The Dunn Hospital

Perhaps not one addition to the town of Duna during the past several years has proven so great a blessing as has the Duna hospital. While this institution has only been in operation a few months, it is fast growing in popularity and is meeting a long-feit necessity in this section. Even now people living here wonder how the town managed to exist so long without that which the hospital provides.

Turing the past few weeks a number of major operations have been performed at the local hospital, and they were successful. Recently a number of najor operations have been performed at the local hospital, and they were successful. Recently a number of new and modern surgical instruments have been added to the hospital equipment and the institution has just begun to grow. The building is capable of taking care of only 15 patients at one time, and often this capacity is overtaxed. This means that in the course of a very short time a larger building must be provided.

Many who have undergone operations and treatment at this hospital speak in glowing and favorable terms of the institution and its management. In providing this great and outstanding need, the local physicians connected with it have served Dunn and the Dunn district well. They have rendered a great service to humanity, and one that should be, and is, deeply appreciated by the public generally.

Played A Bad Hand

Recent developments in Robeson county would lead one to believe that the Ku Klux Klan employs some men who, though they may be 100 per cent efficient. H. L. Taliaferro, confessed Ku Klux detective, assigned to handle the klan's interest in the women-flogging case, made a very poor showing. In fact he was made the "goat" of the whole affair. All those accused and tried on the charge of being implicated in the flogging of the two Proctorville women were set free, and only Taliaferro, the detective, was found guilty. Lawson, Brogden and Hedgepeth, who were charged with heing present at, and assisting with, the flogging, are free, while Taliaferro, was fined and sentenced to juil as a result of his work as a detective. All of which indicates that Taliaferro is a poor hand at the detective game, or that luck was other than favorable to him.

We don't know why, but there are always more hail storms during a summer following a late, or cool, spring. At least, this has been our observation.

Henry Ford recently delivered himself of a statement to the effect that "the people don't know what they want." Quite a number of them have thought they wanted 4rd cars, though they might have been mistaken in their thinking.

Bright Prospect

And again it has been proven that it takes very little rain to produce abundant crops in Eastran North Carolina. The rainfall during the spring and early summer of 1925 in this section was the lightest in many years, and the prospect for a bumper crop was never brighter.

Roads Well Kept

A few months ago the criticism was adverse, and justly so. In fact, the complaints were so numerous that the Dunn Chamber of Commerce applied to the State Highway Commission for felief. Old-Time Gospel Stirs Folks To A Realization Of Their Duty
