COMFORT VS. RIGHT

Mr. Editor:

Your editorial on "Blue Laws" appearing in the Dispatch on June 23rd, was read with deep interest. The editorial advocates the sale of ice cream, cold drinks, etc., on Sunday for the reason that it adds to the comfort of the people. "If Christ were upon earth now," says the editorial, "we have no doubt that he would advocate keeping open of places that would give comfort to humanity a tall hour on Sunday that are not actually devoted to the work of the church."

Permit me to raise some questions with reference to the argument. What is "the work of the church" if not to establish the rule of Christ on earth, if it is not to lead people to respect the Lord on the Lord's Day, if it is not to induce men to place personal righteousness above personal comfort? Jesus did not come primarily to make humanity comfortable, but rather to make humanity righteous and Godly.

Esau was an advocate of comfort, and in the effort to make himself comfortable, lost his birthright for a mess of pottage. Judas evidently reasoned that he would be more comfortable in possession of the thirty pieces of silver, and denied his Lord. The Jewish merchants that bought and sold in the temple at Jerusalem placed comfort and convenience above reverence for God or respect for His law, and transformed the house of prayer into a den of thieves. Jesus seeing them enjoying their unrighteous comfort, did not say: "Gentlemen continue to make yourselves as comfortable as you can." On the contrary, he "made it uncomfortable" for them.

Mr. Editor, making one's self comfortable is not a safe rule for life. Some day a big, fat, citizen, one who is more comfortable than wise, may decide during a hot summer day that he would be more comfortable without clothes; but immediately the policeman will remind him that he must put the law of decency above the law of comfort.

Is it not infinitely better to be right with the Lord of the Sabbath and carry a cross than be wrong and comfortable?

Mrs. Smith's studio will be closed during the month of July. Miss Smith has gone to take special work in enlarging and copying at the Southern School of Photography. The studio will be re-opened immediately upon her return.

portable? Is it not better to be in the conscience above the cold, dreary, Ought we not to witness for the Lord even at the cost of suffering, on the Lord's day; rather than be comfortable and crown Him with thorns? Respectfully,

Help You Choose Tires

24,000 miles at 44.45 miles an hour—a relentless grind over a rough-finished sun-baked concrete and brick pavement at record-breaking speed—that is the grueling test Oldfield Cord Tires underwent successfully at Indianapolis Speedway May 30th. They were on the winner's car for the third successive year and on eight of the ten finishing in the money, upholding the confidence successful race drivers have in the trustworthiness and ability of these tires to meet the greatest demands of speed, endurance and safety. Their records in every other important race have been equally as good.

Consider this achievement along with another test of Oldfield quality made at Wichita, Kansas, this past winter and early spring.

24,000 miles on rutted, icy Kansas roads, running day and night on a Studebaker stock car without a single tire change. This test was made by a group of Wichita automotive dealers in a tire, oil and gasoline economy run. Mayor Kemp of Wichita was official observer and made affidavit to the mileage and service given by Oldfield tires.

You may never subject your tires to the grueling experience of Indianapolis nor the steady grind of bad winter roads, but it is good to know you can get such safety and mileage economy by buying Oldfield tires. Ask your nearest dealer.
