

BERRYMAN-RHEES.

From Washington Star.
The following clipping will be of vast interest to the many friends of Mr. J. T. Berryman in this city. Mr. Berryman has visited Waynesville as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Allen for several summers.

Of far more than local interest was the wedding last evening of Miss Louise Rhees, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Rush Rhees, when she became the bride of Mr. James Thomas Berryman, son of the famous cartoonist, Clifford K. Berryman, and Mrs. Berryman. The ceremony took place at 8 o'clock in the Church of the Covenant, Rev. Dr. Charles Wood officiating, in the presence of a large company of relatives and friends of both families. The arrangements for the wedding were unusually charming. The church was decorated with Autumn leaves and yellow chrysanthemums, large standards of ferns marking off the pews for the families. Mrs. Frank Byram, organist, played the wedding marches and accompanied Mrs. Mariani B. Hilton, who sang several selections, including "The Dawn of Love" and "The Cycle of Life."

The bride walked to the altar with her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a lovely gown of ivory moire designed along quaint old-fashioned lines, the bodice close-fitting and made with long sleeves, which were pointed at the wrist. The skirt was quite bouffant, a flounce of old duchess and rose point lace, a gift to the bride from Mrs. Berryman, mother of the bridegroom, forming the upper part of the skirt, which was cut into deep scallops, from which a shadow hem of tulle extended. A court train of the satin hung from the shoulders, and her tulle veil was held by a band of lace, also a gift of Mrs. Berryman, combined with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of white orchids, sweet peas and lilies of the valley. Miss Alice E. Dickey was maid of honor, wearing a gown of orchid moire, fashioned with a basque and a bouffant skirt, the bodice made with short sleeves and the skirt scalloped about the hem line. She wore a gold lace hat and carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

The other attendants were Miss Florence Berryman, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Elizabeth Wagner, Mrs. S. J. Roberts and Miss Mary Chesney of Montclair, N. J. They wore costumes of yellow moire made similarly to that of the maid of honor, hats of brown lace trimmed with tulle to match, which fell into scarfs wound about the throat and formed streamers at the back. They carried arm bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

Mr. Karl Emmerich was best man, and the ushers selected were Mr. William J. Rhees, brother of the bride; Mr. Allan E. Rheside, Mr. Herbert E. Flynn, Mr. Nathan Robertson, Mr. John Bryn and Mr. Dickson F. Sroufe.

Following the ceremony a reception with dancing was held at the Washington Club, where the bridal couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Berryman and Dr. and Mrs. Rhees. The receiving line stood before a screen of Autumn flowers and foliage, Mrs. Berryman wearing a gown of silver and pink metal cloth, and Mrs. Rhees in black lace. Mr. Berryman and his bride left after the ceremony for Hot Springs, where they will be at the Homestead. Mrs. Berryman's traveling costume was of brown flat crepe with a fox fur to match and a tan French felt hat. They will be at home after November 15 at Chatham Courts.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Clarke McKercher, Mrs. Henry Harrison of Montclair, N. J.; Maj. and Mrs. Richard Sylvester of Wilmington, Del.; Mr. and Mrs. John B. Campbell of Mount Vernon, N. Y.; Miss Flora G. Rhees, aunt of the bride, from Pasadena, Calif.; Miss Margaret Doughty of New York, Mrs. Bessie Ludwig of Faybrooke, Conn., and Mr. Edwin M. Rhea, Mr. Willis R. Wood, Jr., Mr. Thomas Hannah, Jr., Mr. Raymond Gregriessnider, Mr. Clement Perkins, Mr. Paul Pitcher and Mr. S. S. Daeky, all of Princeton, classmates of Mr. William Rhees, brother of the bride.

"It is a pleasure to secure the lowest rate for long distance calls and make a saving in your telephone bill."

Just remember that the reduced rate, both day and night, applies only to calls on which you do not request to speak to a particular person.

Calls at the reduced rate are handled by number, and it helps a lot if you know the number of the telephone you are calling.

But it is not necessary to know the number. Give the operator the name and address under which the called telephone is listed, and she will complete the call at the lowest rate.

If you do not understand exactly how to make long distance calls, let the operator help you.
