A racing matinee will be staged on the Harnett County Fair Ground Track Friday afternoon, September 2. Two races will be held—one trot and one pace. Each will be three heats.

Walter Jerigan is managing the event. His horses and those of Andrew Hodges and Julius McLeod will be among the favorites. The race will be to decide which of the local horses are best. The matter has been under discussion since the races on July 4, when no definite decision was made.

Ira B. Raynor and N. T. Ryals, road commissioners of Banner Township Johnston County, are here today in conference with officials of the Chamber of Commerce relative to the project to rebuild that portion of the Peacock's Cross highway lying between Beulah Church and Mingo at the edge of Harnett county.

being him. Only three of Four Oaks men failed to make an error. But only one of those three had a chance. Lambo, in left field made two errors. Wilcox had six chances at third and bobbed them all. Willie Newberry not only caught a fire game for Dunn, but managed to score every time he went to bat, rousing five times in all. Zachary came next to him, crossing the pan four times out of five times off Carl Wilson, and the Gob had an off day. Neither was up to his usual form with the willow, but their fielding was perfect—as it usually is.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION (On Sunday August 22nd 1921, we will celebrate James D. Williams' birthday at his home. All his relatives, neighbors and friends are invited to come and bring a basket. J. C. WILLIAMS and SISTERS.

ANNUAL MEETING MISSIONARY UNION The Baptist women of Little River association will meet for their annual convention in the Baptist church of Lillington, on Thursday, September 8th, at 10 o'clock promptly. Mrs. Mattie Bair, of Coats, will preside. All societies comprising the union are urged to send representatives with full reports on all phases of missionary activities in the year.

Every Baptist church in the Little River association is invited to send delegates to the meeting. The session will last only one day. Lillington extends a most cordial invitation; with a varied and interesting program, the indications are that the gathering will be largely attended.

OBITUARY (Blind)—On the 9th of July 1921, the silent messenger came to earth and bore away the spirit of our beloved sister, Florence Eva Blaud, aged 25. When the news of her death reached us our hearts were made to feel sad but immediately the still small voice whispered and said: "Blessed are they who die in the Lord." So we bow in humble submission, believing that some day if we stay humble and do the Master's will, we, too, will meet her on that shining shore. It was only about 4 years ago that her aged father, Rev. Wm. Blaud, preceded her to the glory land. Oh! what a meeting that must have been! When a child she gave her heart to God and united with the Spring Branch Baptist church when in school at R. C. A. she took for her motto: "The white flower of a blameless life" and without the shadow of a doubt we know that she lived that life. In thinking of her life these verses present themselves before us.

Each day I'll do a golden deed, My life on earth is but a span, And so I'll do the best I can.

To be called a child of God each day, My light must shine along the way, I'll sing his praise while axes roll, And strive to help some troubled soul.

The only life that will endure Is one that's kind and good and pure And so for God I'll take my stand, Each day I'll lend a helping hand.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. G. A. Bain and her remains laid to rest in the cemetery at Mingo Baptist church.

For four or five years she passed through great mental suffering, but we trust and believe she is in a land of rest now.

One by one our friends will leave us, For that far off distant land, But we soon shall be united, When before the King we stand.

We have loved ones in that city, They have left us here below! There they wait and look our coming, When the paucity grows unfold.

intended to vest full ownership in the farmers of this country, with only the necessary supervision of the national government in the same manner as the Federal Reserve Banks are established.

"As stated above, the money loaned to farmers is furnished by private investors who purchase the bonds issued from time to time and which are secured by the mortgages on the farms of the borrowers. These bonds are instrumentalities of the government, and are, therefore, tax exempt in every way; and this enables the banks to sell them bearing a low rate of interest; and this in turn enables them to lend money at only such a margin, one per cent, above the interest rate of the bonds, as will enable them to meet operating expenses, establish a reasonable reserve and pay a fair dividend to the stockholders; and since the stockholders are the farmer borrowers, such dividends naturally cut down the interest rate paid by the farmers.

