WHAT THINK THE MERCHANTS? The following suggestion has been addressed to The Dispatch. It explains itself and we pass it along to our readers: It follows: When a question of observing a holiday comes up in Dunn, the whole town has to be canvassed, and no one ever wants to agree to observe the day unless he is assured that every one else will do the same. To get the matter settled, can't we come together and establish certain laws, in which we will close our business and honor the day and the cause of which it stands. We would suggest: May 30th, National Memorial day, this is a day that we cannot fail to observe. It honors those of our own who have made the supreme sacrifice for our country and for freedom's sake. July 4th, the day of all days glorious to an American. Thanksgiving Day. Dec. 25th, Christmas Day. Let it be known that the days set apart are to be observed in Dunn, and it will not cause any loss or inconvenience. It will become established.

18000 MILES WITHOUT CHANGING A TIRE Proof of the uniformly good service obtainable these days from standard makes of automobile tires is contained in record of performance kept by the Commissioners of Coweta County, Georgia. In an Overland car, the Superintendent of County Works drove over 18000 miles before a single tire was changed on the set of Fiat Tires with which the car was equipped. After that many more miles were checked off on the speedometer on three of the four. This record was made in the face of difficult road conditions, and often times with a load of five to ten workmen.

Ohio's Corn King.
In and out of Ohio Prof. C. G. Williams is known as the Corn King. He is a soil builder. He has spent years finding out a few sure things. He has discovered many soil secrets. He is a booster for agricultural limestone. Here is one of his one-minute talks:
"At present prices for farm crops, a ton of ground limestone has increased the yield of corn, oats, wheat, clover and timothy to the value of $30.30. This is in comparison with similar land which has never been treated."
No guess work about the above. Accurate weights and records bring out this important fact. Limestone at present prices is by far the cheapest fertilizer on the market. When for an expenditure of $5 you can get back $30—looks like a good deal. People are just beginning to realize what limestone means in crop production.—Macadam Service, for April, 1919.
