

HARPER HOLLIDAY IS NEW MANAGER OF BALL TOSSERS

Baseball Club Is Completely Reorganized at Enthusiastic Meeting of Fans

"WILEY" HINSON IS NOW CAPTAIN OF THE TEAM

Over One Hundred Dollars Is Pledged By Those Present in Support Of Team.— Club Will Have Long List Of Financial Backers In The Second Half.

At an enthusiastic meeting of Dunn baseball fans in the Chamber of Commerce office Saturday night called for the purpose of reorganizing the club and raising finances for the team's support, Harper Holliday was elected manager, to take effect immediately, and over a hundred dollars was subscribed by the faithful and loyal few present.

The hundred dollars raised was but a third of the amount that must be paid in the morning night to settle some bills due at that time. But a long list of names of prospective givers was compiled at the meeting, and it was believed that there would be no difficulty in securing the needed amount. The few gathered together were so intensely enthusiastic and generous in their donations that only success was pronounced.

The meeting was called to order by Herbert Taylor, Dunn's leading fan and most ardent supporter, who has been acting both as manager, treasurer, and coach of the club. He expressed the purpose of the meeting in a few words, stating simply that a reorganization was needed, and expressing his belief that Dunn possessed the material for a winning ball club, and lacked only co-operation and team work, essential to every team's success.

The idea was, he explained, to elect a manager who knew his business, with the time and energy to spend on the club, together with another man, his assistant, whose duty it would be to look after the mechanical needs of the team, such as transportation when the team goes out to play.

Herbert Taylor, who has been acting as treasurer throughout the first half of the season, will continue to look after the finances of the club, being officially elected to the office of the fans Saturday night. The gate receipts, money paid in by the backers of the club and the expenditures of the club, will be in the hands of Taylor, who promised the fans to keep down expenses to as low a figure as possible.

Need of Funds Explained

Manager Holliday took charge of the meeting after his election and first spoke to the gathering of the present condition of the team.

"The treasury is on the ragged edge," he said, "and three hundred dollars must be raised by Wednesday night to meet some bills due at that time." The question was, explained the new manager, how is money to be raised?

W. H. Newberry, always a hard worker of the club, "Selma, I am told, has forty backers," he stated, "and Selma has forty backers. Dunn ought to have at least fifty." He added a suggestion that the Dunn backers pay in not less than five nor more than fifteen dollars, to relieve the stringent conditions of the treasury. His idea was unanimously adopted and those present were asked to start the list with donations.

Over $100 Immediately Raised

Over a hundred dollars was immediately subscribed by the small crowd present, the donations ranging from five to fifteen dollars. Practically every person present, with the exception of members of the club roster, subscribed something. A list was then made up of about fifty men in town, enthusiastic about baseball, and who were unable to be present at the meeting, but would doubtless subscribe their share. A canvass was to be made this week of the list of probable givers, in order to acquire the needed amount by Wednesday night.

Winning Team Promised

Manager Holliday asserted that the biggest need of the Dunn club was team work and co-operation. He emphasized the need of practicing daily, and said he would have the men getting daily workouts. He expressed his idea that the main thing the club needed was "pop" and more "pop." He intends to abolish all growing and poor sportsmanship.

"Dunn will have a winning team," said the new manager. "The men will play ball or they won't stay on the team." Those present agreed that there had been too much kicking and knocking by the fans, which might cause the fans to play ball, and to play ball, thanked the team for his election and promised to remain with the local aggregation for the second half of the season.

SHOOTING SCRAPE RESULTS IN THE ARREST OF TWO

W. M. Alexander And Alex Trammell Held On Charge Of Shooting

'IM PERKINS BADLY SHOT

Negroes Were At Tilghman Camp When Scrape Took Place Sunday

W. M. Alexander, negro, is in the city jail indicted on the charge of shooting and probably fatally wounding James Perkins, another negro, in a shooting scrape occurring at the Tilghman lumber camp early Sunday morning. Alex Trammell, arrested in the company of Alexander, is also held as one of the chief witnesses of the affair. He was carrying a shot gun when the authorities arrested the two men.

