

GRADED SCHOOL WILL BE OPENED NEXT WEDNESDAY

Superintendent Snipes and Principal Bunn Make Preparations For Opening
TWENTY TWO TEACHERS IN FACULTY THIS YEAR

School House Being Renovated, Grounds Put In Shape, and All Plans Made For Successful Opening Wednesday Faculty Composed Mostly of New Teachers.

With a faculty of twenty two members in the Dunn graded school, elementary and high schools grades, will open next Wednesday, September 14, for its 1921-22 nine months session.

Only five of last year's faculty will be here the coming session, but two of the new teachers live in Dunn and act as managers to local school work and conditions.

The high school faculty this year will be composed of B. H. Bunn, principal, Misses Janie Ipeck, Mattie Henderson, Rachael Clifford, and Ethel Erwin.

The school building is being thoroughly renovated this week, and janitors are getting it in good shape for the opening next week.

Below is a statement by Professor Snipes, with suggestions to students that might be of help in getting ready for the opening day:

The Dunn Graded Schools will open next Wednesday, September 14. It is very important that all pupils enter school on opening day.

DINNER GIVEN IN HONOR DUNN MAN

Carey Taylor is Given a Brilliant Send Off at Fayetteville

One of the most unique dinners ever given in this city is being arranged by the friends of C. B. Taylor for Thursday evening at 9 o'clock at the Lafayette Hotel.

This affair will be attended by members of the Elks Lodge, Kiwanis Club, Rotary Club, Knights of Pythias Lodge, Masons and even those who belong to no order at all.

Major Edwin R. MacKethan will also have a seat at the table and the Camp Bragg band will furnish music for the occasion.

Carey Taylor is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Taylor of this city. He is a newspaperman of long experience and has worked in many cities in the South.

FORMER POSTMASTER WITH INSURANCE FIRM

Eugene T. Lee Connects Himself With Dunn Insurance & Realty Company

COTTON DOWN BUT STILL COMING IN

Eighteen Cents Is Price Being Paid Today On Local Market

Two hundred and ten bales of new cotton and eight bales of last year's crop were sold on the local market yesterday with a price of eighteen cents for good middling.

Optimism reigned among local merchants and business men as well as the cotton farmers when cotton took the upward shoot a few days ago and went on the Dunn market.

"Practically all new cotton," stated Tom Royal, cotton weigher today, commenting on the cotton being brought to town.

New York, Sept. 8.—The cotton market was feverish again today, starting upward fully cent a pound, followed by another plunge which carried some deliveries $17 to $18 a bale below Wednesday's high point.

The opening at $7.50 a bale decline followed a break in the Liverpool market. The rally which followed, because old bulls who had sold their lines showed desire to reacquire them at lower levels carried October up to 19.10 and January to 19.35.

The general business situation is somewhat better than it has been for some time. The Federal Reserve Bank has been conducting its policy of expansion.

COTTON GOES TO PIECES AFTER FURIOUS ADVANCE

New York, Sept. 7.—The cotton market collapsed today after a furious opening in which futures showed advances of 150 to 175 points, some soaring as high as 188 points above yesterday's close.

The fall gave the market the unique experience of having reached the 200 point limit in two consecutive days, the upside yesterday and downside today.

There was no change in the news account for the break. It was simply a case of an overbought condition.

W. R. ALLEN DIES AFTER TEN YEARS ON SUPREME COURT

Stricken With Polio At His Home In Goldsboro

Funeral Will Be Held This Afternoon

Sudden Passage of Distinguished Brings Expression of Grief at His Death and Funeral Telegrams

Wilmington, Sept. 7.—William R. Allen, for ten years an Associate Justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court, died this afternoon at his home in Goldsboro.

DUNN YOUTH FREE, RETURNS TO WIFE

Governor Morrison Grants Him Conditional Parole And He is Free

When the sun rises over the little town of Dunn today it will find a supremely happy woman in the person of Mrs. Fred Denning, wife of the little paralytic who was returned to State's Prison last Friday morning by Chief of Police U. S. Page.

Aimed with petitions and letters from bankers, merchants, lawyers, preachers and other good citizens of Harrett, Fred's wife, sister and friends came yesterday to plead with Governor for his release.

First the Governor was in session with the Council of State. At 2 o'clock he granted an audience to find that the necessary recommendation of the prosecuting solicitor was missing.

This morning when the prison doors swing open, the Dunn friends of the young man were there with the parole papers. Shortly they left him to make a wife and a mother happy.

No more pathetic case than this has ever come before Governor Morrison. Fred Denning was sentenced in January, 1914, to one year in prison for larceny.

News of the granting of a parole to Fred Denning was received here Wednesday, and friends of the boy were highly elated.

