NUMBER 66

ONE DAY'S INCOME FOR THE ORPHANS

People Are Asked To Contribute On Or Near Thanksgiving Day

Thousands of men and women, boys and girls, mark the harvest season with gifts for the fatherless and motherless and homeless children in our State. Our Thanksgiving season has long been notable for the outpouring of money to maintain the orphan homes that serve our people—that serve them so worthily.

Again we come, as the year draws to its close, not simply to remind these givers that another harvest season is at hand, but hoping, also, to establish a beautiful custom with thousands of others who may not have realized the joys of having a worthy part in this commendable work.

Men may debate as to the object of their charity; they will not debate the call of the helpless child. They may raise questions as to this or that institution; there is no debate concerning the blessed work that our institutions are doing for orphaned children in North Carolina. To every human heart this appeal comes—the appeal of the homeless and helpless child. It has been ever thus since the great heart of the Lord and Master rebuked those who would hinder the little ones from approaching His loving embrace.

The only possible debate is that touching the amount you will give to this worthy cause. The object of this message is to lay that before you, with this suggestion: The income of one day would be reasonable. By all means let your contribution be of such proportion as to obtain the joy of feeling that you have done something worthy of your heart. It is not the amount that measures the value of the gift; it is the relation of the gift to the heart of the giver. Let conscience dictate, and joy will inevitably follow.

A gift for the care and education of helpless children will measure the circumference and also the depth of your heart.

Do not do yourself an injury, not in the eyes of others, but in your own estimation. Men grow from within, not from without. Men make themselves big or little by their thoughts and deeds. Take the full measure of your heart in responding to the call of the orphan child this year, and you will be glad; restrict that measure and you will find no joy. It is not what others think, or say, or do, that counts. Hearken to the promptings of your own heart!

The object of this appeal is quite enough in itself to enlist the sympathy of a considerable public without an attempt to excite the emotions of anyone. Each one is asked to consider the case for himself, remembering always that "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

What if your children should some day become orphans? How would you have others consider them in their misfortune? "To others do as you would that they should do unto you." The fatherless and motherless children are all around you. They will always be here, and if you do not see them it is because others have come and gathered them into one of the homes listed below, and because others are sparing you the pain of their personal appeal.

We come to you in behalf of the most pitifully helpless of all our people—the fatherless and motherless children. We come to ask you to look upon these little ones, and measuring the circumference and depth of your heart, to pour out a gift for them that will be worthy of you; one that will bring to you a sense of duty well done; one that will leave in the place of your money a great wealth of joy.

Make your offering on, or near, Thanksgiving Day direct to the orphanage of your choice. The gift may be sent through your church, or your lodge. You are asked to do this in His name, and "the measure you mete will be measured to you again." Just now the great and inspiring army, marching to the inspiring strains of "Onward, Christian Soldiers," anticipating with joy the opportunity which the event of another Thanksgiving Day affords to renew their offerings and good cheer to all engaged in the noblest of undertakings carried on through these homes and educational institutions for the help of the helpless, bid you join the happy throng.

The income of a day for helpless children is a fair exchange—joy for dollars; life for money. But, remember, joy is not to be purchased; life is not for sale. They come freely to all who meet worthily the demands

Is Married in Jail

Washington, N. C. Nov. 15.—The cell doors of the District of Columbia jail swung open for an hour today—long enough for Miss Gladia Peyton, 19 year old prisoner, to march to the altar and become the bride of Frederick Ewers. Then they closed again, shutting in the bride and shutting out the bridegroom.

Miss Peyton, a stenographer, was recently sentenced to a year's imprisonment for forgery. Ewers, a salesman to whom her engagement previously had been announced, was not deterred, and today he went to the jail and obtained permission to drive with the young woman to the home of a minister, where the ceremony was performed. The bridal party then returned to the jail.

Wife Shoots Him For Staying Out Nights

Beaufort, Nov. 14.—As a result of not obeying his wife's instructions to stay at home, Frank Cogleton, a young white man who lives here received a bad shotgun wound in his right thigh. Mrs. Cogleton alleges that when her husband got into his Ford and started to leave home that she fired at the tire and hit her husband. He sustained her in the statement.

Cogleton was right badly injured and there is no doubt but that he will be at home for sometime to come. The police have made some investigations of the affair but no witnesses of the shooting have been found and no arrest has been made. Cogleton is a native of Beaufort and Mrs. Cogleton is a native of Alabama, where they were married about two years ago. They have one child.