Alexander and Trammell were arrested by Sheriff Jernigan, aided by D. R. Vance, assistant patrolman, near town shortly after the shooting. They were taken to the county jail, where they were held on charge of shooting. They were taken to the county jail, where they were held on charge of shooting.

Perkins, riddled with bullets, three in his leg, and the remainder of the six scattered throughout his body, was taken to town shortly after the shooting occurred and examined by Dr. T. J. Hightower. The physician carried him to Raleigh Sunday afternoon, where he was put in care of the St. Agnes hospital. Dr. Hightower believes Perkins will not survive.

Sheriff Jernigan stated later that he had no trouble arresting the men, except that Trammell was a little stubborn in holding up his hands. He was inclined to think, however, that the negroes were lying when they claimed they were on the way to town, and he believed that they were going to take the opposite course at the cross roads near the point they were captured. When taken into custody Alexander carried a Colt automatic and Trammell a shot gun.

Shooting Follows Quarrel

The shooting, according to eye witnesses and Alexander himself, followed a quarrel between the two men. They went out to the camp to collect some money that the negroes owed him, he claimed.

"I wasn't lookin' or thinking of any trouble," the negro said Sunday afternoon in his cell in the city jail, "when Jim hollaed something, 'I first maked him.' Alexander said that he had been in an argument Saturday night and that Perkins was evidently still mad with him.

Trouble Over Ten Cents

The negro then admitted that the trouble had originated over a ten cent piece, and the purchase of a couple of shots fired at him went to use.

Alexander was very cool, calm and collected, when talked to at the city jail about the scrape. When Chief of Police Page announced to him that Dr. Turlington believed Perkins to have only a "fighting chance" to live and realizing that he was about to face a charge of murder, he seemed not in the least disturbed or afraid.

"I know what had happened," he said, "and I was coming to town to give myself over to the police when stopped by the Sheriff." He claimed that he had gotten Trammell to go with him, and had given him the shot gun he carried, in order to get to town safely. He talked freely about the whole scrape, and seemed willing to tell all he knew. Trammell was not so talkative, but stated that he had nothing to do with the affair, and was only accompanying Alexander to town.

Alexander has been in Dunn since last August, coming here from Georgia. He has been on the payroll of the Lumber company, but authorities say that he has given trouble in the past and is known about town as "good for nothing."

A Market At Home

"There's a market for a lot of cotton goods right on the farms in North Carolina, where it is produced," says A. W. Swain, campaign manager of the Cotton Growers Cooperative Association.

On cold days this year, canvas reported seeing farm women and children with layer after layer of rags in place of clothes. A hole in one garment would be covering a whole piece of cloth underneath. And these same farm folks were producing more cotton at a starvation price to clothe others.

If the farmers get a fair price for cotton they will furnish an outlet for much cloth from the mills, because they do not enjoy wearing rags any more than city folks.

DENBY'S SUPERIOR A BANK EXAMINER

Major Horace C. Cooper Named Yesterday to Succeed J. H. Hightower

Major Horace C. Cooper, cashier of the Citizens National Bank of Smithfield, was named by the Corporation Commission yesterday to succeed J. H. Hightower, State Bank Examiner, who resigned July 1 to become president of the City Bank of Raleigh. Major Cooper is the oldest son of Lieutenant Governor W. B. Cooper, of Wilmington, who is president of the American Bank and Trust Company of that city.

During the war Major Cooper was in command of the recruit training depot at the Marine base at Paris Island, S. C., and while serving in that capacity had in his command a Lieutenant Denby, who, since March 5, has been Secretary of the United States Navy. Major Cooper graduated from the Citadel in Charleston in 1916, and immediately enlisted for service with the National Guard on the border.

After standing a competitive examination, he was made a lieutenant in the Marine Corps, and sent to Haiti to serve upon America's entry into the war. Upon his return to Paris Island, he held the rank of Major and was in command of the 1st Battalion of the 16th Infantry.

