What's a home without a thoroughly comfortable chair?

If we knew what it was all about, how dull life would be!

Men can conquer everything except a sense of loneliness.

If we improve ourselves we improve others by our example.

The only thrill worth while is the one that comes from making something out of yourself.

It's about time the domestic science schools established a course in mechanical engineering.

Just about the time a man gets everything on a smooth basis at the office, something goes wrong at home.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR YOUNG

Never before in the history of America have more opportunities been offered to young men of the South than are available today for any who desire to enter the textile industry.

A few years ago only a small part of the production consisted of fancy goods, but today we find not only fancy goods being made, but a considerable diversification of products. This diversification includes silk goods, rayon fabrics, huck and terry towels, table damask, cotton and woolen blankets, novelty bed spreads, fancy shirtings, dress fabrics, outing flannels, raton fabrics, broadcloth, axminster, pets, plushes and velvets, upholstery goods, print cloth, sheeting, sarson, pajamas, checks, drills, denim, bags, yarn and cloth rugs, webbing, tape, rope twill, etc., also knitted fabrics of all kinds.

With such a development of the textile industry there are unlimited opportunities for young men, especially those who have had textile related training. The North Carolina State College is cognizant of the opportunity and has developed a textile school which is training young men for the textile industry of the South.

The textile industry is now being embraced by a mechanical and industrial revolution, and being installed which will make use of the best equipped schools in America for an education in textile manufacturing.

The value of the Textile Building and equipment is approximately $10,000,000. With such an equipment, instruction is given in all branches of cotton manufacturing. This includes carding, spinning, knitting, warp preparation, plain, fancy and jacquard weaving, fancy and jacquard design, fabric analysis, textile chemistry, bleaching and dyeing. Other subjects included in the textile curricula are English, mathematics, accounting, economics, sociology, physics, motors, heat engines, machine shop, mechanical drawing, cotton and cotton classing.

That there are opportunities for young men in the textile industry is demonstrated, for textile graduates of State College are today filling important positions, such as cotton mill owners, presidents, managers, treasurers, superintendents, assistant superintendents, overseers of carding spinning, weaving and finishing, textile chemists, dyers, designers, salesmen, efficiency engineers, and also responsible positions in commission houses. The courses offered in the curricula fit men for all available opportunities in the textile industry.

ORGAN RECITAL FRIDAY EVENING.

The Waynesville music lovers have an opportunity to hear Mr. Harry Edward Mueller, an organist of note, also former organist for Grove Park Inn. The recital begins at 8:30 at the Presbyterian church Friday evening.

THE FLOWER SHOW

Will Be Held August 11th in the Parish House of Grace Church.

Each good and perfect gift from a loving God should awaken within our humble souls a keen sense of pride, joy and appreciation accompanied with an unselfish desire to reveal to others, less fortunate, the unseen beauties and priceless generosity bestowed upon us that stimulate the happiness and wisdom of human beings.

Flowers are gifts! They are truly good and perfect gifts to us all with a message and purpose accompanying each spiritual appeal.

Bring the rarest blossoms from your gardens and offer them up on the altar at the flower show to be held August 11th. Begin today, search beauty among your most prized varieties, selecting choice plants in glowing tribute to the successful efforts of the members of the community who have so diligently sponsored these delightful annual occasions—and who sincerely endeavor to have this show the most enchanting.

One interesting innovation of the coming show will be the entries for the most beautifully appointed luncheon and dinner tables with appropriate floral decorations. A handsome prize to be given the winner.

The following prize list has been subjected to a few changes, owing to the interest and generosity of Mrs. Way in presenting the beautiful silver basket, which can be seen on display in the window of the office of the Pinnix Land Corporation.

DELLWOOD NEWS.

The ice cream supper at the Baptist church Saturday night was a great success. The only drawback being the demand was greater than the supply. Ice cream, cake, candy and lemonade was served on cozy lantern lit tables under the trees in the chestnut grove.

Mr. Louis Jaynes and his attractive bride from California are the guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Jaynes.

Miss Fannie Davis and Mr. Forest McClure surprised us by getting married Children's Day. The day being appropriate to their age, seventeen a piece.

A camping party from here spent three happy days in the mountains this week. Misses Frances Moody, Buford Dunavant, Messrs. Dave and Malcolm Jaynes, Rufus Howell, Ned Moody and Mr. and Mrs. Crews Moody rode horseback up to Deep Gap, took in the surrounding peaks and enjoyed several snappy fox races.

Miss Kate Wilson of Memphis is the guests of Mrs. Charles Ransome who has a cottage here this summer. Camp Dellwood is very popular.

The rustic cabins, beautiful table, recreation pavillions, etc., make an ideal place for week-end parties.

Mr. Clarence Campbell is building a cottage for Mr. and Mrs. Rose and family of Ohio, who have leased it for two years. Mr. Rose has recently returned to this country, having been in China as a missionary for some time and is quite an interesting addition to our small community.

Mrs. Howard of Franklin, Ohio is visiting her brother, Mr. Crist, at the Methodist parsonage.

Miss Hilda Jaynes spent the past week in Waynesville the guest of her mother and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Jaynes.

Mrs. Sarah Jane Moody has returned from a visit to Mrs. Meek Allison at Sunnyside Farm.