$50,000 IS GOAL FOR SEAL SALES

Winston-Salem Won State And National Honors Last Year

No less than $50,000 is to be the goal of the 1923 Tuberculosis Christmas Seal sale in North Carolina. Last year the amount raised was $43,992. While the North Carolina Tuberculosis Association, under whose auspices the Tuberculosis Christmas Seals are sold in the State, feels that an amount of only $7,000 is too small an amount to work for, in view of the urgent needs that Christmas Seal money can be used to relieve, it urges every seal selling organization to increase its budget several thousand dollars and to work to double its sale if possible.

There are 150 Seal selling organizations in the State. These are composed of well trained women and men, leaders in their communities, who are responsible for sale of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals in their town and community between Thanksgiving and Christmas. It must also

Over Half Of Baptists South

Nashville, Mo., Nov. 14.—More than half of all the Baptists in the world reside in the South, according to a survey conducted by the Southern Baptist Convention.

The total Baptist strength of the world is approximately 11,600,000 and of this number 6,746,769 reside in the South. This indicates, it was stated, that there is one Baptist to every 5.7 persons of all ages in the South.

The distribution of Baptist population by states is given as follows in the survey: Alabama, 562,717; Arkansas, 258,076; District of Columbia, 48,701; Florida, 169,845; Georgia, 907,071; southern Illinois (which co-operates with the southern Baptist convention), 70,374; Kentucky, 405,788; Louisiana, 225,501; Maryland, 41,825; Mississippi, 679,247; Missouri, 270,896; New Mexico, 8,786; North Carolina, 575,911; Oklahoma, 182,879; South Carolina, 409,812; Tennessee, 453,881; Texas 640,978; and Virginia, 503,712.

Mississippi heads the south in the proportion of Baptist strength to the total population of the state, there being one Baptist to every 2.6 persons, Georgia is second with one Baptist to every 2.3 persons, and South Carolina is third with one to every 3.8 persons, according to the survey.

Will Present Pageant On Christmas Night

A beautiful pageant and musical cantata combined will be given in the First Baptist church on Christmas night. The beautiful pageant, "Bethlehem," was given last year on Christmas night and repeated on the following Friday night, in order that those who were turned away on account of the overflowing crowds on Christmas night, might be able to see the pageant.

The event this year will be equally as beautiful with a greater amount of music and scenic effects.

Co-operative marketing will not solve all the farmers' problems, but it will make their solution easier. No one of the farmers' large problems, production, marketing, financing, transportation, etc., can be solved without the solution of the others, but marketing may well receive special attention at this time because in the past it has received so little.

INCREASE SHOWN IN COTTON GINNED

Harnett Had Ginned 29,874 Bales Prior To November 1, This Year

There were 29,874 bales of cotton, counting round as well as square, ginned in Harnett county in the crop of 1923 prior to November 1, as compared with 26,645 to the same date last year, according to information furnished the county by Paul McKay, special agent. This is an increase of 3,229 bales over last year. The Department of Commerce census report shows that Johnston county had ginned 47,500 bales prior to November 1, as compared with 41,794 to same date last year; Sampson 23,478 bales, as compared with 20,996 last year; and Cumberland 17,521, as compared with 16,385 last year. Johnston county led the State in number of bales ginned to that date, Robeson came second with 46,887, as compared with 39,085 last year.

The total ginned in the cotton-growing counties of the State prior to November 1 was 412,128 bales, as compared with 377,745 to same date last year, an increase of 34,383 bales ginned to date. This year was greater than last to same date year year in all counties except six. These counties are Lee, Craven, Mecklenburg, Rowan and Pamlico.

The report shows that North Carolina produced more cotton this year than any other cotton growing State except Texas. The crop, coupled with the high price of the staple has demanded that "good times" are abroad in the cotton-growing counties of the North State.

DON'T MARRY A "DELICATESSEN WIFE"

Have you a "delicatessen wife" in your home?

Doctors recommend 'em as just the thing. They convert perfectly healthy husbands, with healthy appetites and healthy pocketbooks, into ideal patients.

No husky laboring man can thrive on a "delicatessen" diet. Therefore, unless you are puny and dyspeptic to start with, be sure before you marry whether your intended is going to prepare your meals for you in your own kitchen or is going to let someone else prepare them for you in someone else's kitchen.

This warning will appear more impressive after young swains who contemplate matrimony have seen "Daytime Wives," the startling photodrama coming to the Colonial Theatre Monday.

Forty years' experience as a farmer may mean little. Some of the oldest farmers are the poorest, while some of the youngest are very successful.

