The man who has surplus money and will not invest in a Liberty Bond is a sceler.

The best way to encourage the boys who are preparing to leave for France to fight our battles on foreign soil, is to buy Liberty bonds.

One of the results of the Chautauque held in a North Carolina town last week was a resolution, signed by forty-three boys, to stop smoking cigarettes.

"What the American people do to support the Liberty Loan may determine the course of the world's history for all time," declared J. P. Morgan in a statement predicting the success of the loan.

Dr. McBrayer, of the Tuberculosis Sanatorium, wants the local exemption boards to send him the names of those exempted on the grounds of having tuberculosis.

The Charleston Navy Yard has reported a need for 200 experienced female power sewing machine operators and only those who have had more than a month's experience on a machine run by some power other than that of the operator can be used at this time.

Admiral von Thirpitz further declared that Germany without a heavy war indemnity meant Germany's defeat and the victory of Anglo-American capitalism.

The New York Herald furnishes some information which will be of interest to all possible investors in Liberty Loan Bonds.

"For the second Liberty Loan there is in effect a broader field than there was for the first issue. The placing of the three and a half per cent bonds created millions of persons theretofore unacquainted with the advantages of leading their money to the government.

The New York Herald furnishes some information which will be of interest to all possible investors in Liberty Loan Bonds.

"The poorest worker the ability to obtain a loan of as low a denomination as fifty dollars in the current and safest investment on earth offers a marvelous opportunity, and the arrangement for payment by installments brings it within the reach of all.

"If the war should be protracted another year buyers of these bonds are certain to obtain an even higher rate than four per cent while if the war should end tomorrow they will have obtained at 'par' the market price the best security in the world, which in time of peace, bearing four per cent, would command a high premium.

"This is the merely sordid view of the matter. Far above this is the appeal this loan makes to the patriotic of the American people. It is a loan to hasten the end of the war with victory and peace, and it would be impossible to overestimate the moral effect of an over-subscription to this loan upon our enemies as a demonstration of the spirit of the American people."

AGRICULTURAL HINTS.

The soy bean is a profitable legume plant. It gives the best results planted in rows about three feet apart, with four or five beans to each hill; 15 or 20 inches apart. Like all other plants it will do best on rich soil.

REASONS FOR SUBSCRIBING TO LIBERTY BONDS

Reason No. 1. "It is my business to decide if there shall be war. There is only one law and that is my law."—The German Emperor.

Reason No. 2. "Let all who fall into your hands be at your mercy. Just so the Hun a thousand years ago, under the leadership of Attila, gained a reputation in virtue of which they still live in historical tradition, so may the name of Germany become known in such a manner in China that no Chinaman will ever dare look askance at a German."—The German Emperor at the time of Boxer Rebellion.

Reason No. 3. "Our right shall create a new law in Europe. It is Germany that strikes. When she has conquered new dominions for her genius, then the priesthood of all gods will praise the God of War.

Reason No. 4. "And ye have heard men say, Blessed are the peacemakers, but I say unto you, Blessed are the war-makers, for they shall be called, if not the children of Jahve, the children of Odin, who is greater than Jahve."—Nietzsche.

Reason No. 5. "The commonest ugliest stone placed to mark the burial place of a German Gieseler is a more glorious and venerable monument than all the cathedrals in Europe put together. They call us barbarians. What of it? For my part I hope that in this war we have merited the title of barbarians. Our troops must achieve victory. What else matters?"—German Major General Diefarth.

Reason No. 6. "It is better to let a hundred women and children belonging to the enemy die of hunger than to let a single German soldier suffer."—A leading German general.

Reason No. 7. "We care nothing for treaties."—A Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin.

Reason No. 8. "America had better look out after this war." "I shall stand no nonsense from America, after the war."—The German Emperor to Ambassador Gerard.

"SONGS OF SENTIMENT."

"Songs of sentiment" is the title of a collection of poems just brought out by the Neale Publishing Company, of New York.

The poems number over a hundred; the reader wonders that in the midst of a busy home life—Dr. Horne says they were dashed off between duties, thought out while following household cares—there could have been the energy and the persistent application necessary to the production of a collection of literary compositions of such merit.

It is just the book, the prospectus of the publishers well says, "quickly and easily to transport you to the heart's own land,—the land of feeling and sentiment."

The poems first appeared under the penname "Carine," an abbreviation of the composer's middle name. They appeared in various North Carolina papers, mainly The Clayton Bud, The Twin City Sentinel, The Greensboro Patriot, The Biblical Recorder, The Selma News and the Raleigh Christian Advocate. Mrs. Horne is still living, her home being at Clayton.

