Sergeant Harper Holliday, of Elon College, after spending a few days here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. McD. Holliday, returned Wednesday.

Ed. Warren is seriously ill at his home near Dunn. His condition has been critical since Sunday, but it is thought he is gradually improving now.

The County Board of Health has decided that meetings of all kind may be resumed in the county on and after November 10th. For further information read Prof. Gentry's letter published elsewhere in The Dispatch.

Miss Annie Wade, who is attending a Business College at Raleigh, is spending several days here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin L. Wade. Her school is closed on account of the epidemic of influenza in Raleigh.

A son of Mr. J. J. Jones, of Raleigh, announces the safe arrival overseas of Sergeant Wm. McKay Pearson. He sailed several weeks ago. Mr. Pearson now has two sons in Europe, the other being Robert, who has been over there for some time.

In a letter to D. C. Fussell, Ralph Koons, who is with the American Army in France, states that he is enjoying his stay over there. He has seen right much service already and expects more excitement before he gets back home.

An auction sale of live stock and farming implements will take place at the Cape Fear Stock Farm, near Wade, Wednesday, November 13th. For further information read ad elsewhere in this issue or see F. S. Cullom, manager, or G. L. Cannady, auctioneer.

Robert L. Denning and Robert Jordan, of the U. S. navy and who are stationed at Norfolk, Va. came home Tuesday to vote. They returned to Norfolk Wednesday. Both these young men were looking well, although each of them had an attack of influenza some time ago.

The Dispatch is requested to announce that the Dunn graded school will open again Monday, November 11th. The influenza epidemic has abated and the school committee, in consultation with the health officer and other physicians, have decided that it will be safe to open the school Monday.

Attorney C. L. Guy, who appeared for the defense in a murder trial at Hopewell, Va. last week, won his case, the defendant being acquitted. The defendant was being tried for the murder of Noah Godwin who was killed in Hopewell last summer and was brought to his old home near Dunn for burial.

The Dispatch is requested to announce that the Cape Fear Free Will Baptist Conference has been postponed from Thursday, before the 3rd Sunday in November until Thursday before the 2nd Sunday in December. The Conference was postponed on account of the epidemic of influenza. The Conference will be held with the Free Will Baptist church at Dunn Carl Barefoot, of the Officers Training School, Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va., spent Sunday here with relatives.

Services will be held in the various churches of the town Sunday. This decision was reached after due consideration by citizens and the physicians of the town. The epidemic is now a thing of the past in Dunn and the people need not hesitate to attend services and Sunday School Sunday. At the M. E. church Sunday School will open at 9:45, while morning service will be held at 11 o'clock. The evening service will open at 7:30 o'clock. The public is cordially invited and urged to worship Sunday at their usual places.

Linwood Pridden has accepted a position with The Dispatch. He will work in the afternoons and on Saturday while attending school.

Mrs. S. J. Becker, widow of the late S. J. Becker, pastor of the Baptist church at Duke, left this morning for her home in Leaksville.

Harmett Superior Court will open Monday, November 18th. On account of the epidemic in the county it was decided to postpone court for a week.

For the first time in 12 or more years, Averasboro township has gone Democratic, thanks to Otis P. Shell and a number of other party workers who were on the job during the day of election. The result in this township and the county, too, was a great surprise to the opposition.

R. W. Cook and family left this week for Winston-Salem, which city they will make their future home. Mr. Cook has been living in Dunn for some time and has many friends here who regretted to see him leave. He held a position with the Durham & Southern Railway Co. as machinist. He will accept similar work in Winston-Salem.

O. T. Wilson, night policeman, spent some time in Raleigh last Monday night. They were arrested and placed under bond and will be tried later. Mr. Wilson also arrested seven negro hoboes last week, who were beating a ride on a north bound Coast Line freight. They were tried last Thursday and sentenced by Judge Smith, of the Recorder's Court to 30 days labor on the roads. It was a hefty looking bunch and they are giving good service on the roads of Averasboro township.

The Cape Fear Fair will open in Fayetteville Tuesday, Nov. 12th and close Saturday, November 16th. Special features have been booked for each day and Secretary Jackson says the Fair this year will be better than ever. Several excellent attractions have been obtained for next week and those who go will find plenty of amusement. At night a show will be given in the La Fayette Theatre, for the benefit of those who will spend the night in the city. An excellent show has been booked for each night.

Amos McPherson, an old colored man who lived alone at the corner of Cumberland and Fayetteville streets, was found dead in his house last Monday at noon. No one was with him when the end came and it is thought that he had been dead for an hour or more when his body was found. The body was moved to the home of a relative Monday afternoon, and was buried Tuesday in the colored cemetery. He was an industrious old man, in spite of his advanced age, and until the end refused to be a subject of charity. He was well thought of by the white people who knew him.

The Jarvis Red Cross has received its supply of boxes and stickers with instructions for sending Christmas boxes to the boys in France. Those who intend to send a present to their boy over there should see the officers of the local chapter at once and secure one. No boy can have but one package or box sent to him and it must be packed by the sender, inspected by the Red Cross, and must be ready to go not later than November 20th. As there is less than two weeks in which to get these boxes off, all who intend to send one had better see about it at once. Either Dr. or Mrs. L. F. Hicks will give you any information desired.
