MRS. T. L. RIDDLE ENTERTAINS

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. T. L. Rid-Tuesday afternoon Mrs. I. L. Riddle entertained at a "Farcwell" party in honor of Mrs. J. G. Peck, who left next day to make her future home at Greenville. The Christmas idea was carried out in decorations of holly, mistletce and red candics. Each guest brought her sewing and spent an hour discussing Christmas and other topics of the day.

Then Frances Riddle entered, carring a large mahogany tray filled.

rying a large managany tray filled with Christmas packages and stop-ping in front of Mrs. Peck, said this little verse: little verse: Mrs. Peck dear, You may think its queer,

* We're are all assembled here To wish you happiness and cheer Every menth, day and year, In these duinty packages you'll find

In these dainty packages you'll find Gifts you can say 'are mine'. From your friends who love you best. From the north, south cast and west. Upon opening the packages the guest of honor found they contained little tokens of love from every one invited to be present.

Misses Emily Grantham and Frances served tomate bouillon with saltines, and fruit salad with cocoanut cake and fruit cake, then little Baby Reid Riddle served salted peanuts in a little basket trimmed with holly.