AT LAST THE STUBBORN FLAG IS DOWN

Up on the grandstand in the fairgrounds an American flag has been curled up on a high elongated pole for some time. When a force of men were preparing the grounds and grandstand for the Independence Day celebration they tried in vain to get that banner of stars and stripes down, in order that it might be straightened and put back as it ought to be. There was no one tall enough hereabouts to get it down and straighten it. As a consequence it has been rather bad shape. But now it is down. The other night infinite power took hold of the proposition, and lightning brought Old Glory down. When the sad news that lightning had struck the grandstand was announced to Secretary Riddle, he asked about the stubborn flag. When told of its fate, he sighed with relief: "Well, there's consolation in everything. I'm glad that flag is down at last."

CROSSING WILL BE REPAIRED AT ONCE

Secretary Riddle Is Assured of Improvements by A. C. L. Railroad Company

Through the efforts of T. L. Riddle, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, the A. C. L. Railroad Company has promised that the Broad street crossing will be repaired at once, the weeds and debris on its right of way through the town has already been cleared. The railroad company has also promised to see that ice water is placed in the waiting rooms three times daily for the use of its patrons.

The crossing has been in bad shape for some time, and Secretary Riddle wrote the company regarding the matter. He also called the company's attention to the fact that the weeds had taken the rack here in the city limits, and that no water was kept in the station. To all these grievances the railroad company gave prompt attention, according to a letter just received by Mr. Riddle.

The old fight between the railroad officials and the town of Dunn has about died down and will not be resumed until Superior Court. It will then be decided to whom Looknow square rightfully belongs, and the location of the square will lie in the hands of the jury. The ladies, who wanted the square, and beautified, feel confident that Dunn will establish its title and that the square will become the property of the city, to be used as the Woman's Club is now advocating.

Petty Larcenies In Fayetteville Continue

Merchant Finds Quantity of Goods Gone But No Money

Fayetteville, July 8.—The second burglary of mercantile establishments was taken on many days, occurred here when E. R. Dunning's ice cream parlor on Hay street was robbed in some manner yet undetermined, and a quantity of toilet articles and a small sum of money stolen. The robbery has several suspicious phases. When Mr. Dunning discovered the missing goods he called the merchant police and they searched the store and found the three suits of clothes and a half in small change were taken from the cash register, while $150 in the safe was undisturbed. The toilet goods were a quantity of the most expensive perfumes and face powder, but nothing else in the store was touched.

A series of petty thefts from stores have occurred during business hours here recently, and another such attempt was frustrated when an employee of the Vans Trading Company on Hay street discovered a quantity of clothes hidden behind the store, which are alleged to have been placed there by three soldiers who had just left the establishment. According to the clerk's story, the soldiers were looking over the clothing when one of them asked to see the silk shirts. When the clerk carried him to the front of the store the other soldiers were suddenly seized with coughing spells and walked out the back door. The clerk followed and they disappeared, then searched the vicinity and found the three suits of clothes.

"Licetus Applied For" Is A Poor Substitute

"Licetus Applied For" is the title of an old pastebord tag, tied on the rear end of a rather antique looking Ford automobile, driven by a negro who called himself by the almost unpronounceable and misspellable cognomen of Valta McGeechey. The man spent Sunday afternoon in the quarters of the market house.

Chief of Police Page decided that "Licetus Applied For" was not sufficient substitute for the customary automobile license tag, and he arrested the negro who was driving the Ford. The man was taken to the city jail, where he was held on charge of driving without a license. The man was released after paying a fine of $10 and a $50 bond to appear in court.

SMITHFIELD CHAMBER GETS DOWN TO BUSINESS

Smithfield, July 8.—The Smithfield Chamber of Commerce has already gotten down to business, as a noticeable today in the traffic regulations near the courthouse. No parking is allowed next to the courthouse.

Secretary John R. Morris went before the board of aldermen with suggestions in regard to the congested condition of the traffic at the above mentioned point. This thoroughfare is a part of the Washington-Atlanta highway, and should be kept open all the time for tourists who are streaming through the city on automobile parties.

