Miss Iva Battle of Gastonia, is visiting friends in the city.

Mrs. Colon Lee is seriously ill at her home in Dunn of pneumonia.

John Moore Lee of Rocky Mount, spent the week-end here with his mother.

William Wade, of Wilmington, spent Sunday here with friends and relatives.

Mrs. Martin L. Wade and granddaughter, Miss Emily Myers, returned Saturday from a visit to relatives in Raleigh and Louisburg.

Mrs. W. C. Bradsher and Mrs. Marion Reams of Durham, after spending a few days here with Mrs. I. M. Reams, returned home Saturday.

Several contractors are here today to be present at the opening of bids for construction of the new school building which will occur in the offices of Clifford and Townsend, attorneys for the school board.

J. C. Byrd, of Bunnlevel, was here Sunday en route from Richmond, where he had visited his brother, Sam to his home. Sam Byrd has been in a hospital in Richmond for several weeks and is now rapidly recovering from the illness for which he is being treated.

P. K. Honeycutt and D. C. Albert have formed a copartnership to conduct a general brokerage and insurance business and have established offices in the Purdie Building, using the rooms in which the late lamented M. T. Young conducted his business. Mr. Honeycutt will have charge of the insurance department and Mr. Albert will manage the brokerage department.

Ellis Goldstein returned Sunday night from a trip on which he spent several days in New York and in Philadelphia. He went to buy spring goods for the Goldstein company store here and the Wilson Company Store in Angier. While in Philadelphia he visited Captain Granville M. Uilghman, who has been quite ill there for several weeks, and found him much improved. Captain Uilghman expects to return home at an early date.

Many citizens of Duke and Dunn have sent substantial contributions for the Woodrow Wilson Foundation Fund to George K. Grantham, chairman of the Harnett County Committee, or to Mrs. Joseph Daniels, State Chairman. Mr. Grantham is anxious to have the county make a good showing in this matter by way of proving its regard for the former President. Contributions of any size will be welcome and should be forwarded to Mr. Grantham.

T. L. Middle returned Sunday night from Winston-Salem where he had attended a convention of the North Carolina Commercial Secretaries Association. While away he heard many good things said about the best town under the sun, but he saw not a single traveling man who comes to Dunn who did not speak of the wretched hotel facilities here. There are many who complained of this condition and all said it was a shame that so good a town as this should be handicapped in such a way.

Jackson Townsend, brother to B. O. and N. A. Townsend and Mrs. Fleming Ramseur, is here with his little son, Ben Townsend, Jr., from Clearwater, N. Y., where he is in business. Conditions in industrial centers of the North gradually are getting back to normal, Mr. Townsend says, and while there is no evidence of an early return of the abnormal prosperity of the war period, there is a very gratifying improvement due to the fact that workers and business men realize that the carnival is over and the time for good, honest hard work is here. He expects a full return to normalcy this year. He will spend several days here with his brothers and sisters.

Edwin S. Cooper, son of P. S. Cooper, president of the First National Bank, has succeeded H. M. Pittman as general manager of the People's Supply Company, a wholesale grocery establishment, of Dunn. Mr. Pittman will enter other business as soon as his resignation becomes effective next week. The new manager expects to enlarge the concern's activities and territory as fast as possible and is hopeful that it will become one of the largest grocery concerns in this part of the State. Mr. Cooper has been connected with the company for several months and, although yet a youngster in the business world, has so thorough a grasp of the business that his friends are expecting large things of him.

The four counties from which the Dunn market draws its cotton produced 6,114 bales less cotton than they did in 1920—the banner year of the surrounding fields. The latest ginner's report shows that Johnston led the four counties and every other county in the State except Robeson with 49,368 bales against 49,758 bales in 1920. Sampson was second with 29,009, against 26,022 the year before. Harnett third with 24,766 bales against 27,480, and Cumberland fourth with 15,969 bales against 20,906. These are ginner's figures and are not to be considered accurate for the estimation of crops in the respective counties. Much of Sampson's crop was ginned in Harnett, for instance. The main reason for Harnett's falling behind Sampson this year is that two of the Dunn gins were burned early in the season. Ordinarily these gins would have turned out several thousands of bales.
