BLOSSOM TIME.

By Anna McIntosh Beville

Sunlight in the branches,
Jay birds nesting near,
Robin with his red breast
Cherups over here.

Where the fruit trees are luxuriant,
And the Blossoms blowing there
Are rosy as the dawning,
That breaks both bright and clear.

For the heart of each holds honey
And you'd know it by the bee
As he fills each rustic hamper,
And wings his way by me.

For he revels in his purchase
As he carries it around,
To the tiny waxen dwelling
That is high above the ground.

THE OLD SOLDIERS DRAW PENSIONS.

The surviving veterans and widows of the veterans gathered again to receive their pension checks at the county court house Tuesday. The United Daughters and Sons of the Confederacy furnished a most delightful dinner on the ground. A musical program was rendered by the Daughters during the afternoon. Several talks were made by prominent citizens on current topics of the day.

Mr. Sherrill, a local photographer, took pictures of the Confederates as they were receiving their checks and also several other views.

There were fifty-five Confederate names remaining on the list to receive pensions and of the original number thirty-seven were present Tuesday. On their list appears eighty-five women, twenty-seven of whom were in attendance.

In checks Tuesday the county paid out $18,642.50 to the people whose names appear on the list. Fifty-three men drew $77.50 each, 1 man $100.00 and another $85.00. Five men received $25.00 per month. Eighty-three women received $150.00, while two drew $100.00 each.

Pension day is a day of entertainment for the old Confederates and they look forward to the next time when the U. D. C. and Sons of the Confederacy will be their host and hostesses.

SIPE-ALBRIGHT WEDDING.
Miss Sarah Linn Albright was married to Mr. Bryan Webb Sipe at high noon on Saturday, June the twelfth, in the First Presbyterian church at Waynesville, North Carolina. Miss Albright is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Miles, Franklin Albright of Waynesville, and for the last four years has been a teacher in the schools of Murphy. Mr. Sipe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Sipe of Cherryville, N. C., and holds the position of superintendent of schools in Murphy.

At twelve o'clock the ceremony at the church began with music. Mr. W. C. Boyce of Barker, New York, sang Carl Baum's "Calm as the Night" and Franz Schubert's "Du Bist Die Ruh," with Miss Anne Wilson of Harlem, Georgia, at the piano. The Duet, "Oh Promise Me," from Reginald DeJoven's "Robinhood" by Miss Nancy Killian and Mr. Boyce, with organ accompaniment, immediately preceded the entrance of the wedding party. Miss Fredericks Quinlan organist, began her program with the nuptial chorus from Richard Wagner's "Lohengrin" as the bridal party came into the chancel.

Mr. M. G. Stamey of Candler and Mr. H. C. Neil of Charlotte acted as ushers. The bridesmaids, Miss Grace Albright, youngest sister of the bride, and Miss Lucie Triplett, from Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, wore white chiffon tulle set off by embroidery and a large bow of yellow velvet, and carried yellow snapdragons and blue delphinium in garden hats.

Mr. W. M. Fain and Mr. J. B. Story, both of Murphy, were groomsmen. The junior bridesmaids, Miss Marie Platt of Waynesville and Miss Dorothy Morrow, a cousin of the bride, from Chattanooga, Tennessee, wore yellow georgette and carried garden hats filled with mixed garden flowers.

Miss Anne Albright, as maid of honor, wore white georgette and carried yellow and white snapdragons. The flower girl, Miss Frances Rose of Waynesville, dressed in white and yellow georgette, carried a basket of mixed garden flowers. Miss Mary Morrow Beatty, little niece of the bride wearing yellow crepe de chine, carried the ring in a large white rose.

The bride entered on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. The bride's usual charm was enhanced by her veil of tulle, bound with a wreath of orange blossoms, which she wore over a dress of white georgette, a loose sleeveless garment, with a very full circular skirt, self-trimmed with flowers. Bride roses and lupine made up her shower bouquet.

Mr. Sipe, the bridegroom, was attended by his brother, Mr. Melvin Sipe, of Fountain Inn, South Carolina. Mrs. Albright, mother, Mrs. Morrow, grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Beatty and Mrs. McKeel, sisters of the bride, were guests of honor. Mrs. Albright's corsage of pink roses set off her dress of gray canton crepe. Mrs. Morrow wore black crepe and carried lavender sweet peas, while Mrs. Beatty and Mrs. McKeel wore dresses of georgette in pastel shades.

As the air of Lady John Scott's "Annie Laurie" was played quietly on the organ, Rev. S. R. Crockett, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Waynesville, performed the wedding ceremony. The married couple followed by their attendants left the church to the strains of Felix Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

White and yellow predominated in the decoration of the church. French baskets of privet, syringa and margarites and cathedral candles in floor stands, filled the chancel. White ribbons marked the reserved seats; clusters of margarites tied with lover's knots of white taffeta, at the end of the pews, lined the middle aisle.

Shortly after the ceremony at the church a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the menu which consisted of yellow and white citrus fruit cocktail, chicken a la king, peas au gratin in potato timbales, bullion aspic salad and ice cream on sunshine cake.

Besides the bridal party the house guests were: Mrs. D. M. Beatty of Charlotte, Mr. and Mrs. McKeel, Jr. and their son C. B. McKeel, Third, Mrs. J. A. Morrow of Chattanooga, Tennessee; Mrs. J. B. Storey of Murphy; Miss Blanche Howard of Frederick, Maryland; Miss Sarah Ballew of Chattanooga; Mr. Julius Bursuzza of Bilbao, Spain; Misses Mary and Sara Tatum of Hendersonville; Mrs. M. L. McNeely of Canton; Mrs. G. M. Morrow of Mooresville; Mr. and Mrs. Willard Axley, Miss Kate Axley and Miss Ellen Cooper Axley of Murphy.

Throughout the ceremony and the festivities the wedding evinced careful management and excellent taste. During the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Sipe left by motor for an extended honeymoon in Canada and Northern United States.