Dr. Horne and the publishers have done a great service to North Carolina literature by bringing out this interesting and splendidly executed collection of poems.—Tuesday's News and Observer.

The soy bean can be grown profitably between cotton rows. It is fine for hogs to graze on. Eastern North Carolina exports 100,000 bushels each year.

One acre well prepared and planted to soy beans will produce 2000 pounds of nodules. These nodules are about 8 per cent nitrogen. The oil from the soy bean is used in the manufacture of enamel and other paints. It is also used in the manufacture of soaps.

One ton of soy bean meal contains about 140 pounds of ammonia, 25 pounds of phosphoric acid and 40 pounds of potash. The meal obtained from the soybean is a good fertilizer.

Have you noticed that a few youngsters from Chicago, known as the "White Sox," and the bunch from New York, known as the "Giants" have been playing base ball for the past few days? The papers bring to us the information that the total attendance on the half dozen games reached only to the one hundred and eighty-three, six hundred and fifty-four mark.

Claud Pierson, accused of kidnapping Baby Lloyd Keet several months ago, was tried for the crime in Marshfield, Mo., this week, was found guilty and sentenced to thirty-five years imprisonment. If Pierson really committed the crime, and the law would allow such a verdict, he should have been placed in prison, at hard labor, for the remainder of his natural life.

William Randolph Hearst, owner, publisher and editor of numerous newspapers in different cities of the United States, carried a full page advertisement in the New York World one day last week in which he appealed to the American people Mr. Hearst does some very straight talking to those who have so severely criticized him recently.

Not very many of those who live in this world ever realize all they hoped for when they started out in life. A survey of the path-way that opens up before a young man or woman looks much more like a road promising than a backward glance in after years reveals in fact. The individual who lives to the age of three score years in this world, spends the first half of his active life in cultivating hopes that are never realized, and the last half in walking about among the graves of his buried hopes.

But if we would win the everlasting happiness so earnestly craved by our immortal nature, the process must be begun here in this world. Yield the life to Christ here, and He will take care of it hereafter, and he will bring it from Him here, and all must be lost in the great hereafter.

As Real War Cabinet Baltimore Sun. There are no slackers in Mr. Wilson's Cabinet when it comes to calling the roll of service. Its members are not only working hard for their country, but they are giving their sons.

A few days ago the papers brought to us the information that Colonel Theodore Roosevelt had taken on a little more flesh than he desired, and that he had gone to Jack Cooper's health farm at Stanford, Conn., to get rid of some of what he termed superfluous fat.

The Colonel is a man of high ability, but in this case it was not his public, but by mere accident it was located.

What some of the charges against one of the attorneys in Washington, who insisted on their right to money President Wilson by flaunting in his face treasonable banners day after day, were read to the District Workhouse as very mild punishment for their inexcusable conduct.

That is right. If those dunces will not respect law, let them take the consequences, just like other ordinary mortals. So long as women properly respect themselves, they are entitled to supreme respect by both men and women, but when they pursue the course of the woman now under consideration, they are entitled to no better treatment than other criminals.

A merry contest is on in the great city of New York for the mayoralty of that city. Some very peculiar circumstances have developed since the contest first began. The present incumbent of the office, Hon. John P. Mitchell, is a Democrat, but his administration seriously displeased Tammany Hall, and the Democratic organization, and that combination refused to endorse Mr. Mitchell by giving him a renomination, but instead placed Judge John J. Hyland before the voters of New York as the Democratic candidate for mayor.

Pressure was brought from every quarter, except from Tammany Hall, for Mr. Mitchell to enter the primary against William M. Bennett, who is a Republican, for the nomination. This Mr. Mitchell did, but by the margin of a few hundred votes Mr. Bennett was the successful candidate.

Since the loved ones, who have been visiting in the Dunn parsonage, have returned to their home in Richmond, it is all too lonely for the "old folks," and they are waiting in Raleigh and Durham for a few days. This writer was anxious to see and hear Miss Rankin, the first and only woman to occupy a seat in the Congress of the United States, and this was a large part of the attraction to Raleigh.

Washington, D. C., October 16.—Now that Uncle Sam has the young men of the country in training for military service, he finds that he needs 10,000 typewriter operators and stenographers, both men and women, for the Departments at Washington. The Civil Service Commission has notified all of its 3,000 boards of examiners that they should put forth their best efforts to secure these urgently needed workers.

Promotion is reasonably rapid to those whose service proves satisfactory. No appointments have been made to these or other positions in the Federal classified civil service unless authorized by the Civil Service Commission under the civil service law. Any information to the contrary is unauthorized. This is a splendid opportunity to be your country. Full information may be secured from the secretary of the board of civil service examiners at the post office in Dunn.