No "Auction" Floors

Tobacco growers in Canada and South Africa do not know what an "auction" floor is— they see through their own co-operative marketing associations.

Reports from South Africa to the growers co-operative associations in Raleigh, say that in South Africa the tobacco growers know what prices tobacco will bring before it is delivered. And they have standard grades too—no dumping it and standing around waiting to see whether the buyer was feeling good and would allow them enough for their tobacco to pay their fertilizer bill or whether the buyer was just going to "take it away" from them.

Cotton is also sold through growers co-operative associations in South Africa and all the world and speculation under which the Southern States suffer is unknown in South Africa.

WILLIAM McNEILL GETS 18 MONTHS

Other Negroes Draw Penalties in Special Session Of Recorder's Court

Eighteen months on the road and payment of costs is the penalty drawn by William Blake McNeill, colored, charged with disposing of stolen goods, and tried in a special session of Recorder's court called Saturday morning.

McNeill, with a sack full of dry goods, overalls, shirts, and other such articles, was a suspicious looking character, rambling about the streets of Dunn Saturday, and Chief Page nabbed him for investigation. Sheriff Jernigan and Turnage started an inquiry that resulted in the discovery that the negro was disposing of goods stolen from the store of John Adams in Linden Wednesday night.

Carried into special session of court testimony was brought out against the negro, and he drew the above sentence for his act.

James Foster, another negro, charged with cutting and stabbing Wesley Jackson, colored, in Cape Fear, was sentenced to 18 months on the road and fined the costs. Foster has been away from this section some time but the local police authorities have been on a look out for him, and when he did show up he was immediately arrested and placed under custody.

The cutting scrape occurred during an all night spree and gambling episode of a number of negroes out near the Tilghman mill. A nasty quarrel between Foster resulted in the stabbing of the latter and the subsequent escape of Foster.

News has just leaked out of some fact and sly work of the Dunn police last week. Chief Page and Patrolman Nipper are responsible for the arrest of James McKeithan, a negro boy, alleged to have attempted criminal assault on the daughter of a well known farmer of this section, and of having him tried before Recorder Godwin and sent to the county jail at Lillington without letting anybody hear of the proceedings.

The affair is said to have occurred last week. The negro is claimed to have found the little girl playing with some of her friends whom he frightened off. She cried out to her father and caused the negro to run away, where he was later tracked by the local police. He was carried before Recorder Godwin and identified by the little girl as the negro who attempted criminal assault on her. Fearing a mob outbreak, local police kept quiet about the matter and had the negro safe in jail at Lillington before letting the story out.

FRANKLIN LANE LEFT ESTATE OF TEN THOUSAND

San Francisco, July 8.—The estate of the late Franklin K. Lane, former secretary of the interior, will net more than about ten thousand dollars, according to a petition filed in Superior Court here yesterday, asking letters of administration. Mr. Lane left no will, the petition stated, and his estate consisted of some 18 acres of farm land in Contra Costa County, California, and a few shares of stock in a mercantile company.

Mr. Lane's widow, his son and daughter would share the estate, the petition said.

PRIVILEGE TAX AND STATE AUTO LICENSE MUSE BE PAID

"There are a few business men in town who have not yet paid their privilege tax, and this must be paid," said Chief of Police Page Saturday. The privilege tax, according to Chief Page was due on June 1st, but many have been tardy in making payment. "There is a fine of $50 non-payment of this tax," the Chief added, "and those who do not pay up at once will be prosecuted." Chief Page also said that a few citizens in town had not yet secured their new state auto license and numbers, and seemed not intending to secure them. He stated that prosecution would be started at once against these violators of the law.

STOCK MARKET DISPLAYS ACTIVITY AND STRENGTH

New York, July 6.—The stock market today displayed impressive activity and strength for the first time in nearly two months.

The rally, maintained to the end, was something of a shock to the shorts, whose hurried covering of contracts added measurably to the recovery. Many issues, especially those recently under greatest pressure, made net gains of 2 to 10 points.

