SENIORS WILL PRESENT

THREE ONE ACT PLAYS The Sevier Class of the Waynesville

Township High School is har lat work on the commencement plays. This year instead of giving one full length play, the seniors are presenting three one act plays—on Monday evening. April 25—a bill that should prove of popular favor to the nuclience,

The first play is "The Level Ven-ture," by Wilkeson O'Connell. Miss O'Connell lives in Chapel Hill. This play was produced by the Carolina Playmakers early in March. It was exceedingly well received. The story is a remantic one, for it deals with pirates before the Reventionary War, The seems is I of a. he con-that North Carolina. P has a great until of action and atmosphere.

The second play is held at Mt. Vernon where we find Washington, his wife, and theor guest, Lafayette. This is a decided contrast to the first recentation for the play is a chieffi-or portrayal of life in the hospitaregusion of General and Lady

The fact play is, "White Asters. This has two scenes. The first one as a cirthday party of a Confedrate veteran, Colonel Jim, at which comber of his young friends, whom a lls commutes, are present.
