bernice Hornaday has returned from a visit to relatives in Mount Olive, Weldon and Littleton.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rodgers, of Lillington, were here last week, the guests of Mrs. Forence Jackson.

Quite a number of Dunn people attended the Baptist Seaside Assembly at Wrightsville Beach this week.

Miss Matibel Godwin left Tuesday for Weldon where she is a member of a house party being given in that city.

Many of Dunn's people are spending today at Benson where a big Fourth of July celebration is in progress.

Mayor Walter Turnage returned yesterday from Red Springs, where he is completing a contract for concrete work.

Mrs. Edward Smith has returned from a several weeks visit to her parents in Alabama. She has been with her mother, who has been quite ill.

Mr. J. J. Wade, local reporter on The Dispatch, is spending the week in Western Carolina. While away he will visit Montreat, Asheville, and Hendersonville.

Mrs. J. L. Hines and daughter, Miss Annie Battle, who have been spending several months in Goldsboro, with Capt. J. I. Hines, returned to Dunn Saturday for a short visit.

The R. G. Taylor Company big summer sale opened this morning. Quite a number was present when the doors were thrown open to the public.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Hicks, and Mr. Hicks' mother, Mrs. R. W. Hicks, and Mr. L. G. Hicks, the latter two of Wilmington, left this morning for Denniston, Va., where they will spend several days.

Capt. Hines is looking the picture of health and the life of a soldier seems to be agreeing with him. He returned Sunday night.

J. W. Driver and L. W. Strickland made a business trip to Atlanta, Ga., last week. They went down after a Haynes car for the Parrish Auto Company, but before reaching home they sold the car and finished their trip home by rail. The Haynes seems to be the best seller in this section just at this time.

The boy scouts will not hold their celebration today as announced in last week's Dispatch - it was impossible to get the out of town scouts here for the occasion and the proposed event had to be cancelled. There will be a base ball game, however, this afternoon at Reams' park.

A ball game between a team of the Boy Scouts and one composed of ex-diamond stars who have become benefactors will be staged at Reams' park this afternoon. Receipts will go to the Boy Scouts gymnasium fund. The game will be called at 4 o'clock. Admission for ladies will be 15 cents; for men 25 cents.

Mr. B. B. Smith, a tenant on Mr. J. D. Barnes' farm south of Dunn, was the first one to send The Dispatch at cotton blossom. It reached the office Saturday. Since then the following gentlemen have found blossoms in their fields: Rev. J. A. Blaylock, W. B. Draughon, O. T. Wilson, G. F. Sneed, Tom McLean, (col) and others.

I. H. Campbell and B. P. Marabanks, of Buie's Creek, were business visitors in Dunn Saturday. They were working in the interest of the Buie's Creek Community Fair which is scheduled to take place next October. The people of that section of the county are planning to make the event a success and solicit the cooperation of the public spirited people of the county. Further announcement will appear later.

Byron Ford, of Indianapolis, Indiana, is here to spend a short vacation with his family. Mr. Ford was for several months on the editorial staff of the Dispatch during its infancy, leaving it to accept a position on the staff of the News and Observer. Since last February he has been with the McKeand Service Company, Inc., of Indianapolis, directing the publicity of that company in its town and city development work throughout the Middle West and Southeast. He came here from Atlanta, where he had been directing publicity for the Red Cross War Council, to which he had been loaned by his company.

Mr. Leon Cohn, for several years a resident of Dunn where he was first in the employ of the Goldstein Company and later affiliated with the Racket Store Company, has returned to offer his services to Uncle Sam in his war against Germany. Mr. Cohn, with several other young men of Dunn, has enlisted in the Raleigh company of Coast artillery, and is awaiting orders to report for duty. The Raleigh company has not yet been mustered into federal service, but it is practically certain that it will be called to the colors within a month. It is understood that about a dozen young men of Dunn have volunteered for service in the coast artillery. These, with the company already in camp, bring Dunn's offering to the colors to a larger number, perhaps, than any other town of its size in the State.

