

Certified Farm Seeds Grow In Abundance

There is a healthy interest in the production of certified farm seeds of many varieties and proven worth. In 1929, when the work was first started, the North Carolina Crop Improvement Association certified only 100 bushels of farm seeds," reports H. Darst, director of this work at the College. "Last year, 1931, the Association certified 184,880 bushels in addition to 1,950 ounces of seed. The Association has issued a small bulletin announcing the certification of the seeds and the growers having them. The seeds listed have passed all regulations and are now being tested for purity and germination in the laboratories. Their final certification depends on the outcome of these tests."

Most of seeds certified by Mr. Darst and his co-workers last year were 6,615 bushels of corn, 10,300 bushels of wheat, 49,060 bushels of rye, 2,675 bushels of rye, 5,205 bushels of barley, 22,420 bushels of oats, 40,000 bushels of lespeche, 41,065 bushels of cotton, 1,540 bushels of Irish potatoes, 1,950 ounces of tobacco seed and 5,000 bushels of sweet potatoes.

As to the value of this certification work, Mr. Darst finds that certified lespeche seed free from dodder selling from 2 to 5 cents a pound is worth more than the uncertified varieties. Mr. Darst says also that some growers have been attracted by the possibilities of profiting on the seed market established by certain varieties and strains of seeds and growing seed in such a manner that it can be sold at a lower price than the market. Cheap seed of doubtful quality is frequently found now appearing with better seed of high quality. Growers are warned to be alert against this.

Building Fertile Soil Is Simple And Cheap

The reason folks in North Carolina do not build up their soil is that it is easy to do, so simple and so cheap. This statement is attributed to Mr. Purdie, successful Cumberland County farmer, who made the remark in a farmers' meeting attended by Mr. Blair, extension agronomist at the College. Mr. Blair says this is the story of the Biblical story in the prophet Elisha told Naaman the leper, to bathe seven times in the River Jordan to cure his disease. Naaman wanted to do some "big thing" and was with difficulty induced to accept the prophet's simple practice of growing a large amount of soybeans in his corn. Mr. Purdie has built up his soil to the point where nitrogenous fertilizers do more harm than good," says Mr. Blair. "Mr. Purdie makes over a bale of cotton to the acre without nitrogen fertilizer. The corn and soybean combination is planted on each field one year out of every three, the field going to cotton in the other two years."

Any farmer in North Carolina can start this plan this year, Mr. Blair suggests. All he needs is one bushel of soybeans costing less than one dollar. At the start, every soybean seed should be saved so that eight or ten bushels may be had next year and then enough later to plant in every field of corn on the place.

Five Boys From County On Honor Roll At Wake Forest

(Special to The Mountaineer.)—The names of five Haywood county men are listed on the honor roll of Wake Forest College released today by Registrar Grady Patterson. Four are from Canton and one from Waynesville. The scholastic average of each warrants his placement among the upper half of the 800 students enrolled.

The Waynesville representative is Herbert Baucum, son of Rev. and Mrs. H. W. Baucum.

The quartet from Canton is made up of the Cogdill brothers, W. W. and D. H., sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cogdill; Charles Owen, son of Rev. and Mrs. C. F. Owen; Cecil Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Roberts.

Seven Haywood Girls Attending N. C. C. W.

(Special to The Mountaineer) Haywood County's representatives at North Carolina College for Women this scholastic year are seven, according to records at the secretary's office. Waynesville is represented with four and Canton three.

Those attending from Waynesville are: Misses Edwina McDowell, Marion McDowell, Helen Martin and Evelyn Underwood.

Canton's residents are Misses Elizabeth Battison, Mildred Clontz and Margaret Henderson.

PAINS QUIT COMING

"When I was a girl, I suffered periodically with terrible pains in my back and sides. Often I would bend almost double with the intense pain. This would last for hours and I could get no relief."

"I tried almost everything that was recommended to me, but found nothing that would help until I began taking Cardui. My mother thought it would be good for me, so she got a bottle of Cardui and started me taking it. I soon improved. The bad spells quit coming. I was soon in normal health."
