Two Former Waynesville Football Stars Mix In Duke-Wake Forest Game

Two former Waynesville High School football stars played an important part in the Duke-Wake Forest game at Durham last Friday when Duke trounced the Baptist boys for a 9-0 score. Freddie Crawford, Duke tackle, and mentioned for all-Southern, tackled Charles Russell back of the goal for a touchback thus adding 2 points to the score. It will be remembered last year when Crawford, Hyatt and Russell all mixed in a forward pass play, which resulted in Hyatt making a touchdown for Duke. Fans here are following the playing of Russell and Crawford with interest this year, and great things are expected from the two former Waynesville stars.

$2,000,000 Construction Program Is Launched At World Fair Grounds

Chicago. (Special to The Mountaineer.)—With more heavy building machinery mobilized on the site than has ever been brought together by any building project since the World War, a Century of Progress last week launched a $2,000,000 construction program in preparation for its official opening next June 1, 1933. Immediate employment will be given approximately 1,000 men, bringing the number engaged on Exposition construction to nearly 3,000. Ground was broken for the Sears, Roebuck & Co. Building, which will cost $150,000, for the State of Illinois Post Building, to cost $80,000; and for the Blue Ribbon Cafe, to cost $30,000. Surveys were made preparatory to laying ground for the $150,000 Chrysler Sales Corporation structure. Foundation work was started on the $940,000 Skyride, the superstructure was begun of the $150,000 "enchanted Island development"; first files were driven for the $400,000 Hall of States; first steel was erected for the $80,000 Dairy Building and the $25,000 Illinois State addition to the Agricultural Building was started. The Chrysler Building is to rise at thirty-first street just north of the "Travel and Transport Building. It will be a two-story structure, with walls to its main exhibition area 125 feet 6 inches high. Four ramps will lead to the second floor, where an observation deck will be located, from which visitors may view the Exposition grounds and watch cars being tested on a quarter-mile outdoor track. Leading from the Thirty-first street entrance on the ground level will be a long narrow court in the center of which will be a pool flanked by gravel walks shaded by umbrella trees. This will lead to Walter P. Chrysler Hall, the main exhibition area, where "floating power" will be symbolized by means of a sunken pool in which mountings will be exhibited in spectacular fashion. Visitors will also see a Belgian roll or testing device, and motion pictures, wind and weather tests, and detailed exhibits of motor, body, chassis and tires. A building material will be used that will reflect the sun's rays in the daytime and send itself to a dramatic lumination scheme at night. Eighty above the building will be four great pillars of light, each named after a Chrysler car on exhibit.

TROUT WILL BE SHIPPED TO RE-STOCK STREAMS

Fish Will Be Placed In Streams Of Smoky Mountain National Park Within Few Days

Trout shipments from the Wytheville, Va. fish hatching station will start within a few days to carry on the work of re-stocking the 600 miles of trout streams in the Great Smoky Mountains National park, it was announced yesterday by Ray Lyman, the park's secretary of the interior. The bureau of fisheries co-operated with the National park service in an effort to re-stock the easily accessible waters of the Great Smoky Mountains National park that have been fished out, it was learned. It was announced by the park service that the remote waters of the park provide fishing almost without exception. In order to re-stock the over-fished streams with trout, certain of them have been closed to fishing. All closed streams are plainly marked by signs that they may be protected from the visiting fishermen who wander at large in the park. Officials of the department of the interior issued the following information and comment relative to the park and its fishing and other attributes: "October days in the Great Smokies lure many people there to enjoy the sheer beauty of the gorgeously colored leaves. The smoky haze which always hangs over these mountains seems intensified by the riotous mass of autumn leaves of the many varieties of trees. This is a good opportunity to fish, a combination well high irresistible. The bright warm days and the chilly nights are just what for fishing parties that cook their catch in the open and bring many visitors to the park. "Fishermen desiring to try their luck in this new park must secure a fishing license as required by the laws of North Carolina and Tennessee. The non-resident license in North Carolina is $3.10 and in Tennessee, $2.50. Persons who fish in both sections of the park must secure a license in each state. "The latest fishing regulation for this park prescribes a minimum size of eight inches for bass, seven inches for rainbow trout and six inches for brook trout. Fish smaller than these sizes must be carefully handled with moist hands and immediately returned to the water. The limit for a day's catch is 10 bass per person and 20 trout per person fishing.

SONG OF THE THRIFTY FARMER

Mirandy says she's got a plan To feed us all from out an can This winter; we'll have plenty food And vitamins for ev'ry need. She says if we are short of cash, Instead of feeding us on ham She'll go down cellar, like she's planned, And feed us from the stuff she's canned. The garden's full of ev'rything; Instead of wastin' it, by jing, She puts it all up in its juice And saves it for our future use. The cellar's full of corn and beans And cauliflower and turnip greens-- Tomatoes, too, and beets and chard; I sure won't find it very hard. When snow is glowin' 'round outside, To stow that stuff away inside My belt, and then we'll sure live high, Nor have so very much to buy. The squirrels don't know what hard times is; They store away the nuts, see whiz-- They don't depend on anyone. To feed them when the summer's done, When wind and winter take their toll, They curl up down their in their holes, Nor worry 'bout a note that's due. No, if their creditors will see, Hard times don't worry parent squirrels. They help themselves when weather's good, And when it bad they've got their food. All stored away,--they ain't misled By thinkin' that they will be fed From some emergency relief. No sir, it is the squirrel's belief That God helps them who help themselves, And so they fill their pantry shelves. If we would follow that there plan And raise a lot of stuff and can, Our trouble would be over soon. And we'd have lots to eat each noon. Reprinted by permission from The Nebraska Farmer

