on the beauty of his apples. The "Wise" variety of apples displayed by I. M. Hargrove took first prize awards. Lucy Erwin displaying the same variety was runner-up in this class.

STRAWBERRIES SHOWN
Hundreds of people were astonished when George W. Justice exhibited a quart of ripe and juicy strawberries before the judges. This commodity took first prize. Mr. Justice said it was not difficult to raise strawberries the year round provided you "knew your strawberries."

Other apples and their exhibitors were: "Sheep Nose" by R. H. Boone, who also took first prize with his exhibit of "Grimes Golden," "Black Twigs," and "Carmacks."

Lucy Erwin won first place honors with her display of "Bull" apples. "Delaware Red" honors went to James Kinsland.

In the vegetable exhibits the prize results were: Best corn, George Smathers and Weaver Cathey; onions, Mrs. Essie Cogburn, cow beans, Joe Moore; carrots, Ira Mann, who also took first place honors with his cabbage and sweet potato exhibits; first turnip honors went to W. A. Moore with R. O. Kelly running a close second.

With his vegetable, bean and pumpkin exhibit, G. W. Justice took first place honors.

James Kinsland was awarded first prize with his French sugar beet display.

Van Wells took first place honors with his attractive display of 6-month-old pullet eggs and his hen eggs.

LIVESTOCK DIVISION
In the livestock department, J. D. Kinsland took first place honors with his beef cattle exhibit. H. Arthur Osborne, with his splendid exhibit of Guernsey cattle took first place in this department.

R. L. Justice took first place honors with his exhibit of Poland China pigs while Marselle Mann was awarded first place honors in the fowl exhibits.

Fred Sloan of Franklin, county agent in Macon county, was judge over the men's department and Mrs. Paul Walker of Waynesville, judged the women's offerings during the day.

Fully 800 people heard Dr. Clarence Poe, editor of The Progressive Farmer, of Raleigh, speak at 11 o'clock in the Bethel school auditorium on "Farming Co-operation." Dr. Poe spoke for approximately 45 minutes. He was introduced by County Agent James L. Robinson, of Waynesville.

Instances were cited where other states were shipping to the eastern and northern markets thousands of dozens of eggs monthly while North Carolina was shipping hardly any. "We have here an opportunity to develop a real poultry market," he continued.

The value of dairying was also brought out. The fact was made that people are using more milk than ever before and that herds are being taken better care of than before. Since the cat-tick had been destroyed and T. B. among cattle completed.

In summing up his address, Dr. Poe again stressed the importance of leadership among the farmers, and then the business follow with their help. "Develop local rural communities. They have the ability to lead and other qualifications that are now unknown."

W. D. Smith, president of the Waynesville Rotary Club, was in charge of the meeting. W. J. Damtoft, of Canton, represented the Civitan Club and brought greetings from that organization. Joe Davis, president of the Boosters Club called on R. L. Prevost as representative from that club. The Rotary Club through Bonner Ray, welcomed the visitors and guests of the occasion. County Agent J. L. Robinson introduced the speaker of the evening.

There seems to be a question as to who will be elected president on November 8th, Roosevelt or Hoover---

But:

There is no question as to where the best place to have your clothes dry cleaned, and the best laundrying done.

That place is none other than your own Home-Town Cleaner and Laundry.
