EFFICIENCY IN GOVERNMENT

An honest day's work for an honest dollar. That is what Hannibal L. Godwin will insist upon in the future management of county.

That, too, in his reply to the Republican complaint that taxes are too high.

Mr. Godwin does not admit that taxes are too high, nor that the tax payer doesn't get full value and more for every dollar he pays for schools for roads and for county and state government.

He does contend, however, that there is a large opportunity for improving the methods of expending public money. He, as chairman of the Democratic executive committee, expects to see that more efficient methods are adopted in Harnett County. With this end in view he has called a meeting of the executive committee for Lillington Monday, August 7. In this meeting he will place his plans before the committee. Later they will be given to the Democratic candidates who are to fill the various county offices after the next election.

The Dispatch has had little of which to complain in the management of county affairs by the Democratic party. The office holders have done as well as they possibly could, do, probably under the present methods. But it always has had an idea that there was room for improvement in the methods. It commends Mr. Godwin's ideas to the county. It may be that we can make our tax dollars bring even more than they are now bringing, in spite of the fact that the North Carolinian gets more for his taxes than does any other tax payer in the country.

LEND A HAND

Nearly four years ago our boys who undertook the job of licking the Kaiser came trooping back to us who were waiting with welcoming arms, happy hearts and all sorts of promises of what we were going to do for them in the years to come. In the hysteria of victory we promised many things which we can never deliver. But there are some things we should have done and haven't.

In the four years since war ended the Dunn District has not given its soldiers so much as a picnic. We seldom have even recognized our veterans except at such times as we wanted them to parade in the things we have striven to put over for others. Only once has the local post of the American Legion asked for help. That was when it staged a little show to which the community was invited.

The post is supported solely by the dues its members pay. It has fine headquarters here and these headquarters are expensive. It is the place at which the boys who served in the army or navy or marine corps gather for recreation and companionship. To add a mile to the fund which support these headquarters the Legion has undertaken to profitably stage the Redpath Chautauqua here next month. The program will cost them $600 and there will be some other expense—probably running the total to $800 in all. The Legion must stand all of this expense. It will have no help from any other source. It must sell tickets in sufficient number to pay the bill or go into its meagre funds to stand the loss.

Season tickets which admit to all of the three afternoons, and three night performances will sell for $5 each. They are worth it, even if the purchaser does not care anything about the former service men.

MURKIN FOR CAN

Governor Morrison's message to President Harding declining to interfere with the strikers struck a responsive chord in the minds of North Carolinians. The Governor is right when he says that the government has no business interfering with the strikers so long as they obey the law. Government should be more of an umpire enforcing the rules of the game than a dictator striving to compel labor to accept the commands of those with whom it battles.

And, too, the Governor is right again when he tells the President that he doesn't want Federal troops sent to North Carolina for strike duty. North Carolina is well able to enforce its own laws. Supplementing his earlier view to the President, Governor Morrison yesterday wrote him as follows, outlining his views in the matter: "I would not have you think that my wife of yesterday was captious or partisan in any sense, for I have the very highest respect for the motives actuating you, and realize that you are but carrying out the policy which the country has adopted.

"I think the policy long pursued, not by your administration alone, but by previous administration as well, has been a failure. I earnestly believe the very foundations of liberty are in danger by adherence to a policy which makes the Government, Federal or State, undertake to adjust these disputes. I believe the sound policy is to stand for absolute liberty of contract, and to protect it by a sufficient exercise of the police power of the Government; but please be assured that I only differed with you to the extent my wife does through deep conviction upon the subject.

"I verify believe that the fact that our Country from one end to the other is almost an armed camp today, full of riot, bloodshed and lawlessness is due to the efforts of the Government to adjust the industrial controversies out of which the trouble grows, instead of bringing disorderly people to order with such forces as is necessary."

CONGRATULATIONS TO NOEL

All summer we have been waiting for George Noel's ice plant to break down so we could write our usual summer editorials about the inadequacy of the community's ice supply. But he just will not give us a chance. Two or three times we almost have had him, but every time any part of his gears would collapse he would get around to John Thornton's hauling machine and have the thing running before we had found out that he was slipping.

It's been a hard job for George T. but he has put it over so far. We haven't anything but praise for him. Long may he wave.

FIRST BAND CONCERT

For the first time since it was organized a year or more ago, with the world-renowned Alfred Schmidt as its conductor, the Dunn Band will give a Sunday afternoon concert next Sunday on Lacknow Square. Thereafter through the summer months the concerts will be regular events.

Dunn should be proud of its band. It is made up of young men of the town who love Dunn and desire to give the town the entertainment incident to the presence of a good musical organization here. They are not paid for the service they give the community. They bought their own instruments and, except for a small sum given by business men toward the purchase of uniforms, have had no outside financial assistance.

The Sunday concerts are free. No body will be asked for money. Everybody is invited to hear them.

A few weeks ago the organization went to Kinston as a guest of the Shriners. Other bands, numerically larger, were there. But none was given so much praise as that from Dunn under the leadership of Henry O. Shell. What Kinston paid handsomely to hear, you are invited to hear for nothing.

Give the boys a good audience Sunday.

FIRST BAND CONCERT TO BE HELD SUNDAY

Good Program Will Be Rendered On Lacknow Square From 5:30 To 6:30 O'clock

The initial Sunday afternoon concert promised by the Dunn Band will be held on Lacknow Square Sunday from 5:30 to 6:30 o'clock, it was announced this morning by Eugene T. Lee, manager of the band.

The boys have been practicing for some time for this concert and extend a cordial invitation to the public to come and hear them.