When told that the Governor would pardon his husband her pretty eyes filled with tears as she thanked God who had aided in gaining the promise.

News of the granting of a parole to Fred Denning was received here Wednesday, and friends of the boy were highly elated.

WILSON COURT ADJOURNS

When Judge Allen Dies

Wilson, Sept. 7.—Wilson Superior Court was brought to an abrupt adjournment this afternoon when Judge William R. Allen, a member of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, died suddenly at his home in Goldsboro.

Wilson, Sept. 7.—The tobacco market was somewhat stronger today. Official figures furnished by H. B. Johnson, proprietor of sales, show pounds sold $3.84 for $51,709.04, an average of $22.49 per hundred pounds.

HANFORD PASTOR GOES TO HOSPITAL FOR OPERATION

Banford, Sept. 6.—His many friends throughout the State will be glad to learn that Rev. W. R. Royall, pastor of the State Street Methodist church of this city, who underwent a serious operation at the local hospital a few days ago, is getting along nicely, and it is expected that he will be able to resume his work within a few weeks.

GRADED SCHOOL FACULTY

Following is the graded school faculty as announced by Professor Snipes, Principal of the Dunn public schools:

AFTERNOON PAPER HAS A GREAT DAY

Raleigh Times Moves In New Quarters And Issues A Special Edition

Celebrating its sixteenth anniversary under the present management, and its forty eighth birthday since the beginning of the publication, the Raleigh Times Wednesday formally welcomed its friends in the handsome new structure to be occupied by Raleigh's afternoon paper.

Orchestra music, quartet singing, punch serving, and other things, including a tour through the plant with a story of the making of a newspaper, helped to make the day a pleasant one for those attending the Times housewarming.

Wednesday afternoon the paper issued a special anniversary edition, the following story of the Times tells its history and evolution:

Back of the Times of today is a long line of men who gave many years of work, of thought and labor and endeavor to the upbuilding of the paper. Since 1875, when the Evening Visitor was established by Charles W. Brown, publisher, and William H. U.

The mission of the Times today is only an enlarged aim of the founders of the paper—an aim that has grown with the growth of Raleigh and of the paper. In the issues of 1890 the mission of the paper is expressed as follows:

A paper for the people. The mission of the Evening Visitor will be in the future as it has been in the past, to elevate labor, to publish all of the home news, to interest readers of all classes, to advance the interests of agriculture, to report all industrial enterprises. It will contribute by its editorials and news to the progress and betterment of the State.

GOOD BREAKS ON OPENING AND NEXT DAY IN BENSON

George L. Cannady, auctioneer at the Benson tobacco market, states that the opening day there was very successful. Prices ran from five to forty cents on the opening day, and yesterday prices averaged around 30 cents, according to Mr. Cannady.

TOBACCO AT SMITHFIELD AVERAGES TWENTY CENTS

Smithfield, Sept. 7.—Yesterday was a red letter day in the business life of Smithfield and this section, when the tobacco market opened here with a quarter million pound break.

GOOD PRICES ARE PAID AT OPENINGS TOBACCO MARKET

Good Tobacco in Great Demand On Eastern Carolina Markets

TWENTY CENTS IS THE AVERAGE PRICE PAID

In Many Towns Opening Day Bought Up Overstocked Crows, and Openings Generally Were Highly Successful, With Good Tobacco Bringing Good Prices.

Good tobacco brought good prices, averaging around 30 cents, and poor tobacco brought poor prices, from 15 cents on down, when the majority of the Eastern Carolina markets opened Tuesday.

At Wilson, perhaps the largest market in the state, nearly a half million pounds of tobacco were bought, and prices 24 cents on average.

According to all reports, good tobacco really poor grades by buyers on all the markets opening up this week. Evidently manufacturers are stocked up on poorer grades and requested their buyers to see to it that the good is bought and the bad is not bought.

At Raleigh, the opening was also very successful. Prices ran from five to forty cents on the opening day, and yesterday prices averaged around 30 cents, according to Mr. Cannady.

RECORD BREAKING CROWDS

Most of the towns report unprecedented crowds attending their tobacco openings. In Wilson it is positively stated that the farmers, tobaccoists, and other buyers from all parts of the State in large numbers came over to see the record breaking crowds.

WILSON TOBACCO PRICES MUCH HIGHER YESTERDAY

Wilson, Sept. 7.—The tobacco market was somewhat stronger today. Official figures furnished by H. B. Johnson, proprietor of sales, show pounds sold $3.84 for $51,709.04, an average of $22.49 per hundred pounds.

Not only were the tobacco prices satisfactory yesterday, but cotton sold for 50 cents. A local buyer advertised to pay 30 cents during the day.
