Morrison Cannot Visit Fair. Dunn regrets the inability of Cameron Morrison, Governor of North Carolina, to visit and speak at its fair this year.

We are to be blessed, however, with the presence of Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt, president of the State Fair, and Herbert Hoover, secretary of the United States Department of Commerce, who will speak on Saturday, the last day of the fair.

Playing The Game. We have no objection to Wilson and Rocky Mount merchants refraining from the purchase of goods from Virginia wholesalers, for we have always held that they could have gotten just as good service and prices from North Carolinians.

Virginia have shown themselves poor sportsmen in their efforts to deprive the Carolina towns of first honors in the baseball contest. That is true. But are not our Carolina brothers showing equally bad form in refusing to abide by the Bradley decision?

Salary limits, we believe, are at the bottom of the trouble. Each of the teams entered into a covenant not to spend beyond a certain sum of money for players. That was a bona fide agreement—matters not that it meant nothing to some of the towns Rocky Mount and Wilson stepped over the limit.

Professional baseball at best is a necessary thing. It is more of a battle of money than a contest of sportsmen. It is suffering the fate of all pastimes that are commercialized—it is hard for the true sportsman to enjoy a contest between professionals who are more concerned about the salary than the sport.

Rocky Mount and Wilson are acting foolish. They were winners because they could employ better players. The best thing they can do is to take their medicine, finish the season and next year get into a circuit whose patrons are more in sympathy with folk south of the Dan and the Roanoke.

Fatty Finished. However Fatty Arbuckle may come through his present trial on the charge of killing a female member of his craft, it is certain that he is finished as a public idol.

As a screen comedian Fatty was without a peer. Merely to look was to laugh when his countenance was depicted on the silver screen. Fatty was a hero to millions.

In America we are prone to place our heroes upon a pretty high pedestal. The fact has made our English cousins chuckle many a time; for they have seen clay toes where we were blinded by our idol's brilliance.

Fatty's hard luck gives a black eye to his profession, too. Since his awful misadventure are being shown to the public, decent men and women are asking themselves if this is the stuff that motion picture folk are made of. We would hate to believe that they are, but we have seen some pictures that put us in a frame of mind to believe most any bad thing that could be imagined about them.

It may be that Fatty's case will result in a cleaner, more wholesome picture. If it does the public will not have suffered in vain.

Armistice Day—November 11—marking the third anniversary of the cessation of fighting between this country and the allied Germans, is to be celebrated in all of the leading cities of the land.

healthy post of American Legionnaires, should celebrate the occasion. Legion members here are invited to confer with the Chamber of Commerce, the Woman's Club and other organizations to see what they can do toward staging a celebration worthy of the occasion.

Long Staple Cotton Market in Dunn

Last spring I promised my friends who bought long staple seed of me, that they should have a market for the cotton here in Dunn. I have kept the promise and have arranged to buy the cotton, and pay the market price right at the gin.

The General Utility Co. has equipped one set of gins to properly gin this cotton and will gin long staple every Monday. Bring your long staple to me and I will guarantee you proper ginning, and pay you market price for it right here. I have direct mill connection.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline has remarkable pulling Power

GASOLINE that delivers full power and maximum mileage is not the product of chance but of the choice of crude stocks, skillful refining and constant research. Gasoline properties are determined by a large number of factors. It is only by the closest study that the exceptional pulling power of the improved "Standard" Motor Gasoline is obtained.
