The Waywood Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy was most delightfully entertained on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. B. H. Blackwell with Mrs. George Platt as joint hostess. There were twenty-nine members present. After the reports of officers and the business for the afternoon was finished the following program was given: Mrs. W. A. Hyatt read the paper on "Georgia and Alabama" and in her usual very able and splendid manner told first of the early settlement of Georgia. She made this especially interesting as her own family history is very closely interwoven with the history of Georgia's colonial days. She then stressed Georgia's wonderful contribution to the Confederacy. In taking up Alabama, Mrs. Hyatt read extracts from an article in Holland's Magazine called "Alabama Bound" which emphasized not only the early settlement of the colony, but Alabama's present contribution industrially to our nation and her outstanding public health work and her part in the war between the States. Mrs. Hyatt then asked Mrs. R. N. Barber, who has recently visited her old home and birth place in Camden, Alabama, to give further information. Mrs. Joe Johnson delighted the chapter with two beautiful piano numbers—Richardson's "Polka" and a paraphrase on "Annie Laurie." The hostesses served a delicious luncheon carrying out the national colors in honor of the 200th birthday of Washington. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. D. M. Killian and Miss Nancy Killian. MISS NANCY KILLIAN, Publicity Chairman.
