

May Obtain Bulletins To Aid In Canning

During the year 1931, more than three million cans of surplus vegetables and fruits were filled by farm women who are members of the home demonstration clubs in North Carolina. Many women canned according to a budget and provided enough such food for their families during winter. Others canned a surplus and sold the surplus on curb markets.

"At any rate this revival of canning last season did much to overcome the effects of poor prices for farm products last fall and in many instances provided excellent food when actual want might have existed had it not been for this canned material," says Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon, assistant extension director at State College. "We are issuing a call for more canning this summer. Our home agents will aid in community canning, and, trained leaders among the women will aid those who have not sufficient experience in canning a quality product. It is my hope that every woman with a garden will save some vegetables to supply the family's need for food this coming winter."

To aid farm women in their canning problems, the extension service has reprinted its circular number 114, "Canning Fruits and Vegetables" and copies of this circular will be supplied free of charge to citizens of North Carolina as long as the supply lasts. The extension service also has a good supply of extension circular number 113, "Jelly, Preserves, Jam and Pickles" and copies of this publication will also be sent free to those desiring them.

Those who wish to have copies of these two publications should send requests early. Each home agent in the State will have a supply and will be glad to distribute these to club women. A letter or card to the division of publications at State College asking for either of the two bulletins will also receive prompt attention.

Plan Wool Pools For Sheep Growers

During the period from June 6 to June 25, a series of wool pools will be organized in 14 counties for the purposes of aiding sheep growers to secure a fair price for their wool through co-operative action.

"These pools are being organized and directed by the State Division of Markets," says John E. Foster, sheep specialist at State College. "However, there is one thing the producer can rest assured of, regardless of how or where he disposes of his wool, his returns will be greatly affected by the way in which the product is handled and prepared. Growers often lose from one to five cents a pound by improper handling and preparation. The low price per pound for this season is no excuse for careless handling."

Foster advises shearing the sheep on warm, sunny days when the grease is flowing in the wool. Do not shear in wet, damp weather because the wool not only gets soiled much easier, but is also apt to damage by heating in storage. Shear in a clean place, free from trash, and get the fleece off without tearing it to pieces.

Once the fleece has been removed spread it on a floor with the outside upward. Discard all dung locks, fold the two sides so they meet in the center and roll the fleece as tightly as possible from the breech towards the neck. No stray locks should be left protruding. This precaution decreases shrinkage.

Always tie the fleece with a paper string. When other twine is used, some of the fiber may get into the wool and sometimes it is docked from one to five cents a pound because of this. Large, closely woven bags should be used for sacking. This will keep out dirt and dust and will also reduce shrinkage. Storing should be done in a cool place so boarded as to keep out hot, dry air, Foster recommends.

"Was your barn damaged any?" asked Si.

"Wal, I donno; I ain't found that barn yet."

Timely Questions And Answers

Q. My cows are so troubled by flies that they do not give as much milk as they should. The cows are also restless at milking time. What can I do to prevent this?

Ans. All breeding places for flies should be destroyed. This is a major precaution and should be taken for the sake of the family as well as the cows. Manure should be hauled to the field each day, and if this is impossible, it should be moved as far as possible away from the barn as it furnishes an ideal breeding place for flies. As an added precaution, the animals should be sprayed or rubbed once or twice a day with a fly repellent mixture. This will prove effective if applied thoroughly and regularly.

Q. My beans are being ruined by a bug or beetle that eats through the leaves. Please give me some control for this insect.

Ans. Spray immediately with magnesium arsenate mixture made by adding five tablespoonsful of magnesium arsenate to three gallons of water. Be sure, however, to apply this spray to the underside of the leaves as practically all the feeding is done on that side.

Q. What can I do to prevent chicken pox in my flocks. Last year the whole flock was sick with this disease and besides losing many birds, my young pullets did not lay.

Ans. Where this disease has appeared in previous years the birds should be immunized. This vaccination is simple, but very effective and should be made about a month or six weeks before the pullets come into lay. Remove about six feathers above the hock joint and apply the vaccinating material to the exposed part with a small soft brush. Materials for this work may be secured from your local dealer, or better still, consult your county agent for aid and instructions.

Feed Some Grain Along With Pasture

Early in the season, the ordinary pasture grasses contain from 80 to 90 pounds of water in each 100 pounds of grass and while cows need lots of water to produce a maximum milk, they also need plenty of nutrients.

"We have been asked the question numerous times this spring as to whether it will pay to feed grain to cows on pasture this summer," says John A. Arey, dairy extension specialist at State College. "Before this question can be answered with any degree of accuracy one must have a knowledge of the cows involved and the quality of the pasture on which they are to graze. Low producing cows will not pay for grain when on good pasture, but it is a mistake not to feed some grain to the high producing animals. If a cow is a heavy producer, she cannot get sufficient nutrition from grass at this season of the year to support a maximum milk flow."

Therefore Mr. Arey recommends for Jersey or Guernsey cows when grazing on good pasture and producing as much as a pound of fat a day, that they be given one pound of grain for each five pounds of milk. Ayrshire and Holstein cows should get about one pound of grain to each 6 1/2 to 7 pounds of milk produced.

This rate of feeding will apply only when the pastures are good, Arey says. A little later when the weather is dry and hot, it will be necessary to supplant the pasture with soiling crops or silage and possibly increase the rate of grain feeding to prevent a drop in the milk flow.

One hears a great deal about the absent-minded professor, but none more absent-minded than the dentist who said soothingly as he applied the pliers to his automobile:

"Now, this is going to hurt just a little."