"The above is a brief statement as to the purposes for which the farm loan system was created by Congress together with how these purposes are being carried out by the Federal Farm Loan Board and the twelve Federal Land Banks. I shall now outline, in brief, certain information which is essential to know as to how to obtain a loan.

"Who is eligible to borrow: Any worthy person actually engaged or soon to become engaged, in the cultivation of the farm offered as security.

"To whom to apply: To the secretary-treasurer of the National Farm Loan association doing business in the territory where the land to be offered as security is located. If the name of the secretary-treasurer cannot be obtained locally, the Federal Farm Loan Bank of Columbia, can and will advise a prospective borrower of his name.

"Amount one person can borrow: Not less than $100 and not more than $10,000.00.

"Security required: A first lien on farm lands owned by eligible borrower.

"Amount loaned on security offered: The banks are permitted to loan fifty per cent of the appraised and approved value of the farm plus twenty per cent of the appraised and approved value of permanent insurable improvements on the property.

"Factor in determination of the amount of the loan must be insured for not less than three times the amount of the loan carried on them.

"Purposes For Which One Can Borrow: To buy land; to pay existing purchase money liens on land already bought; to buy fertilizers, live stock, farm equipment, feed, seed, to make improvements such as building, barn, barn and for drainage purposes; to pay debts incurred for any of these purposes and which existed at the time the first national farm loan association was organized in the county in which the land to be mortgaged is located; and to pay for stock in the local association.

"Aid to purchase farm: The Federal Land Banks can aid any worthy farmer in purchasing a farm to the extent of fifty per cent of the value of the land and twenty per cent of the value of improvements. If the prospective purchaser is not to pay the balance of the purchase price and can arrange with the owner to carry the balance due him in the form of a second lien, the bank is ready to cooperate with him and the seller. The Federal Farm Loan Banks have aided others to secure homes in this way and stands ready at all times to continue such assistance.

"Interest rate: The interest rate is six per cent per annum with one per cent on the principal, or a total payment of seven per cent, payable semi-annually. This seven per cent per annum will discharge the entire debt, principal and interest, in thirty three years. The borrower, however, has the option to pay the whole amount or any part thereof after five years. "Expense in obtaining loan: The local national farm loan association will charge an initial fee not to exceed one per cent of the amount borrowed. This fee is used to pay the necessary expense for service rendered by the local association in giving attention to the application. After the local association had handled your application, the land has been appraised by the Federal Land Bank Appraiser and approved by the executive committee of the bank, it is then necessary that an abstract of the title to the lands offered as security be furnished the bank. There are certain nominal fees charged by the banks, depending on the amount of the loan; the amount of which can be obtained from the secretary-treasurer of the Federal Land Bank of Columbia.

"The fact that a farmer borrows from this bank does not prevent his selling the farm at any time he may wish to do so; on the contrary it would aid the sale of it. Also, in no event does the land of a borrower stand as security for any loan except his own. Of course, there is the same liability on the stock purchased in connection with the loan as there is on stock in a national or state bank, that is, each stockholder is liable to the extent of his stock and a possible additional five per cent.

"The farm loan system is operated to stimulate and make easier the acquisition of new homes and to encourage better farming generally and the Federal Land Bank of Columbia, offers its services to eligible farmers throughout the states, composing this bank District, namely, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, who are in need of the service which it can render under the law.

It will be seen by the foregoing that the Federal Farm Loan System presents the farmers attractive and economical terms for securing their business which will lead to greater and more modern agricultural development. The fact that it permits the farmer to borrow money on a long term at a reasonable rate of interest, which eventually pays itself out, eliminates the worry of meeting mortgage notes or the inconvenience of arranging for renewals. If a farmer borrows $10,000 on his farm through the National Farm Loan Association, of which he becomes a member, he pays 6 per cent interest and 1 per cent on the principal, or a total of $700.00 annually on the $10,000 borrowed, hence a $10,000 loan costs him to carry $700 annually payable $350.00 every six months with the option of taking up the loan whenever he is able or it can be carried indefinitely and in thirty three years the seven per cent will discharge the entire indebtedness.
