IS ONE A FOOL WHO DARES DE-FY SOCIETY? MILLIONS
WILL DEBATE THIS PIC-TURE.

William Fox Production of Channing Pollock's World-Known Play Controversy in Waynesville.

FOOL: A person lacking in understanding, judgment or common sense; a simpleton.—Funk & Wagnalls Dictionary.

If the dictionary makers are right, an interesting question arises. It is: "If a man were to live his life as Christ would like to have him live it, would it prove that he lacked common sense and was, in fact, a simpleton?"

An interesting controversy comes to one's mind after looking at the definition of "a fool" and a description of "The Fool."

In this thoughtful story, young Daniel Gilchrist, curate of a fashionable Fifth Avenue church, strives to live his life as Christ would have it lived. Realizing that hypocrisy is rampant in his congregation, he protests to the record. That comfort-loving divine tells him to preach the sort of sermons that will please the wealthy pew holders. The reply is a savage attack from the pulpit the following week, and the curate's dismissal immediately follows. Hence he earns the title "The Fool."

But—fool though they brand him, he is found to be the happy and contented one when the story reaches its conclusion.

As a stage production, it was the outstanding dramatic sensation of three successive years. Nine enormously successful companies played it simultaneously in America.

As a spectacular William Fox production, "The Fool" gains enormously power, because the great scenes are far more impressive than they could be made in the narrow confines of the dramatic stage.

At the Waynesville Theatre Monday, May 17th.

NOTICE.

State of North Carolina, County of Haywood—In the Superior Court,

Before the Clerk.

W. A. Grahl, administrator of J. L. Grahl, deceased,

The Chief Telephone Expense Is Taxes and Wages

THE wage and tax bill of this company for the year 1925 amounted to $12,469,603.

These two items alone are more than 70 per cent of the entire cost of producing your service.

Since 1916 the tax bill has increased 354 per cent and the wage bill has increased 267 per cent. During the same period the average investment in service has increased 132 per cent.

In North Carolina the taxes for 1925 amounted to $324,744, an increase of 486 per cent since 1916, while the wage bill for 1925 was $1,619,392.

Although taxes form such a large part of the cost of producing telephone service, we have no objection to paying our just share of taxes. This is a duty of citizenship which we perform cheerfully.

While the cost of producing telephone service has increased, like the cost of all forms of government, the rates charged our customers for the service have not increased in anything like the same proportion as taxes, wages and other expenses.

Such facts as these are of interest to telephone users, and indicate the care and economy observed in the business of rendering telephone service.
