TOBACCO EXPERT EXPLAINS WAY TO GET HIGH PRICES

would be raised from the plant again...

"The best tobacco that Kentucky produces, is in my opinion, produced from the Judy seed. I have gotten the Earl Seed & Feed Co., this city, located at North Lexington street to agree to handle these seed throughout, directly from the Judy Farms in Kentucky. I do not know what the seed can be sold, but buying seed at what the farmer would consider was high price, is the least cost of the crop, as it will produce the smoking tobacco.

"I had a talk with Mr. T. R. Kirk, the head of the R. J. Reynolds Leaf Dept., and the Vice President of the company, and their advice to me, is to try to have the farmer in this section use a seed which will produce a smoking type of tobacco, rather than a chewing tobacco. These smoking types are now selling at prices that make a crop profitable to the farmer while the heavy grades are losing him money."

First Half of School Year Is Successful demonstrated at Mars Hill in December. Two loving cups were offered by the college, one to the best reader and one to the best declaimer. Thirty-two schools were represented and Waynesville won both cups. Evelyn Morgan represented the girls and James Harden Howell, Jr. represented the boys. The Debating Club is now organized and several of the last year's workers are entering the contest again for the triangle debate.

The following clubs have been organized this year in order to find the talents and interests of all pupils enrolled. The clubs mentioned here of course only include high school students. The principals of the elementary schools have organized many clubs in the grammar grades of their respective schools.

List of clubs: Debating Club, Music Club, Glee Club, Journalism Club, Hi-Y Club, Vocational Agricultural Club, Home Making Club, Orchestra, Dramatic Club and Student Council.

Waterloo Bridge To Be Shown Thursday, Friday At Wayneswood

One of the most difficult and elaborate photographic feats ever attempted in a motion picture is a highlight of Universal's "Waterloo Bridge," current attraction at the Wayneswood Theatre Thursday and Friday. A "crane shot," so named because it is accomplished by a huge crane-like truck, shows Mac Clarke, the featured player, close-up. The camera then ascends almost eighty feet in the air as she lights a match to guide the booms of a Zeppelin overhead. The camera then follows her on a downward diagonal as she runs the full length of a 500-foot production of London's famous Waterloo Bridge and is close upon her as a bomb blows her and bridge to bits.

The "shot," as it is called in Studio jargon, is an original creation of Director James Whale and his cameraman, Arthur Edson, and is both technically and dramatically one of the greatest features of the British-flavored drama.

Kent Douglass, Doris Lloyd, Enid Bennett, Frederic Kerr, and Bette Davis complete the cast of the picture.
