Peerce's Bakery has begun the delivery of its Mity Nice Bread and other products by truck in Smithfield. The first trip yesterday was very satisfactory to Mr. Pearce, who says Smithfield folk take very kindly to his products and service.

The community is thankful to the Atlantic Coast Line for the good work it is having done on its right-of-way through town. All weeds and trash are being cleared away and the way looks very well indeed. The example is one that many other property owners can follow with good results.

B. O. Townsend was in Raleigh yesterday to attend a meeting of the directors of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Co-operative Association held to arrange for the opening of all receiving points of the association today. He is in Greensboro today on other business and will return to Dunn tomorrow morning.

L. H. Bailey, champion cotton ginner of the world, has accepted a position with the General Utility Company as superintendent of its gins. Mr. Bailey was for several years a representative of one of the largest manufacturers of gins in the country. While serving in this capacity he ginned more cotton in a given time than anybody else ever has in a like period. He and his family have established residence in North Ellis Avenue.

A. W. Daughtry, of Newton Grove, field agent for the North Carolina Cotton Growers Co-operative Association, is here striving to arouse more interest in co-operative marketing among the business men of Dunn. Mr. Daughtry's work will be confined to the Dunn District entirely and he will endeavor to sign every cotton grower in the area. He has established headquarters in the offices of the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

During the last week two car loads of automobiles have been unloaded in Dunn—one for the Jarvis Motor Co., agents for the Durant; the other for the D. P. S. CARD OF THANKS

We take this method of expressing our gratitude to the people for the many kindnesses done during the illness and death of our son, James. MR. AND MRS. TOM ANDERSON

Business Men in Revolt in C. O. P.

Throughout the entire tariff discussion the Republican reactionary leaders in Congress have made a specialty of insulting, accusing and denouncing legitimate business men, especially those engaged in importing and in mercantile pursuits. They have been accused by the Republican reactionary leaders of sabotage, conspiracy by the most reprehensible and dishonest methods while their only offense has been their opposition to the worst protectionist and dishonest tariff bill ever submitted in Congress.

The great Republican press of the country equally opposed to the bill have likewise been accused by the Republican reactionary leaders.

The able Mr. Louis Belbold, Washington correspondent of the New York Herald, recently said: "The Republican party has lost sympathetic contact with the business interests of the country."

One of the best evidences of the truth of this is found in the following extracts from a letter of Mr. S. B. Rosenbaum, president of the National Salt and Clock Company, New York, to the treasurer of the National Republican Congressional Committee, under date of August 18:

"I have your letter of Aug. 8 asking my co-operation in an effort to elect a Republican Congress in November.

"You are justified, on general principles, in asking my assistance. I have been a Republican ever since I cast my first vote. I believe, generally speaking, in the principles of the Republican party. However, I shall not help to elect a Republican Congress next November, and you are entitled to know the reason why.

"But first let me say that it will be impossible to elect a Republican Congress. The Republican party has failed to measure up to its responsibilities, and the country knows it.

"A great opportunity for constructive work has been lost. The tariff bill which is now before Congress, and which will doubtless be enacted into law within a few days, is a colossal blunder. If President Taft referred to the Payne-Aldrich tariff as 'indefensible,' what can be said about the bill which is about to be enacted?

"Reputable business men and representative newspapers, who have attempted to point out the errors and injustices of the bill have been met by a flood of vilification and abuse from Congressman Fordney and other Representatives and Senators. Certain Republican Senators, who are among the largest producers and dealers in wool in the country, have been working for a tariff which puts an outrageously high duty upon raw wool, and which, it is estimated, will tax our people $350,000,000 a year. Do you think the people of the country do not know this and resent it? When the facts in regard to this scandalous situation are pointed out by a reputable merchant who knows his business, he is branded on the floor of the House and Senate as a liar, a traitor and 'imposter,' the latter epithet, in the opinion of many Republican Congressmen, apparently being the most damning of all.

"S. G. ROSENBAUM."
