without danger of interruption.

Acceptance of the contract by the company is contingent upon its ability to make a satisfactory deal with the town of Benson for the transmission lines between that town and Smithfield. These lines were constructed by Benson several years ago with the understanding that they would be bought at appraisal price when the company extended its service south of there. It is not expected that any hitch will be encountered these.

Following a hymn and prayer the new pastor responded delivering a short sermon in which he gave what he termed the keynote of his pastorate here. He called upon the other pastors for the formation of the strongest and best working ministerial association the town has ever had, one that will labor and fight until "Batan's throne shall totter and fall." In a joking way he gave Rev. J. A. Campbell the title of "Bishop of the Association." His sermon was a stirring one in which he called upon the congregation to stand by the Old Book and its teachings and follow the Master up to the cross and go with

The Baptist church here recently purchased one of the prettiest residences in town, completed just a few months ago, and turned it over to the new pastor for a home. Believing the pastor of this church should have a home the equal of any, the members bought for $10,000 the Arthur Pope home on Layton avenue and had it yeady for occupancy when Mr. Johnson and his family arrived last week. They moved right in and are as comfortably quartered as possible.

The First Baptist church of Dunn is looking prayerfully to the future as the greatest in its fine history under the leadership of this good man and confidently believes the Lord will direct both church and pastor into greater heights and groater fields of usefulness for His Ringdom. Never before has this church been so hopeful for its future, this being due in a large measure to its unanimous belief that God brought the new pastor here in answer to the prayers for a shopherd to lead them in the battle for His cause.
