CHILD KILLED IN CRASH NEAR DUKE

Five Others Injured When Ford Plunges Off 25-Foot Embankment

Robert Norris, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Norris of Duke, was instantly killed and five others were injured, one perhaps fatally, Sunday afternoon when a Ford car plunged off a 25-foot embankment at the southern end of the bridge which spans Cape Fear river, four miles west of Dunn. David E. Pate, driver of the ill-fated car, received internal injuries and is not expected to live, while both Mr. and Mrs. Norris, parents of the child killed, and another of their children were all seriously injured and Mrs. Esther Todd, a sister of Mrs. Norris, suffered a broken nose and internal injuries.

There were six passengers on the car when it took the fatal plunge, all of them being citizens of Duke. The injured were rushed to the Good Hope hospital at Duke soon after the accident and were attended by Drs. Holt, Buie and McKay. The automobile was headed towards Duke, the party being on their way home from Lillington, it is said. According to eye-witnesses the car was traveling at a moderate rate of speed, the driver apparently losing control as it came upon the embankment.

The child whose life was snuffed out instantly suffered a crushed skull, his neck, both legs and one arm were broken and he sustained other bruises. The funeral was conducted yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Norris home and interment was made in the family cemetery.

Three other automobile accidents have occurred near Dunn during the last three days, mention of which will be found elsewhere in today's paper.

FORD FROM FAYETTEVILLE TURNED OVER NEAR GODWIN

A Ford coupe driven by a young man named Vana, who lives in Fayetteville, turned over on the Dunn-Fayetteville highway near Godwin.

Between a young man and a car, the car was thrown through the windshield and suffered an ugly crash in the face and on one arm. J. W. Jordan of Dunn, who passed soon after the accident, carried the couple to Fayetteville and the young lady was taken to the Highsmith hospital, where her wounds were dressed. The car turned turtle when the driver attempted to pass another car on the highway, it is said.

DUKE ROUTE TWO

Duke, April 5.—Fire of an undetermined origin completely destroyed the Mission Presbyterian church, which was located near the home of Willie Ennis, Wednesday night between midnight and day. The fire was not discovered until early Thursday morning, when it had virtually gone its course, and there was no possible chance of saving any thing. Thus far it is not known whether there was any insurance on the structure or not, but it is believed that there was not. The loss is estimated between $500 and $800, as there was an organ, which was practically new, along with literature and other fixtures. Rev. A. W. Lanier, of Benson, was the pastor and Orestus Ennis was superintendent of the Sunday school.

Early morning visitors at the scene of the fire state that they saw several bare footprints which led to and from the building. They also assert that they are confident that it was the work of incendiaries, as a heavy downpour of rain fell Wednesday night and it seemed improbable that it should catch in any other manner.

Misses Ala and Ruby Turlington entertained a large number of friends at a party at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Turlington, Thursday night. Various games were played to the inimitable delight of all. Following these, refreshments were served, after which the assembled guests departed for their respective homes.

Carole H. Egnie, of Raleigh, is spending several days this week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Ennis.

Miss Mollie Morris, of the Turlington school faculty, is spending this week and at her home near Duke.

William H. Turlington, Jr., of Raleigh, spent the past week with his parents, Ex-Sheriff and Mrs. W. H. Turlington.

WAKE FOREST IS WINNER OF SUIT

New York Court Gives Unanimous Verdict In Boatwreck Bequest

W. N. Jones, attorney for Wake Forest college, was informed in a telegram received last night that for the third time the courts of New York have ruled that the college is entitled to the $1,350,000 bequest contained in the will of the late Jacob A. Boatwreck, Standard Oil millionaire of New York.

On further appeal is possible but under New York legal practice a case can be carried to the court of last resort only on a showing of error and it is thought here that yesterday's decision, which was the unanimous opinion of three judges, will end the litigation which has kept the college from recovering the legacy for two years.

Under the will of Mr. Boatwreck, who died about 20 years ago, the college was to receive a trust fund, which has since grown from $250,000 to nearly six times that amount, in the event that his daughter died without leaving heirs who were residents and citizens of the United States. Miss Boatwreck was married three times before her death in March, 1921, but all of her children live abroad. A guardian ad litem was appointed for the minor children and the college's right to the fund was contested in behalf of the minor heirs.—Raleigh News and Observer.

CONTESTS HELD IN CUMBERLAND

Falcon and Collegiate Institute Equally Matched—Other Contests Held

Falcon, Apr. 9.—On Thursday night last the teams of Falcon and Washington Collegiate Institute debated the query propounded by the High School Debating Union under the title: "Resolved, that the United States should not maintain a standing army."

not sooner, but in some way were delayed in getting placed, and as there was no third school to form the triangle, the two schools exchanged debating teams. Mr. Carl Ware and Miss Annie Sue Virden going to Washington, and Misses Ruby Reynolds and Pearl Bell of Washington coming to Falcon. Messrs. David and Rufus Edwards composed the home team at Falcon. In each case the decision was given to the team remaining at home by a 3 to 2 vote of the judges, thus eliminating these two schools from the contest at Chapel Hill, at which even both have been represented in the past.

On Friday night, at South River school, the Black River township contest was held to select recitation, declamation and spelling contestants for the Cumberland county commencement. Three schools were represented: Falcon, Godwin and South River.

In the elementary girls' recitation contest, Eloise Jones of Godwin was the winner; in the elementary boys' contest, Raymond Bethos of South River; in the high school girls' contest, Thelma Matthews of South River; in the high school boys' declamation contest, Rufus W. Long of Falcon. In the spelling contest, Vana Sewell, of Falcon, who is also an inmate of the Falcon orphanage, won over the other five contestants, there being two from each of the schools.