Screen Villain Has Had Adventurous Life.

Picture, if you can, Warner Oland, dignified, serious, artistic portrayal of gentlemanly villains on the screen, whirling about a great arena astride a bicycle. Once though he was a professional bicycle rider, this greatest of all "heavies," who plays Baron Huroki in support of Mrs. Vernon Castle in International serial of romance and patriotism, which released under the Pathe banner, is shown at the White Way theatre every Thursday.

Little is known about the private life of Warner Oland, and it was with difficulty that this artistic actor was persuaded to talk even briefly of himself. He is a born sportsman and enjoys more an afternoon on the golf links than in talking about himself.

Despite his remarkable Japanese appearance in the role of Baron Huroki in "Patris," Warner Oland was born in Umea, Sweden, "almost at the top of the world," as he expresses it. During his early life, he spent his leisure hours when there was daylight in the far north, skating over the snow-clothed hills.

When he was ten years old, he was brought to America by his parents. A great ambition lurked in his mind. He aspired to become an opera singer, but his dream of picking up gold in the streets of New York was quickly dispelled. Instead of receiving the plaudits from the Horsehoe Circle at the Metropolitan, he was riding around the ring at Madison Square in company with Frank Kramer, Eddie Ball, Lloyd McFarlane, Harry Elks, and other famous professional bicycle riders of the day. But all the time he was humming the pathetic Italian aria "Addio" from "Traviata" and his dream of operatic life continued.

Finally, tired of bicycle riding, he went to Boston, landing there with nine dollars in his pocket, three of which he spent for a vocal lesson. For months he had a difficult time securing enough to eat, but finally got a position as a super in the production of Hall Caine's "The Christian," which was to have its premier in Boston. From among the superns, the stage manager wanted a young man who could sing Oland's "Jesus of Nazareth." Oland jumped at the opportunity and because he could do the solo, he was granted the munificent sum of eighteen dollars a week.

His success from this time was rapid. His first picture experience was gained in support of Theda Bara and he soon became her leading man. His work attracted attention and he was chosen for the villain in "Patris."

DR. WAKEFIELD COMING

Dr. H. Wakefield, M. D., of Charlotte, will be in Dunn, at Central Hotel, Wednesday, July 11th; Duke, at the Drug store, Thursday, July 12th; Newton Grove, Friday, July 13; Benson, the hotel, Saturday, July 14. The doctor limits his practice to the medical and surgical treatment of eyes, car, nose, and throat troubles, making no charge for glass fitting, in simple cases if the glasses are ordered from him.

Felix McKay, of Duke, has been appointed to the Harnett county army exemption board to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. M. Hodges. Mr. Hodges could not serve on the board because of ill health, it is announced.

A CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness during the sickness and death of our husband and father and we pray God's blessings upon each and every one.

Mrs. D. K. McNeill and children.

INTENSIVE PATRIOTISM

Pittsburg Dispatch.

A little sound will fan patriotism into a blaze these crucial hours; a laborer with a Jew's-harp may cause as fine enthusiasm as a brass band; and all because the long-sleeping spirit of nationalism has revived to throttle sectionalism, and to show that America is one.

While car 75, going to Wilkesburg via Oakland and East Liberty, was beginning to be crowded giving his name as Allen Peterson, of Wilkesburg, boarded a car at Grant street and Fifth avenue, heading home.

Shortly the strains of a Jew's-harp resounded with "The Wearing of the Green," "Marching Through Georgia" and then a shuffle was heard, and as many looked around it was seen that the genius of the mouth harp had risen to his feet. Those near him saw away broadly, and then "The Star-Spangled Banner" came forth with newness of melody from the humble instrument.

Many did not have to rise, as they were suspended on straps. Every seated passenger in the car stood up when the national anthem was finished. The player said aloud: "That's my number—have you all got it?"

Applause followed, and all who had risen sat down.

Probably, the first and fundamental rule for healthful living in summer is to keep clean, inside and out. A bath every day is just about as essential as breakfast or any other meal.
