DR. STRINGFIELD PROPERTY RESOLD.

The Hunt & Reece Realty Co. of this city report the sale of the former Dr. Thomas Stringfield residence on North Main street and next to the Gordon Hotel to Mr. Theo. W. Moore of Miami, Florida.

This property was bought last summer from Dr. Stringfield by Mrs. Meta Farr Rambo, also from Miami, Florida, and the resale of the property to another Miami party is an odd coincidence.

Mr. Moore, who is head of the Moore Furniture Company of Miami, the largest retail furniture store in that city, plans to start at once beautifying the grounds and getting the place ready for occupancy. The Moores expect to spend at least four months each summer in Waynesville as they are delighted with the climate and scenery in this vicinity and after investigation decided their best plan was to buy a residence of their own. They have been residing for the past month in the Dr. N. M. Medford home on Love Lane, which they have leased for the summer.

LOUISE HUNTER TO SING HERE AUGUST 17.

Louise Hunter, leading lyric soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will appear here in concert Tuesday, Aug. 17, under the auspices of the Woman's Club for the benefit of the Club House fund. Miss Hunter who is one of the youngest singers before the public is without a doubt the South's favorite prima donna, having appeared in Atlanta for the past three seasons, with the opera company where she has quickly won the hearts of all who have heard her, by the beauty of her voice, combined with her charming personality and personal beauty.

During the past season in New York she shared honors with Marion Talley and Mary Lewis. Waynesville is very fortunate in securing Miss Hunter for this recital as she rarely ever goes to a town this size. Her coming is made possible only by the fact that she is passing through Western North Carolina on her vacation.

A rare treat is in store for all who are fortunate enough to hear her.

MEETING OF COUNTY TEACHERS SET FOR JULY 29, 1926.

There will be an important conference of all teachers, principals and superintendents on Thursday, July 29, 1926, ten A. M., at the court house in Waynesville, for the purpose of laying plans for the opening of the schools of the county and for the discussion of measures that may be taken to improve the work of the schools. All teachers of the county are required to attend continuously during the session from 10 to 12:30.

As to the importance of attending this conference, the attention of teachers is called to the following quotation from the school law:

"The County Superintendent shall have each year such teachers' meetings as in his judgment will improve the efficiency of the instruction in school. The County Superintendent shall have authority to suspend any teachers who shall fail, or who may be incompetent, to give instruction in accordance with the direction of the superintendent, or who shall willfully refuse to co-operate in teachers' meetings, to enter actively into the plans of the County Superintendent for the professional growth of the teachers of the county."

It is, therefore, required that all teachers, who have signed contracts to teach, or who expect to teach in the county, shall attend this conference on Thursday, July 29, 1926, at ten o'clock in the court house, Waynesville, N. C.

Let everybody be prompt and come prepared to take notes.
W. C. Allen, Superintendent
Haywood County Public Schools.

FORMAL OPENING LAKE JUNALUSKA GOLF CLUB HOUSE.

On Monday afternoon 5:30, July 26th, there will be a formal opening of the Golf Club House at the Lake Junaluska Golf Course. This occasion will be marked by high class entertainment and the serving of refreshments. There will be an exhibition of golf playing and golf driving two or three celebrated professionals and also a putting contest in which all of those who are interested may take part.

The reception committee for this occasion is composed of a large number of men and women of both Waynesville and Lake Junaluska who are prominent in business and social life in these two resort centers.

Everyone is cordially invited as the guest of the Lake Junaluska Golf Club. Whether you are specifically interested in golf or not, you will enjoy this "house-warming" and it promises to be a reception to be long remembered. The new club house has been recently completed. It is thoroughly appointed and attractively furnished. It is equipped with shower baths, lockers, golf professional shop where golf clubs are made and repaired. Very truly yours,

MAKES LITTLE BROWN JUGS.

Asheville, July 20.—Hard by one of the main state thoroughfares connecting this city with the Piedmont lives in a neat cottage one of the very few men who have been able to turn out in large numbers complete moonshine stills for a number of years without molestation from ever-watchful prohibition officers.

The man is Carl G. Freeman and is not ashamed of his work. In fact, these same stills are sold in a large number of public places throughout Western North Carolina, as well as the favorite "little brown jug" that makes appropriate companion pieces. If the truth be told, the stills are made entirely of wood and, even if capable of operation, are so diminutive that they could supply scarcely sufficient liquid refreshment to embriate a humming bird.