Child Labor Drops In North Carolina

Raleigh, N. C.—The number of children certified for employment in North Carolina has dropped from 10,425 to 3,096, or 70 per cent in the past 10 years, it is announced by the State Department of Labor, following a survey conducted under the direction of Mr. E. F. Carter. The survey, Mr. Carter reported, revealed that in the Piedmont, the chief industrial section of the State, the number of employed children has decreased 79 per cent. In 1922-1923 an average of 23 children was found in each textile factory, while the hosiery mills employed an average of 15 children each. At the present time this same territory has an average of only four children in each textile factory and two in each hosiery mill. Linked with Mr. Carter's report is a statement coming from Dr. Arch T. Allen, state superintendent of public instruction, to the effect that with the decline of children in industry has come phenomenal increase in school enrollment and attendance.

Veterans Of Foreign Wars Criticize Way Bonus Army Was Ousted

In their recent National convention the Veterans of Foreign Wars unanimously adopted the following resolutions regarding the treatment of the bonus army in Washington last July: Whereas, as soon as Congress had adjourned, the President of the United States summoned the United States Army to rout and maim a pitiful and inoffensive crowd of ragged and unarmed bonusees, and Whereas, the United States presented to the world, just recently, the amazing spectacle of a nation asking the entire world to forbid the use of gas in time of war as barbarous and then ordered gas used against women, children, veterans and men, unarmed, defenseless, ragged and starving all citizens of the United States; and Whereas, the use of the Army with charging calvary, drawn abreast, fixed bayonets, with guns loaded and ready to shoot, with tanks (whose use the U. S. would also abolish in time of war) against men with no arms, men loyal to the United States, men, women and children, weakened by hunger and unemployment, was unnecessary, criminally brutal and uncalled for, and morally indefensible, and Whereas, William Hushka of Chicago and Eric Carlson of Oakland, California, veterans, were killed as the result of that order; and Whereas, the men thus ejected from Washington were American citizens, Americans who had fought for the American flag in the World War, and who lay in Washington for a lawful purpose; and Whereas, high governmental officials without right or cause responsible for this humiliating and degrading spectacle, by public statement, in an attempt to justify themselves, have also attempted to use the powers of government and the influence of the press, to create the impression that these unarmed veterans were desperate, dangerous men, with criminal records and under Communist domination; and Whereas, the veteran's strongest weapon of defense is the Ballot. Be It Resolved, that the 33rd National Encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars makes solemn protest against the unnecessary use of the Army and in order that the American public may become dramatically aware of this organization's attitude that posts possessing clubhouses be urged to mount sand bags and post a military guard from now on until November so that the Washington evacuation begun in July may be fully completed in November, and a copy of this resolution as adopted be given immediately to the press. Whereas, the President of the United States did on the 28th day of July, 1932, issue a statement through the Associated Press in which he said: "For some days police authorities and Treasury officials have been endeavoring to persuade the so-called bonus marchers to evacuate certain buildings which they were occupying without permission. "These buildings are on sites where Government construction is in progress and their demolition was necessary in order to extend employment in the District and to carry forward the Government's construction program, etc." And as a result of orders given by the President of the United States who is Commander-in-Chief of the armed force, Secretary of War, Huley requested General MacArthur, Chief of Staff, to take charge of and rid Washington of the bonus marchers, which orders resulted in the sailing to Washington of Calvary, Infantry, Tanks, Machine Guns, and Whereas, these armed forces equipped with tanks, bayoneted rifles and gas bombs did ride and march in and upon the bonus marchers, their wives and children routing them from their wretched hovels and improvised homes, injuring many devastating shelters, destroying their most humble equipment and most of the personal clothes and belongings; and Whereas, these armed forces, after driving the former veterans from their encampments on Pennsylvania Avenue and 4th Street, did after 9 o'clock p. m. on the same evening proceed to Camp Marks across the Anacostia River where the Government has never contemplated a building program, and in the same ruthless and uncared for manner by means of gas bombs, calvary, bayoneted rifles and tanks, drove the marchers, their wives and children, many of whom had been put to sleep from their quarters and to seek shelter elsewhere; and Whereas, similar tactics were put into effect at Camp Bartlett several miles away on Friday, July 29th.

Why Worry?

"Tommy," said the teacher, "what is one-fifth of three-seventeenths?" "I don't know exactly," replied Tommy, "but it isn't enough to worry about."—Staley Journal.

That Will Fix Things

"Mr. Johnson, I'm sure you'll help us out with a song." "Sorry, but my vocal efforts are confined to singing in my bath." "Oh, but do sing, and I'll warn them you're rather out of practice."—Staley Journal.