A branch of a railway was being constructed across a lonely country district and it was found that the track would have to be taken over the sight of a farmer's barn. The surveyor went to see the farmer and told him that unfortunately, the new railway would have to run through his barn.

The farmer was annoyed. "Now, listen to me, young man," he said angrily. "Do you think I've nothing to do out open and shut doors of my barn every time your trains want to go through?"

NOTICE OF SCHOOL TAX ELECTION IN MAGGIE SPECIAL SCHOOL TAXING DISTRICT NORTH CAROLINA, HAYWOOD COUNTY.

Before the Board of Commissioners This cause coming on to be heard and being heard before the Board of County Commissioners of Haywood County on this, Monday, 16th day of May, 1932, and it appearing to the Board, and the Board so finds as facts: that pursuant to Article 11 of the school law of North Carolina, more than twenty-five qualified voters of the Maggie Special School Taxing District who have resided in said district at least twelve months prior to this date have by petition duly petitioned the Board of County Commissioners of Haywood County to call an election in said district for the purpose of ascertaining the will of the qualified voters of said district on the question of a special tax not to exceed twenty cents on the One Hundred Dollars valuation of all property, real and personal, embraced within the common boundaries as defined and described by the County Board of Education and recorded in their minutes under Section 235 of the school law said tax when voted to be annually levied and collected for the purpose of equalizing the school advantages in said district.

That the said petition has been duly received by the Board of Education of Haywood County and after due consideration has been approved by the said Board and to that end has been endorsed by the Chairman and Secretary of the said Board and endorsed by each of them and duly recorded in the minutes of said Board of Education.

Therefore, ordered by this Board that an election be held in the said Maggie Special School Taxing District for the purpose aforesaid: the said district being bounded and more particularly described, as follows: Beginning at the concrete bridge about two hundred yards west of H. M. Plott's home and runs with his line to the Thomas Mitchell place; thence with the west boundary line of the said Mitchell place to the top of the mountain; thence with the watershed of the mountains around the head waters of Jonathan's Creek to Pine Peak south of H. M. Plott's where Maggie district meets Dellwood district; thence a straight line to the beginning, including all the lands that are now included in Maggie school district.

The said election to be held on Saturday the 9th day of July, 1932, at the Maggie school house in said district.

PAINS QUIT COMING

"When I was a girl, I suffered periodically with terrible pains in my back and sides. Often I would bend almost double with the intense pain. This would last for hours and I could get no relief.

"I tried almost everything that was recommended to me, but found nothing that would help until I began taking Cardui. My mother thought it would be good for me, so she got a bottle of Cardui and started me taking it. I soon improved. The bad spells quit coming. I was soon in normal health."

To The Voters

From Congressman Weaver

Due to the fact that Congress is in continuous session and that it is of vital importance for all Members to be present in Washington, it has been impossible for me to come to the district in my campaign for the re-nomination for Congress.

It will be necessary for me to rely upon my friends, with the hope that I have heretofore rendered in Congress such service as merits my re-election. I have undertaken to give that service which so splendid a people deserves. I wish now merely to ask each and every voter in Haywood County to consider my record in Congress and the fact that I am now familiar with Congressional duties and I believe can render them efficient service in the future.

The matter of a nominee is, of course, for the Democrats to determine. I believe with their help I can again carry the district over any nominee whom the Republicans may name. At the last election I received a majority with approximately 12,000 votes which was by far the largest ever given any candidate for Congress in the District.

The duties here are very responsible. I think the time has come when there must be vast reductions made in our governmental expenditures. I voted for practically all of the so called economy bill, including a reduction in the Congressional salary of more than $1,000 per year. I did not vote however, for the proposal to eliminate the Federal aid for Vocational Agriculture in the schools.

My record with the Veterans is well known to each and every one of them. It has been my pleasure to help them wherever or whenever I could.

I may add that the Democratic House, with a slender majority of five, has already effected reductions, under the expenditures for the last fiscal year, of approximately $600,000,000. I believe that if the people should elect a Democratic Congress, with a good working majority, and a Democratic President, that we can reduce governmental expenditures, which have grown so large under the last twelve years of Republican administration, by more than $1,000,000,000.

This is one of the immediate tasks of the future. Another matter of vital importance is to reduce the excessive tariff provisions and re-create our international trade. With cotton bringing $30 per bale, it is obviously impossible for a farmer to pay off an indebtedness which was created when cotton was bringing $100 to $150 per bale. And this is true of all agricultural products. These problems are serious and pressing. I can only say that if I shall be re-nominated and elected I shall bring them all of my energies.

I thank the people of Haywood County most sincerely for their loyal support in the past, and assure them that if re-elected I shall undertake to merit their support to the fullest extent.

That a new registration of the qualified voters of said district shall be held and that to this end W. A. R. Clements be and he is hereby appointed as registrar to register said voters, and to hold said election. D. C. Campbell and Arthur Lewis be and each is hereby appointed as judges to hold said election and that the registration books for said election shall be opened on the 4th, 11th, 18th and 25th days of June, 1932, respectively at the Maggie school house in said district for the registration of said voters.

That Saturday the 2nd day of July, 1932 is hereby designated as Challenge Day as to the qualification of said voters and all persons desiring to challenge any of the registered voters of said district shall challenge them on said day at said time and place.

At the election, those who are in favor of the levy and collection of said taxes shall vote a ticket on which shall be printed or written the words "For Local Tax" and those who are opposed shall vote a ticket on which shall be written or printed the words "Against Local Tax."

This election is held under and pursuant to article 17 of the school law of North Carolina and all laws governing general elections.

Done in regular meeting on this the 16th day of May, 1932.