Calling himself appropriately, "The Woodpecker," Mr. Freeman operates a large shop in which is located all manner of power-driven wood-working machinery. He has the assistance of several helpers, for the demand for his attractive rhododendron souvenirs comes from all portions of the "Land of the Sky."

Although he started originally by supplying Chimney Rock with his wares, his shop being located at 3rd Cave just a few miles away, thousands of souvenirs are being furnished now for other scenic points such as Asheville, Blowing Rock, Mt. Mitchell and other tourists centers.

One of the most interesting novelties is a miniature spyglass through which one may see some favorite mountain scene. The illusion is furnished by a very small crystal containing a ground glass picture scarcely half as large as the head of a pin. Mr. Freeman secures these crystals in large quantities from France to which country he sends photographs of the North Carolina mountain scenes he wishes reproduced.

He is regarded as the pioneer souvenir man of the entire section when it comes to quantity and quality production, and he has originated a number of individual designs including the famous "still" and jug.

News From Lake Junaluska

OLD FASHION CONCERT.

Lake Junaluska, July 14, (Special)—Pleasing a large audience the old-fashioned concert Tuesday night under the auspices of the Southern Assembly, was pronounced one of the most artistic programs ever given from the platform of the assembly. Directed by Prof. Andrew Hemphill, of Fort Worth, Texas, the Junaluska Double Quartet, which has become increasingly popular during the past four years in which they have provided the summer music, gave a program of popular classics which have stirred the hearts of music lovers the world over. The effect of many of the numbers was enhanced by the stage setting, the furniture for which was loaned by the Massie Furniture Company of Waynesville. To carry out the old time idea women members of the company wore picture hats and carried arm baskets of old fashioned flowers.

Such favorites as "Carry me back to Old Virginia," "Maggie," "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms," "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," "Swing Low Sweet Chariot," and others brought fourth round after round of applause.

A chalk walk, by Miss L. Pearl Saunders of Jackson and Nashville, Tenn., head of the Junaluska summer school of Art, was an interesting feature of the program and contributed to the success of the entertainment.

Miss Mary Douthitt, as pianist, won praise for her splendid work. Members of the double quartet taking part in the program were: Prof. Hemphill, robust tenor; Arthur Nelson, of Fort Worth, lyric tenor; Mrs. R. J. Coney, of Charleston, W. Va., lyric soprano; Mrs. Katherine Bass Cole, Memphis, Tenn., dramatic soprano; Mrs. Madison Adams, Dallas, Texas, mezzo contralto; Mrs. J. Dale Stentz, Lake Junaluska, contralto; J. Dale Stentz, bass, and Miss Douthitt, pianist.

All members of the quartet are singers of note and are soloists in well-known city churches.

DUKE UNIVERSITY DAY.

Duke University day at Lake Junaluska, Friday, July 16, was a gala occasion, bringing to that place 200 or more alumni and students for a reunion and barbecue supper.

Don S. Elias of Asheville and R. G. Gordon of Waynesville, heads of the Asheville-Buncombe and Haywood county chapters who sponsored the event, planned many features for the entertainment of the old "grads" and present and former students.

Albert Waggoner, official cheer leader, rehearsed local students in yells and songs so that the event was characterized by the usual college spirit.

Dr. W. P. Few, president of Duke University, Dr. Edwin D. Soper, dean of the school of religion, Dr. Charles W. Peppier, head of the department of Green, Dr. W. W. Elliott of mathematics, Prof. H. G. Childs of education were on the grounds and took part in Friday's program, as well as comptroller F. G. Brown, alumni secretary, R. E. Figgen and other faculty members.

Reunion plans included a barbecue supper, boat ride and illustrated lecture, showing the progress of the building program at Duke University and other plans for a greater Duke.

Prof. Childs, head of the Lake Junaluska summer school, affiliated with Duke University, was chairman of the reception committee.

under his direction the local office of "Wescarlo" is expected to rank among the best in volume of business. Mr. George F. Rutzler, President of the financing organization, is enthusiastic over the outlook in Western North Carolina, particularly in the Waynesville area, where many applications are being received for loans covering buildings of many types. Headquarters for Wescarlo are in the Legal Building, Asheville, and the Waynesville office is one of six which have been established to give closer and more intelligent contact with the entire field. The company does a general financing business, featuring an insured mortgage loan that has unusual merit.