Early quotations, especially in foreign oils, suggested another reactionary session. Mexican petroleum fell to the new low of 87 3/4 and allied shares also registered minimum prices of recent years. Within the first hour, however, heavy buying of Mexican Petroleum turned the tide and stock closed at 101 1/4, a net gain of 10 points. Pan-American petroleum averaged eight point gains.

METEORS ON SUN BLAMED FOR THE HOT WEATHER

Vallejo, Cal., July 7.—The extremely ordinary warm weather of the present summer is caused by an unusual downpour of meteors on the sun, increasing its radiator and effecting surface temperature. The belief of J. T. See, government astronomer at the Mare Island Navy Yard.

Citing the fact that unusually warm summers occur every ten or eleven years, he said that "now, for the first time, by profound searches, astronomers are able to throw some light upon this great mystery."

"Since a mass of meteoric matter greater than our moon is falling into the sun every century," he said, "it is very improbable that the downpour proceeds at a uniform rate. If it comes down in gusts under the action of the chief planet, Jupiter and Saturn, which are now near conjunction and are seen together in our evening sky, then we should have sudden increases in the sun's radiation just as we now witness all over the world."

"This is a sufficient explanation of the unprecedentedly hot weather."

COL. D. H. McLEAN DIES SUNDAY AT LILLINGTON HOME

One of Harnett's Oldest And Most Widely Known Citizens Passes Away

A VETERAN OF CIVIL WAR

Was Known To Friends as "Silver-Tongued Orator Of Cape Fear."

Lillington, July 10.—The sturdy Scotch Irish of Colonel Dan Hugh McLean, leading lawyer, public spirited citizen, and "silver-tongued orator of the Cape Fear," broke under the burden of years and declining health today. He died this morning at 7 o'clock. Coming unexpectedly, his end has cast gloom over the entire community, where he lived the full span of his 75 years and where he had done all of his life's work.

Later years have brought Colonel McLean into the life of his community and his state, and citizens whose memories run back twenty and thirty and forty years remember better the stirring times in which he was a leader in the thought and life of the people, not only in Harnett county, where he was born, lived and died but throughout the length and breadth of the State. Though still actively engaged in the practice of law, he had not for several years entered into political fields.

Veteran of Civil War

Though but a lad of 15 when the war between the states broke out, Colonel McLean enlisted, and served throughout the entire four bloody years, mostly with the armies in Virginia. He was wounded once at the battle of Cold Harbor by an exploding shell, but not seriously. He returned to Lillington after the battle of Appomattox, still not yet attained his majority, and studied law under his father, Alexander D. McLean, and with him began the practice of his profession.

The turbulent years that followed the war called Colonel McLean into politics, and he was active in the ranks of the Democratic party from that day until the last days of his life. He developed into one of the ablest orators in the State, and there was not a campaign since he became of age, but he took the stump for the party. Duties in which he took part are still remembered among the classics of the Cape Fear county.

News Sought Office

Colonel McLean never sought office for himself, but in 1876 and again in 1899 his county elected him to the North Carolina General Assembly. He was elected at-large the first year William Jennings Bryan was a candidate for president. In 1901, Governor Aycock named him secretary and treasurer of the North Carolina Railroad. Colonel McLean had reached the zenith of his oratorical abilities in the Aycock campaign the year before, and toured the entire State on behalf of the Democratic candidate.

Colonel McLean was born January 12, 1847, the son of Alexander Duncan McLean, who in his day was one of the leading lawyers in the State. He was married to Miss Mary Gilmore McDougald, a member of one of the oldest families in the Cape Fear section. She died more than a year ago. Surviving are two sons, Alfred M. McLean, private secretary to United States Senator L. S. Overman; John Tyler McLean, Birmingham, Ala.; and W. W. Marsh, Lillington, and Miss Margaret McLean, Lillington.

Funeral services will be held from the Presbyterian church here this afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by the pastor, Rev. G. F. Kirkpatrick, assisted by Rev. J. K. Hall, former pastor of the church here. Interment will be at Summerville three miles from Lillington, where generations of the McLeans and other leading Scotch families have been laid to rest.

