YOUR COUNTRY NEEDS YOUR VOTE

On Tuesday, November 8th, the citizens of this nation will file to the polls to cast their votes for their favorite party and candidates, and thus settle a subject which has been the center of most talk for the past six months.

Millions of words have been written, countless millions spoken, and thousands upon thousands of dollars have been spent in order that the candidates for respective offices could be elected by the people.

All this inconvenience has been brought about for the sake of the voters. They have demanded to know just where the candidates stood on certain matters, and they demanded that they be informed as to the "feeling" existing about each national candidate as well as the county and state candidates.

Since the voters have demanded all these things from the candidates and parties, it is the duty of the voters to vote on election day and to take an active part in doing their best to see that the candidates and party whom they feel would best serve the people are elected to office.

Your country needs your vote, and certainly no one would want it said of them that they betrayed their country at a time of need. Do your part and vote.

LOOKING BACK

Will Rogers recently gave some timely advice, which he learned from the Indians. When passing anything he always looks back at it from the side from which he will see it when returning along the same route, and this, it is explained is why an Indian never gets lost.

With two major projects actually getting underway this week should be encouraging to the citizens of Haywood County. The Hazelwood Tannery opened up their new unit Monday morning, and engineers from the State Highway Department have begun their survey of the Soco Gap road.

The fact that Haywood County gets two major projects at once should instill in all of us to get behind other proposed projects and get things that are really needed for this community and county.

Halloween passed very quietly here, the most damage being done was practically every business house in town got their windows soaped, but even that furnished employment to several window washers Tuesday that might have otherwise been loafing.

During the rain and cold Monday one man was heard to remark that he expected the bad weather would continue until after the election. Well, whoever is elected, it looks as if he will have a lot of things to set right, even the weather.

DEMOCRATS ARE DESTINED TO WIN

Unless political observers are wrong, Haywood County will go Democratic this year, and even by a larger majority than ever before, while the Republicans of the county are putting up a desperate fight. They are battling against odds of a 2,500 Majority that will be almost impossible to overcome.

The "independents" this year will probably line up for the Democratic ticket in the county and add to the Democratic majority, because after all the Democrat nominees are the choice of the majority of 6,000 voters of the primary, while the Republican nominees were selected by a convention. From what some of the political leaders believe, the present Democratic ticket is composed of higher standing than the average politician, and every one is a Haywoodite, having been born and reared in the county.

The Democrats have gained consistantly throughout the years, and are out fighting hard this year for victory. The Republicans drew 3,000 to their rally last week in Canton and will stage a stiff battle from president on down, but from the general appearance of the political situation they are doomed again this year as far as their chance of obtaining a county or state office for any of their favorites go.

It is only human nature to want to be on the winning side of any question, and it is understood generally that this is a Democratic victory year, and many voters are conceding this fact, and the present line-up shows they are right.

OVATION TO HOOVER AND RITCHIE

Many politicians of both parties have been much concerned with the tremendous ovation that President Hoover has been receiving during the past few weeks on his campaign tour. The Republicans take it to mean that the people are anxious to reelect Hoover, while the Democrats believe it has little significance on the election at all, as it is a known fact that any president of the United States is always hailed with much to-do.

Commenting on Hoover's speeches of the past week, the Charlotte Observer thinks that all the noise heard over the radio was not applause, but many "boos" mixed in. The comment read:

"It wasn't all Hoover's way in Indianapolis, Friday night, for no sooner than the Republican demonstration at Butler Field House was over, than the counter demonstration by the Democrats in Cadle Tabernacle, five miles across town, with Governor Ritchie on the platform was started up. The "ovation" staged was not a bit less impressive than that which had greeted Hoover. And, if Hoover's speech might have been characterized as "vigorous," the speech made by Ritchie might have been voted a little bit more so.

The state board's explanation of amendment No. 3 is: "At present the cash value of a life insurance policy is subject to claims of creditors of insured during his life, even though the policy is issued for the sole use and benefit of the wife or children. If the amendment is adopted the policy will not be subject to claims of creditors of insured."

President Hoover declares that Governor Roosevelt's contention for lowering the tariff wall is "nonsense." In return, perhaps Governor Roosevelt declares his contention is "horse sense."

The old home town was well represented at the Blue Devil-Vel game in Knoxville Saturday. What other school the size had as many people there? What other school the size of ours develops as many good athletes? All-Southern Freddie Crawford played an excellent game.

Mr. J. H. Howell and bride arrived from Virginia Monday and are spending a week on Jonathan's creek visiting Mr. Howell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Howell.

Mr. Ernest Withers having resigned his position as special insurance agent on the field and withdrawn from the company of Reed, Howell and Withers, has opened an insurance and real estate office of his own in the Greenwood building.

Miss Hilda Way entertained on last Thursday night for Miss Doris Mastin. Miss Howell's guests were: Misses Caperton Bowles, Lillian Adams, Meta Adams, Bessie Sloan, Mary Logan Caldwell, Clarine Lee, Messrs. James Gause, Hilliard Atkins, Clarence Miller, Theodore McCracken, Branner Gilmer, and Dr. McCracken.