Eagles Nest Camp News

Along about "knee-deep" in June or July many people at home are interested in reading of the ongoings of the camps that are furnishing health and fun to a large number of girls and boys during July and August. Eagles Nest Camp for Girls near Waynesville, N. C., reports a splendid, happy group of girls, about forty in number, ranging in age from five years to eighteen years with a few grown campers to complete the family. Eagles Nest Camp is operated with the "family" idea as a basis, the program being planned to meet the needs of girls of practically all ages, each in her appropriate group. The tiniest ones up to eight years are called Midgets and their program includes craft, swimming, short hikes, singing and dancing, with picnic suppers in the daisy fields. This year at E. N. C. the Midget or "Budget" group, one of the tiny campers calls them, is composed of the following little girls: Alexa McColl from Bennettsville, S. C.; Estella Mae Bowles from Jacksonville, Fla.; Elizabeth Harris, Carolyn Fossett, Marcella Unger and Patsy Robineau from Miami, Fla.

The junior group is the largest; this year including in its ranks: Margaret Davis and Maxine Robinson from Jacksonville, Fla.; Katherine and Mary McColl from Bennettsville, S. C.; Aimee Wilcox, Eugenia Minis, Katherine Jenkins from Savannah, Ga.; Frances Bruce, Betty Robinson and Betty Brcka from DeLand, Fla.; Martha Joseph and Carolyn Brendergast from Chattanooga, Tenn.; Marjorie Page, Jeanne Robineau, Jacqueline Harley, Bertha Unger, Virginia Skaggs and Edelweiss Hefty from Miami, Fla.; Dartha McKibben from Coral Gables, Fla.; Eleanor Cranston from Augusta, Ga. These girls from eight to twelve years enjoy longer hikes, some of the older and stronger ones join the seniors on their over-night hikes. They have more advanced craft, nature lore, dancing, swimming, horse-back riding, tennis and numerous other outdoor games.

The senior group of girls from thirteen to nineteen is composed of this summer of Lillian Saulty from Ft. Meade, Fla.; Viola Williamson from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; Margaret Andrews, Maxine Robinson and Larretta Burns from Jacksonville, Fla.; Alice Marie Roux and Rita Lettler from Savannah, Ga.; Jule Botha from Louisville, Ga.; Ethel Twitty and Margaret Pace from Miami, Fla. The senior program furnishes plenty of dramatics, horse-back riding, swimming, tennis, over-night hiking, nature lore and numerous attractive activities for the teen-age girl.

Eagles Nest Camp staff of Councilors is a carefully chosen number of young women, most of them college graduates over twenty-one years old and each a specialist in her department. The head councilor, Miss Lorena Smith, B. L. L. Emerson College of Oratory, is a young Florida woman as are also Miss Anna M. Stevens, Kindergarten and Mrs. Marion Bowles, music councilor. The arts and crafts councilor, Miss Elizabeth Threamar, comes from the Philadelphia School of Industrial Art, her home being in Savannah, Ga., also the home of Mrs. Herbert L. Jenkins, the registered nurse on the campus. The nature lore is handled by Miss Frances Settle, whose home is in Asheville, thus giving her an acquaintance with the North Carolina nature beauties, Miss Sara Jane Bartlett comes from Brenson College to be bugler for Eagles Nest Camp and to conduct classes in aesthetic dancing. For three years Miss Margaret Kimbrough of Greensboro, S. C. has taught horse-back riding at E. N. C. and Miss Edna Arnold, director of women's athletics at Louisiana Polytechnic institute, is director of water sports and land sports at camp. Miss Carol Purse Oppenheimer, founder and director of Eagles Nest Camp, is a young Georgia woman making her home in Savannah. Miss Oppenheimer has had wide experience with girls of all ages, being a graduate of Kate Baldwin Kindergarten Association and Chicago Teachers' College and a student of Columbia University.

But with this array of experienced leaders the days at camp pass like one long holiday and we shall all regret the coming of fall when camp must close.
