

SUGAR WILL GO TO 43 CENTS
 Kingston, May 14.—The public may as well prepare for the worst, merchants here declare. Sugar will be selling at 43 cents shortly, some shopkeepers predict. There is a steady demand for sweetening now at 35 cents, although some has been available during the week at 36 cents.

A Poland-China hog, which brought $255 fifteen months ago, was lately sold to an Iowa man for $40,000, the highest price ever paid for a hog.

With no intention whatever of passing on the merits of the case appealed from to the Superior Court in Wake county, we incline to the belief that City Judge Harris is making a start toward underwriting the life and limb of the local wayfarer public that will produce results. A man alleged to have been intoxicated drives his car into another motorist; Judge Harris sentences the defendant to six months on the roads.

Never, so far as we are aware, having met either of the two drivers of their cars, we hope that some evidence will be produced that will justify the staying by the Superior Court of the road sentence; but road sentences are just exactly the proper cure for the most glaring of the traffic evils.

Five and ten-dollar fines, indeed fines of any sort—have hardly any effect on those who by their wanton disregard for the law and endanger the lives of themselves and others. There ought to be a distinction made

For Governor---CAMERON MORRISSON

"He Never Straddled a Public Question" and "No One Ever Found Him Unwilling to Tell Where He Stands on Any Proposition."

WHY I AM FOR MORRISSON

By Archibald Johnson,

(Editor of CHARITY AND CHILDREN, Thomasville, N. C.)

I believe the nomination and election of Cameron Morrison will be for the best interest of North Carolina for the following reasons:

Morrison knows the needs of the people of the state as few men do. For a quarter of a century he has given intelligent study to public questions. He is a lawyer by profession, and a good one, but the study of the science of government has been uppermost in his mind from the time he attained his majority until now. He knows the people also, and has spent a large part of his public life in going in and out before them, discussing the policies of his party.

He has not accumulated a fortune, because of the fact that he thinks more of men than he does of money. He has had a large law practice, but has spent his money on other people, rather than upon himself. The man most capable of administering public affairs is not necessarily the man who has devoted himself to his own private fortune and accumulated a great estate for himself; rather he is the man who, like Vance and Aycock, is so busy trying to better the educational, social and political conditions of his State that he has neither the time nor the inclination to make a fortune for himself.

Morrison is a plain man of the people. He rose to his present position of influence in public affairs by his own unaided effort. He was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth, but had a fierce struggle, even in his tender years, to keep the wolf from the door. He has not forgotten the pit whence he was digged. He knows every step of the rugged road over which he has traveled. His sympathy will always be with the man who toils for his daily bread.

Morrison is honest, candid and fearless. He never straddled a public question in his life. Everybody knows where he stands. He is square. He has never learned the art of dissimulation. Whether an issue is popular or unpopular, he takes his stand flatfooted upon it and stands there until he is convinced that he is wrong. He is a brave man, as his record in the past abundantly proves.

He is not an extremist, as some of his opponents have alleged. He is a hard fighter, but never strikes below the belt. He is generous and warm-hearted and magnanimous. His enemies are not those he has met in the open field. He would not be the governor of a class, but of all the citizenship of the state, which he loves with passionate devotion.

There are many other reasons that I might mention, but these are a few that constrain me to vote for Cameron Morrison.

AGAINST WOMAN SUFFRAGE

HON. CAMERON MORRISSON
 (Leading in the Contest for Governor.)

TEN REASONS WHY MORRISSON SHOULD (and will be) NOMINATED FOR GOVERNOR OF THE STATE

1. Because he is aggressive and progressive—fearless and courageous.
2. It is always known where he stands on a question—you may ask him and you will get an answer.
3. He makes no catchy promises that savor of socialism, or are offered for mere vote-getting.
4. He does not believe that people who own their homes should pay a low rate of taxes and the home-renter be required to make up the difference.
5. He is a debater that is feared by Republicans—and a man of this type is needed in this year's campaign.
6. He comes from the plain people, and they have his sympathies.
7. While he has not held office for the last twenty years, he is not posing as a "business man."
8. As a matter of fact, he has the soundest ideas of business principles of any of the candidates for the office he seeks.
9. Because, other things being equal, (and especially when they are more than equal) Carolinians desire to reward genuine public service.
10. Lastly, because he is a militant Democrat, clear-visioned, double-fisted; in love with his State, the principles of his party, and the folks that make North Carolina such a great commonwealth.