Lillington, July 11.—Col. Dan Hugh McLean, leading lawyer of the Cape Fear section, was laid to rest this afternoon at Summerville in a grave seventy-five yards from the spot where he was born, seventy-five years ago.

An immense throng of mourning friends and neighbors attended the funeral, conducted by Rev. G. F. Kirkpatrick, assisted by Rev. J. K. Hall, a former pastor.

The funeral service was conducted under Masonic direction and the active pallbearers were the members of the board of education and the board of commissioners of Harnett. The honorary pallbearers were the members of the Lillington bar.

Nothing is quite so irritating as an ordinary human being trying to act like an angel.—Acheson Globe.

NORTH CAROLINA PAYS UNCLE SAM STAGGERING TOTAL

Last Eight Years Run Up A Grand Collection Of $535,000,000

J. W. BAILEY MAKES REVENUE ANALYSIS

Business Is Staggering Under Burden He Says And Time Has Come For Relief; General Assembly Should Meet To Reduce Taxes, Not Increase Them He Thinks.

Internal revenue collections increased one thousand per cent between 1914 and 1921 according to the summary of collections made public Friday by J. W. Bailey, collector of Internal Revenue for North Carolina. The total for the State these eight years is $535,000,000, averaging for each year more than the entire $60,000,000 bond issue total for good roads in North Carolina and nearly twice as much as the entire revenue for the United States in 1914.

In round numbers the North Carolina internal revenue increased from $12,000,000 in 1914, to $126,000,000 in 1921, though 1920 was the peak year with a total of $162,000,000.

What North Carolina Paid Here are the figures:

| Year | Office At Raleigh |
|-------|-------------------|
| 1921 | $126,000,000.00 |
| 1920 | $162,000,000.00 |
| 1919 | $73,000,000.00 |
| 1918 | $29,900,000.00 |
| 1917 | $22,970,000.00 |
| 1916 | $13,000,000.00 |
| 1915 | $8,170,000.00 |
| 1914 | $5,500,000.00 |
| Total | $362,470,000.00 |

| Year | Office At Statesville |
|-------|-----------------------|
| 1919 | $73,000,000.00 |
| 1918 | $29,900,000.00 |
| 1917 | $22,970,000.00 |
| 1916 | $13,000,000.00 |
| 1915 | $8,170,000.00 |
| 1914 | $5,500,000.00 |
| Total | $173,570,000.00 |

Total for State $535,000,000.00. For capita about $900. Total of $535,000,000.00.

"Some idea of the amount of internal revenue may be gained by comparing the collections in North Carolina these eight years with collections in the entire United States for the year 1914, which were only $269,000,000," says Mr. Bailey in an analysis of the figures.

"Revenue from the tariff (external revenue) for the whole country in one year (1920) is less than twice the revenue collected in North Carolina in the year ending June 30, 1920. The tariff is a trivial matter compared with the internal revenue tax."

"As late as 1893 the internal revenue paid by the entire country was less than the internal revenue collected in North Carolina the one year June 30, 1920."

"It is not likely that the figure for the present year, $126,000,000, will be reached again soon. Our business was making money up to September 1, 1920. Since then business has been staggering. It is not likely to recover until the burden of taxation be lifted. The load is too great—that is plain enough. The wonder is that it has been carried as long as it has been. Our commercial system has been staggering under the load nine months—it will not stand up much longer, in my opinion."

Should Reduce Burden

"In state, nation, county, city and town, the effort ought to be not to devise ways and means of raising revenue but to cut down expenses. If the General Assembly must be called to special session, let it be called to cut down the burden of taxes, not to enable the cities to raise money. Instead of calling for an extra session of the General Assembly to enable them to extract more money from the people our cities ought to be cutting down expenses. So far I have not heard of even one step in this direction. All unnecessary offices in our State, cities and counties ought to be abolished. The first step in the direction of recovery from the present prostration is to lighten the load wherever possible."
