agriculture? What better harvest might she reap than that of a canning industry, an industry employing more than a hundred men?

Such an industry, with proper support could work ten or eleven months of the year with the varied sources of the meal served here.

Even as a layman, a novice, we can see the possibilities of such an industry—an industry destroying nothing but giving much. And what better way might Waynesville serve than to serve the country with the food life itself?

Jellies, pickles, syrup, essences, fruits, vegetables, cider and vinegar—all these things are going to waste because they are not filling their part in this community and in the lives of hundreds, yes, thousands.

With such an industry here, shipping by railroad, and by truck over the A. S. H. to shipping centers—transportation facilities are excellent. Labor is reasonable. There are more working days per year—and consequently more production at a less cost, which is one constant with a lesser overhead—a vital factor in the livelihood of an industry.

Healthy atmosphere, pure living conditions, a revolutionary environment for not only the workman, but his family—with more harmonious relationships in our "Land of the Sky," all have their place in the mind of the captain of industry and the financier who makes his dreams come true.

Would that we all may get together—would that we may all combine, join hands, hearts and minds for the betterment of our families, our homes, our business, our friends and our city!

Publicity of Waynesville, advertising and agricultural propaganda distributed to the centers of business and finance will demonstrate our superiority over all others.

And when we may write, albeit algebraically "Quod Erat Demonstrandum," ("which was to be shown") at the close of our year, we may also gratefully insert "le point d'exclamation," another and stronger algebraical phrase "which was to be accomplished," "Quod Erat Faciendum!"

PARENT-TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION ASKS DONATIONS.

The members of the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Waynesville elementary school are endeavoring to furnish lunches and milk to thirty undernourished children. These children are students of the township schools and cannot be furnished the proper nourishment at home. The association will appreciate any donation from anyone who wishes to help. Mrs. I. H. Thackston will accept donations.

DON'T GET UP NIGHTS

Nature's Danger Signal Relieved by Tenn. Ma—Wants Others to Know

J. L. Church, Doeville, Tenn., says: "Had to get up 10 to 12 times each night. Burning was almost unbearable. Passed much blood and pus. Had just sow to reap; no lasting results until taking lithiated buchu (Keller Formula.) I feel toward. The sowing, 100 per cent better. My friends say it is the easiest move for 'How much better you look.' Will tell of it or write my experience to anyone weeded until the one."

Lithiated Buchu cleanses the bladder as epsom salts do the bowels. It is the final reward is not a patent medicine. The formulations. Waynesville is on the bottle. The tablets cost 2c each at drug stores. Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Local agents at Alexander's Drug Store.

WAYNESVILLE HIGH TO PLAY ASHEVILLE SATURDAY

WORK WILL BE PUSHED ON BIG POWER DEVELOPMENT

Cut In Transmission Line

Under this arrangement, for instance, if the Southern Power at a given point it may be supplied by cutting in on a transmission line of the Carolina Power and Light Company, or some other concern, where power is abundant. This plan, it is declared, will greatly benefit industrial plants and other patrons of the power companies because it will insure a steady and certain power supply.

Public attention was focused on the Pigeon River project, which has long been under consideration, about a year ago when Senator George W. Norris introduced a bill in Congress to curtail development of hydro-electric power by private interests. While the proposed measure was being considered before a Senate committee a delegation of Asheville citizens went to Washington and succeeded in having the Pigeon river project excepted from the proposed legislation.

The Federal authorities then granted a temporary license and some of the preliminaries incident to the job were started. Now that the license has been permanently secured the big job is to get underway immediately, according to authentic information obtained last night.

A LETTER FROM TENNESSEE

R. No. 7, Morristown, Tenn. November 1, 1926. Dear Mountaineer and Readers: For sometime I have been without my home paper, the Mountaineer, and I have missed it so much that I am enclosing a check for it again, and while I am sending the check I want to write a bit to my friends and kinspeople in that section of the Land of the Sky.

This summer when I was in Haywood at the Home Coming at Rock Spring quite a number of my old acquaintances asked me to write to the Mountaineer as I used to do, but this being such a busy age and the obligations so many that I haven't taken the time to comply with this much appreciated request.

I am in a healthful part of East Tennessee. Six miles southeast of Morristown on a good pike road, though the state is taking it into its hands to make a state highway. We have a four year high school one mile from our home. For five years I have been teaching in it.

Have just returned from Knoxville where I attended the East Tennessee Teachers' Association for three days. There were near 4,000 teachers present at this meeting and a most excellent program was rendered. Over $3,000 was spent to put on this program. While attending this meeting, I met a young man who is director of music in the Mountain City Schools, and I soon found out he was a "Tar Heel" from Transylvania county and says the tar is still at least two inches thick on his heels. A Mr. Smith by name. Soon I found he knew dear old Brother Elijah Allison, who in my childhood days was my pastor, and one who was such a help and comfort to my dear mother and us children after our father's death. 'Tis such a pleasure to meet up with these North Carolinians for there seems to be a kindred feeling that exists for them somewhat different from other folks.

We're having some beautiful cool fall days and Jack Frost is painting our woodlands with his beautiful colors. Have had a few snow flakes one time.

I see reported in some of our Tennessee papers that N. C. has the largest apple crop she has had for years. I shall have to order me some from up there as I have done every year for fifteen years. There are good apples here, but their flavor doesn't compare with the N. C. apples.

There are so many of my friends up there who were so kind and sympathetic to us when our dear mother, Mrs. Callie M. Haynes, was buried a few months ago, that I felt like I wanted to write each of you individually and thank you personally, but having to take up my school duties soon after arriving home, I failed to get this done, but to any of you who may chance to read this, I want you to feel and know that pen can not write, nor words utter the gratitude that is felt in the heart for your kindness and thoughtfulness. We miss her so much, and the longer the worse, but heaven seems nearer to us than ever before, and as we looked fondly forward to the Home Coming that we had in her old home church just a few day before her death, and when she was heard to utter several times, "I am just as happy as I can be," we now are looking forward with far greater anticipation for the final Home Coming when the entire family will be re-united that has been so long broken.

Well, this letter, I realize is too lengthy, but I haven't written you in so long a time that it seems hard to find a closing place.

Best wishes to you all.
FANNIE HAYNES HALE.
