DREAM FLOWERS.

Beyond the hill there's a garden Fashioned of sweetest flowers, Calling to you with its voice of gold Telling you all that your heart may hold.

Beyond the hill there's a garden fair,
My garden of happy hours.

Dream flowers grow in that garden, Blossoms of Sun and showers There, withered hopes may bloom anew,
Dreams long forgotten shall all come true.

Beyond the hill there's a garden fair,
My garden of happy hours.

MARY PICKFORD BACK IN RAG-AMUFFIN ROLE.

"Little Annie Rooney" Furnishes Ideal Vehicle for This Famous Star.

The saucy, mischievous imp who, is beloved by millions throughout the world is back on the silver screen.

Mary Pickford has forsaken the ruffled laces and bejeweled gowns of costume plays and has returned to the type of role that made her famous.

"The World's Sweetheart" is again the curly haired, prank playing, impetuous Irish lassie in "Little Annie Rooney" her latest United Artists Corporation photoplay, which comes to the Wayneswood Theatre, Thursday May 6th.

"Little Annie Rooney" starts with a fight and ends with a fight. In between are laughs galore, a tear or two, much suspense and many heart throbs. It's an ideal story for Mary Pickford and her characterization of Little Annie is one of genuine aristry, played as no other actress could play it.

The story of one of the slums of New York, an epic of those crowded, musty thoroughfares on the East Side, where men, women and children in motley array swarm like ants in an ant hill.

While still a child Annie is plunged into a maelstrom of dramatic incidents that first sober the impulsive girl, then bring out the heroic qualities so often found in children of the slums.

"Little Annie Rooney" is from an original story by Katherine Hennessey. The title is familiar through the old time song of that name, but there has never been a book nor a story of "Little Annie Rooney."

"Little Annie Rooney" is declared to be Miss Pickford's best picture in her eventful screen career. It is the type of picture which should please everyone, has been given a sumptuous production and the photography by Charles Rosher and Hal Mohr is beautiful throughout.

The coming of "Little Annie Rooney" is an event of magnitude in the present theatrical season.

WILDACRES.
Displayed in Alexander's Drug Store is a beautiful oil painting of M.
Apeda's conception of Wildacres. The well known artist has enhanced his reputation in this painting, giving with rare judgment the atmosphere of ruggedness and sublimity which is characteristic of Wildacres.

Messrs. Allen & Brown are organizing their sales force for Haywood county. Ladies and gentlemen desirous of attachment to this department of the now famous organization will get information at the office in Alexander's Drug Store.

H. J. EASTMAN RECEIVES HONORS.

Lafayette, Ind., April 19.—At a recent election of officers for the school year 1926-27 for the Purdue Agriculturalist, a publication fostered by the agricultural students of Purdue University, a junior in the school of agriculture, of Waynesville, N. C., was chosen editor of the alumni and local news department of the magazine.

It is regarded as one of the leading agricultural publications of its kind in the middle west and has a comparatively large circulation. Eastman has been prominent in various campus activities and has given particular attention to the Agriculturist, and his efforts have been rewarded by the position he will hold next year.