The judges were from the faculty of Dunn high school, as follows: Prof. W. S. Snipes and B. D. Dunn, Mrs. B. D. Dunn, Misses Mattie Henderson, Ethel Ervin, Janie Ippock, Rachel Clifford and Blanche Grantham. They expressed their admiration of the beautiful school building, situated as it is in the country, being at least thirteen miles from either Fayetteville or Dunn.

The Falcon Band rendered a few selections during the program, Godwin and South River schools each sang a chorus, and piano solos were played by Virginia Godwin of South River and Miriam McLean of Godwin.

FRANKLIN COUNTY GIRL

ASKS ASSAULT DAMAGES

Durham, April 1.—Miss Irene Murray, Franklin county girl, has entered suit against John Place, of Durham, for $25,000 damages. The complaint filed today alleges that Place assaulted Miss Murray, and that "her life has been wrecked, her health ruined, and she placed in disgrace forever."

A bachelor may be loose as at times, but he doesn't have to play second fiddle to a pink-eyed poodle.

Designs Of All Paper Money To Be Revised

Recommendations Almost Completed By Special Committee Of Treasury Officials

Washington, April 6.—Recommendations for a general revision of the designs of all paper money have been almost completed by a special committee of treasury officials and are exchanged soon to be turned over to Secretary Mellon. And, if the findings of the committee are adopted, the two dollar bill—churned by the gambler and mutilated by the superstitious to rid it of any ill omen—will be the first to go.

The committee will propose a standardization of the designs of all paper money of the same denominations as that the United States and Federal reserve notes gold certificates and other legal tender currency will appear the same except for the designation of its source. These plans call for similarity of color, portraits, which are regarded as the greatest protective feature of modern currency, and of general markings.

Abolishment of the two dollar bill is not suggested because of any superstition, the protective features gained by doing away with it being the influencing factor. The treasury secret service, observing the way of "bill raisers" for years, has reached the conclusion that there would be fewer bills altered by the criminals if the two dollar notes were not in circulation. It was figured also that by withdrawing the two dollar bill greater economy in the printing of money would be effected.

ROBERT BRITT DIES FROM HURTS WHEN HIT BY AUTO

Lumberton, April 7.—Robert Britt, young white man of Long Branch section, died Friday night at a hospital here two hours after being struck by an automobile driven by J. W. Branch. The accident occurred on the highway about five miles east of here as young Britt was crossing the road from behind another car, which had stopped.

unavoidable. The victim never regained consciousness after being struck. Burial was made today at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richardson Britt, near Long Branch Baptist church.

LOCATE WHISKEY HID IN CEILING

Homes Of Four Men Raided In The Vicinity Of Lenoir Springs

Sanford, April 8.—One of the biggest whiskey raids ever pulled off in this county was staged in the vicinity of Lenoir Springs, eight miles south of this city, Friday afternoon, when the home of J. W. (Bud) Bowman and the homes of three of his tenants were raided and many gallons of whiskey were found.

The raiding party was made up of Prohibition Officer Grady McDuffie, of West End, Moore county; Sheriff Rooser and Deputies Groce, Dalrymple and Hamilton, of Lee county, and Deputies McPherson and Mann, of Moore county; Rural Policeman Marlette, of Moore, and Chief of Police Williams, of Carthage.

At the home of Jim Kelly a half gallon was found and another half gallon buried on the premises, and Kelly put under a $250 bond. At the home of John Battle, another tenant of Mr. Bowman, some ten gallons were found buried in cans, but Battle was not at home. At Shorty Dull's home no whiskey was found, but kegs and cans that gave evidence of having contained whiskey were found.

The Bowman home, which is a nice home in the suburbs of Lenoir Springs, was then "negotiated." Mr. Bowman, who is a well-to-do citizen of this county, was not of this county, was not at home. By making a hole in the ceiling 62 quarts of whiskey were found bearing the label of Potomac Rye, and eight gallons of imitation peach brandy were found.

STEAL LIGHT FOR A "CRAP" GAME

An oil lamp stolen from the rear of J. L. Deerman's automobile Thursday was later found in an old barn, near the oil mill. The surroundings indicated that the lamp had been used as a light-producer for a "crap" game in the barn. Mr. Deerman thinks the lamp was taken from his car for that purpose. He had filled it with oil just before it was stolen and it was empty when found in the barn.

STATE MILLS TO GREATLY EXPAND

Textile Mill Estimates That 500,000 New Spindles Will Be Added In Near Future

Charlotte, April 8.—More new cotton spindles are in sight for North Carolina for this year or as quickly as projected textile plants can be built, than were in sight for the entire South on January 1. Textile leaders and machinery men in Charlotte estimate that more than 500,000 new spindles will be installed by mills under construction or projected in this State, as compared with the estimate of 307,730 estimated for the entire South in the annual statistical number of the Southern Textile Institute in January.

The estimate for North Carolina at that time was 225,730 spindles. The estimate for South Carolina was 51,000. Today approximately 100,000 is the estimate credited to South Carolina, and in addition to this amount a large expansion in weaving mills and bleaching and finishing plants, Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia, Virginia, and Texas are credited together with approximately 250,000 spindles, making an aggregate of close to 1,000,000 new spindles in sight for the entire South.

Recent visitors to this section, including textile men, officers, accountants and business men, have marveled at the industrial development of this section, not only in facilities but in other lines of industry. Two questions have almost invariably been asked by these visitors: "How do you develop such a large textile industry in this little State?" and "Can you secure American, efficient labor for a continuous supply of the program without resorting to the importation of immigrant labor from the East?"

Textile leaders and other business men have been much interested in the answers to these frequent questions. Consequently, for some time past, they have been looking for a way to develop a large textile industry in this little State.
