An editor's mail contains many strange and wonderful things. Letters come from all sorts of people with all sorts of requests.

But the other morning we had a surprise. It is seldom indeed that anyone takes the time to thank a newspaper.

Three other letters came by the same mail. One was from a great national organization, telling us that we had been elected to life membership by a State Governor.

Another letter was from a national weekly stating that it desired to circulate among the thinking men of the country and that our name had been sent in with a fine recommendation and all that sort of thing.

The third was along a similar strain. It also was from a national weekly "circulating among thinking people."

John L. Harris, whose home is near Linden, is under $50 for his appearance in Federal Court at Raleigh to answer to the charge of having liquor in his possession for purposes of sale.

traced and a warrant was sworn out for Mr. Lee. When tried before United States Commissioner Eldridge Lee however, Lee proved that he knew nothing of the liquor and was held not guilty.

TROUBLE IN NEWBERN!!

Carj. Gorch Comments On How An Editor Made Due Apologies To The Mayor

Washington News. Editor J. B. Dawson, over in New Bern, is in bad, all because he made a statement in his paper to the effect that Mayor Pickle did not know the difference between crap-shooting and trespassing.

Editor Dawson was yanked into court. Not literally, but figuratively. To yank Dawson up in court literally would require a steamship crane. He weighs 478 pounds, with his vox off.

Mayor Pickle was awaiting him, with his teeth grinding in fury, and great rapidity, to show that there is no truth in the saying that the mills of the gods grind slowly.

He gazed at Editor Dawson and Editor Dawson gazed at him. "G-r-r-r!" said Mayor Pickle, just like that.

Dawson didn't say anything, being out of wind from the exertion required to climb the steps. He was puffing like Eureka hauling 64 barges up the river from Indian Island.

"I will have r-r-r-revenge!" shouted Mayor Pickle. "I'll have a Pepsi-Cola," responded Dawson.

"You called me an expert crap-shooter," shouted the mayor. "I'll retract," hastily responded Dawson.

"G-r-r! You'd better," growled the mayor. "I'll let you off this time." Whereupon the editor worked up energy enough to toddle back to his sanctum sanitorium and proceeded to write his retraction.

The next issue of the New Bernian came out with the statement that the editor regretted calling Mayor Pickle an expert crap-shooter and that the editor believed he was a rather poor crap shooter, after all.

Or words to that effect. Lafayette Road Be Constructed Probably within the next thirty days work will have begun on the Lafayette Highway, extending from Raleigh to Fayetteville and running through Harnett county via the county seat.

The road is to be built with a foundation that will support concrete but the hard surface will not be laid at the present time. A gravel surface will be laid now.

Later on, if it is deemed wise and desirable, a concrete surface may be put on by simply smoothing the gravel surface. The county commissioners at their convention, the county to borrow the money and be reimbursed by the state within three years.

The construction of the Lafayette Highway will mean much to Harnett county in that it will open up territory hitherto inaccessible to any state highway.

CONTROL THE STABLE FLY The numbers of stable flies can be kept down by caring properly for stable refuse and by properly stacking or otherwise disposing of straw in a way that will not make it attractive as a breeding place for the flies.