Miss Lillian Adams entertained with a kitchen shower last Saturday evening in honor of Miss Caperton Bowles. The affair was very unique and well planned.

The Kenmore Hotel was the scene of a delightful children's party on last Saturday afternoon, it being the birthday anniversary of little Virginia Rotha. Many little boys and girls were there with their light hearts and happy laughter. Many games were played and delightful refreshments were served.

I am now making a collection of all magazines and papers published before October '29. I want to read them. It's like fancy day dreams... that was before the crash... then, too, I want to send some of them to my banker friends in Raleigh and Sing-Sing.

Voters To Pass On Amendments

to submit a new constitution to the vote of the people of the state, it may be done at a special election so that in either case the voters will have before them no political matters whatever, but will be concerned solely with the question of changes in the fundamental law of the state, freed of every other extraneous consideration.

The state board's explanation of amendment No. 3 is: "At present the cash value of a life insurance policy is subject to claims of creditors of insured during his life, even though the policy is issued for the sole use and benefit of the wife or children. If the amendment is adopted the policy will not be subject to claims of creditors of insured."

Amendment No. 4 is explained as follows: "As the constitution now stands, the solicitor must be elected for each judicial district. There are now in the state of North Carolina twenty solicitors. The object of this proposed amendment is to eliminate entirely the connection between solicitors and judicial districts and to establish what is called in the proposed amendment, 'Solicitorial Districts.'"

MAY CHANGE NUMBER "The proposed number is twenty, the number at present. The general assembly, however, is granted authority to reduce or increase this number as it may from time to time deem wise."

"If this section is adopted, then we will have in the state of North Carolina a system of judicial districts and also a system of solicitorial districts, thus enabling the general assembly to increase the number of solicitors without increasing the number of judges."

"Under the present constitution if new judicial districts are created in order to relieve the congestion, a new judge and a new solicitor must be provided for. The proposed amendment grants to the general assembly the discretion of making judicial districts as and where needed and would not require two new officials in each new district."

24 Years Ago in HAYWOOD

Republicans win in Nation Tuesday, William H. Taft, of Ohio, has been elected president of the United States. His majority in the electoral college will be less than that of Roosevelt four years ago.

Despite the rain that fell in torrents last Wednesday evening nearly a hundred invited guests wended their way to the hospitable home of Mr. J. Howell Way on Main street to meet the physicians of the tenth district to whom had been tendered a reception by the host and hostess, Dr. and Mrs. Way.

Miss Adora Smathers entertained at a very delightful Halloween party in honor of her sister, Miss Lida Smathers, and her guest, Miss Lillian Demarest, of New Orleans. The usual games and fortune telling were included in the entertainment.

Mr. J. H. Howell and bride arrived from Virginia Monday and are spending a week on Jonathan's creek visiting Mr. Howell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Howell.

Mr. Ernest Withers having resigned his position as special insurance agent on the field and withdrawn from the company of Reed, Howell and Withers, has opened an insurance and real estate office of his own in the Greenwood building.

The telephone lines leading out of town to Asheville and the country precincts which were out of commission by the heavy snow last Thursday have been repaired.

Relieved By Taking Cardui

"I was weak and run-down and suffered quite a bit with pains in my side," writes Mrs. Nick Baranco, of Beaumont, Texas. "I was nervous, I did not rest well at night, and my appetite was poor. My mother had used Cardui with beneficial result, so I decided to take it. I surely am glad I did, for it stopped the pain in my side and built up my general health. I took seven bottles in all."

HOW ABOUT THE CHILDREN'S SHOES?

Get out last year's school shoes and send them to us and we'll return them to you good as new, and the cost will be very small. Don't wait until cold weather sets in—sent them today.

THREE GARAGE SIGNS "W close at seven" said No. 1. "No doubt they found the day done." "Keep open all night" said the second one. "Me waken."

"I'd like to know how a man who always got his hair cut when night came on, and when he was going straight to bed, would put a bed in his office, and his head would be facing toward the door, some traveller to knock."

"Take off your hat to No. 3, for he was just the shrewdest. His sign read 'ME WAKLEY.' We have to say no flies on you."

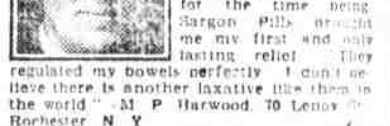

"Of all these three I like the man who always got his hair cut. But travellers on the state highway would always stop at 2 or 3."

"Be sure in the shades of night it was to them a great delight to find there two to be availed of. But as and off—their journey. J. M. NEWTON, Waynesville, N. C."

Ready to Repeat "You may not remember me, but two years ago I rescued your daughter from drowning and you made me a present of $1000." "Yes, indeed, young man, I recall you perfectly. What can I do for you?" "I merely dropped in to inquire if your daughter has learned to swim yet?"—Boston Transcript