The program follows: Ringling Bros. Favorite.....March Tucky Home.....Fox Trot Bluebird.....Waltz Wang-Wang Blues.....Novelty Yoo Hoo.....Fox Trot

"How I Cleared The Mill of Rats", by J. Tucker, R. I.

"As night watchman believe I have seen more rats than any man. Dogs wouldn't dare go near them. Got $1.25 package of RAT-SNAP, inside of 6 weeks cleared them all out. Killed them by the score every night. Guess the rest were scared away. I'll never be without RAT-SNAP." Three dozen $3c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by Butler Brothers; Hood & Grandham; Milson and Lee.

Invarecargill.....March Star Spangled Banner.....He is indeed a forward man who gets his last month's bills paid before next month's arrive.

ment. Other noted entertainers on the bill are: Harry C. Heffner and Andrew Lacer-Duff, lecturers; the Dixie Duo in concert; Eugene Know in humorous impersonations, and company presenting the irresistible comedy-drama, "Friendly Enemies." Friendly Enemies will feature Thursday night program. The Chautauqua Bureau says of the play: Redpath patrons have come to look forward to the production each year of a notable dramatic success on the Chautauqua program. In the past such successes as "It Pays to Advertise" and "Nothing But the Truth" have been presented. This year the delightful comedy, "Friendly Enemies," will be the feature dramatic offering.

"Friendly Enemies" is an irresistible comedy that fairly runs over with laughs, but there are also moments of heart gripping pathos. Audiences in all parts of America have alternately laughed and wept at its varied complications. The plot centers about the conflicting convictions of two lifelong friends who finally compose their differences in a way which meets the approval of all true Americans, but not before we are sorely tested the love of a father for his son, a husband for his wife, and a man for his country. "Friendly Enemies" is more than a sparkling comedy. It is a play which is genuinely human as well as tremendously interesting. "Friendly Enemies" will be presented here by a notable company of six New York actors, organized by William J. Keighley, manager of the New York City Producing Department of the Redpath Bureau.

DUNN PASTOR PREACHES TO BAPTISTS AT COATS

Rev. Elbert N. Johnson Makes Fine Impression—Professor Lynch Leads The Music

A series of meetings began at the Coats Baptist Church Monday, July 10th. Rev. Elbert N. Johnson, pastor Baptist church of Dunn, doing the preaching and Prof. E. A. Lynch of Bates Creek, N. C., leading the music. Mr. Johnson has delivered soul-stirring sermons, and up to this writing there has been several additions to the church, the meeting will probably close early part of this week, those attending the meeting feel very much indebted to Mr. Lynch for the most excellent music rendered.

Beginning with July 10th there has been free instructions given in vocal music at Coats School Auditorium by Prof. A. E. Lynch to all the citizens of Grove Township who cared to accept this unusual offer, and a good many has shown considerable interest in this training, the lessons will be given each day until the 26th inst. We feel that the ability to sing is quite an asset to the citizens of any community.

An Illustration of the Purchasing Power of $502.50. John Richard Weasels, an industrious farmer and stockman, resides on the "Old Tom Gray" farm, which he purchased recently in 1913 in the southeast of Bradshaw, Nebraska. On August 30, 1921, he decided to cover with Life Insurance a mortgage of $13,000 on this farm of 220 acres, and at the same time insure the insurance. He was thirty-eight years of age and in the most vigorous period of life. Three policies, Nos. 425465-466-467 for $5,000 each, were issued to him by the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Boston, Massachusetts, through the agency of the Moore-McCoy Company, District Managers at York, Nebraska. These contracts, which were on the Ordinary Life Perfection Plan, contained the famous Disability Benefit Clause, which guarantees to insure the insurance in the event of total permanent disability from sickness or accident. Just 36 days after these contracts were issued, October 5, 1921, Mr. Weasels, while engaged in sawing wood for his kitchen range, on a small circular saw driven by a gas engine, noticed that his sleeves were unbuttoned. He fastened the left sleeve and reached over to button the right, when in some manner the left touched and caught upon the teeth of the saw. Both hands were drawn downward in a crossed position, and before he could jerk them away, both were entirely severed about two inches above the wrists. His life, however, was saved. The completed papers in connection with a total disability claim were received in Boston, November 7th, and a check for $150.00, was immediately forwarded. Payment of all further premiums will be waived; hence all that has been paid, or can be paid by him, is the first annual premium of $502.50. Mr. Weasels will receive each month a check for $150, or one per cent of the face of the policies, for the balance of his life. The Company will also continue to pay him the usual dividends, and he will have the options of Cash Surrender and Loan Values in his policies exactly as if he were paying premiums. Furthermore, at death his beneficiary will receive the full amount of $15,000. The safeguards of this wonderful Perfection Policy form a strong bulwark of protection against life's vicissitudes. The contract of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company possesses that degree of excellence which leaves nothing to be desired or in which nothing requisite is wanting. It is issued only to persons who rate a standard risk. Insure in Sure Insurance. New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, Boston, Massachusetts. GEORGE L. CANNADY, Agent, DUNN, NORTH CAROLINA.

Colds & Headache. For years we have used Black-Draught in our family, and I have never found any medicine that could take its place. writes Mr. H. A. Stacy, of Bradyville, Tenn. Mr. Stacy, who is a Rutherford County farmer, recommends Black-Draught as a medicine that should be kept in every household for use in the prompt treatment of many illnesses, to prevent them from developing into serious troubles. THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT. "It touches the liver and does the work," Mr. Stacy declared. "It is one of the best medicines I ever saw for a cold and headache. I don't know what we would do in our family if it wasn't for Black-Draught. It has saved us many dollars. . . I don't see how any family can hardly go without it. I know it is a reliable and splendid medicine to keep in the house. I recommend Black-Draught highly and am never without it." At all druggists. Accept No Imitations.