Spiritualist Fails To Return To Life

New York, Nov. 14.—Dr. Friedrich L. Rawston, English spiritualist healer, who died from pneumonia four days ago with the belief that life remained in the human body until disintegration set in, had not returned to life this afternoon when the four days in which, under the law, embalment or cremation must take place had expired.

Shortly before 4 o'clock the Board of Health granted an extension of one day. Under orders received from Mrs. Rawston in London, the body will be cremated tomorrow morning unless the prayers of the healers' disciples for his resurrection are answered.

Women disciples today still kept vigil at the bier in an Eighth Avenue undertaking establishment. Apparently still retaining hope, they sang and prayed fervently.

Gets Passports

Private advices from Doorn, received by the Agence Telegraphique Belge, says that a courier, Von Hoechst, arrived at Doorn at four o'clock this afternoon with twelve German passports for the ex-Kaiser and his immediate entourage. A telegram in cipher was received there in the morning and early in the afternoon there was a long conference between the Kaiser and those close to him.

A wireless system has been installed at Doorn House, which has been the residence of the head of the Hohenzollerns during the later years of his interment in Holland, and messages are received from Nauen daily.

PROVIDES CREDIT FOR THE FARMERS

New Bank Will Look After The Interests Of Organized Farmers

Raleigh, Nov. 14.—What is possibly one of the most beneficial movements towards the betterment of agricultural conditions in North Carolina culminated yesterday when the North Carolina Agricultural Credit Corporation was organized and chartered. This movement was the direct result of the efforts of A. E. Bing, secretary-treasurer of the North Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association and John H. Boushall of the Raleigh Saving Bank and Trust Company.

For some time Messrs. Bing and Boushall have given considerable study to the necessity of working out some method of aiding the farmers in financing the production of their crops. Several conferences in which a number of men, deeply interested in the welfare of the farming citizenship of the State considered the plans advanced by Messrs. Bing and Boushall were held and the final conference yesterday resulted in the organization of the North Carolina Agricultural Credit Corporation, with an authorized capital stock of $2,000,000. The charter has been granted and the new corporation expects to begin business as soon as $100,000 capital is taken.

It is an established fact that the merchants in every section of this State are anxious to put their business on a cash basis, in order that they can make their purchases for cash, thus buying cheaper and at the same time turn over their capital more frequently. It is another well established fact that the farmers as a rule, particularly those of the cotton and tobacco sections of the State are not able to produce a crop without financial assistance and usually this assistance must be given by the local merchants, who are thereby compelled to carry a large volume of business throughout the year on a long time credit basis. Local banks cannot meet the demand.

lem have come to the conclusion that some other method of financing crop production should be provided.

It was this condition and this need that resulted in the passage of the act of congress providing for the establishment of Intermediate Credit Banks and one of these banks has been established at Columbia and North Carolina is in its territory. This Intermediate Credit Bank is to provide a means of securing for the farmers credit for the production of crops.

At the meeting held yesterday, J. D. Bell of the Intermediate Credit Bank of Columbia was present and stated that the organization being perfected was exactly the method by which the Intermediate Bank could best function. Mr. Bell outlined carefully the plans and purposes of the Intermediate Credit Bank.

Working in conjunction with the local banks throughout the State, the North Carolina Agricultural Credit Corporation will assist the farmers in obtaining the necessary cash with which to produce a crop, thus enabling the farmers to pay cash for supplies and for fertilizer. The method will directly benefit the fertilizer dealers and the local merchants because the burden of carrying a large amount of credit business will be removed from them, and will enable them to place their business on a cash basis. The loans obtained for the farmers will come due at intervals, thus enabling them to pay of a part of the loan out of the initial advances made on cotton and tobacco by the cooperative associations, and yet have some cash on hand each time for expenses. This will result in a benefit to the farmer, in that his indebtedness will not all come due immediately upon the completion of his crop.

These loans will be obtained at a low rate in interest and the farmers will again be benefited.

Local banks throughout the State will be invited to take stock in the corporation and a representative of the bank will act as the local agent of the corporation, passing on all applications for loans. It is the purpose of the corporation to work for the benefit of members of the North Carolina Cotton Cooperative Association and the Tobacco Association and loans will be obtained for the members of these two organizations.

The organization was perfected yesterday by the election of the following board of directors, Chairman of the Board, G. A. Norwood, Goldsboro, John H. Boushall, Raleigh, W. M. Saunders, Smithfield, M. G. Mann, production.
