MRS. WILLIS SPEAKS AT CANTON D. A. R. MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Bell Love chapter of D. A. R. was held last Wednesday afternoon in Canton with Mrs. H. D. Secrest, Mrs. Sarah Haynes, and Miss Louise Slaughter as joint hostesses. The members assembled in the club rooms in the Y building, which was decorated in white and yellow flowers...

During the business period, officers and chairman gave reports, among which was the report of Mrs. E. B. Camp for Crossnore, a report from the Washington tree planting by Mrs. Rufus Sier, and the last word from the vanishing teas given by Mrs. Kate Morris.

After the business was finished the meeting was turned over to Mrs. J. Howell Way, who introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. R. B. Willis of Asheville, who spoke to the chapter on "The Critical Period Following the Revolution." Mrs. Willis presented her subject in a most interesting manner, giving the human side of the trial of the new country in such a realistic way...

Following adjournment, the hostesses served tea and sandwiches and a social hour was enjoyed. Specially invited guests were Mr. J. Handy Kirkpatrick, Mrs. J. T. Puley, and Mrs. W. C. Garrison.

MRS. LONG HOSTESS AT TEA

A pretty affair among the many social events of the fall was the diminishing tea given by Mrs. James M. Long last Friday afternoon at her home in Hazelwood for the benefit of the Waynesville Library.

A wealth of autumn flowers lent charm to the home. In the living room chrysanthemums in shades of yellow were used, and in the library rose colors predominated. The dining room was decorated with yellow chrysanthemums. The table was covered with a handsome lace cloth over yellow and centered with a bowl of gorgeous single chrysanthemums. Yellow tapers in glass holders also graced the table. Tea was poured from a lovely silver tea service.

The first hour Mrs. Long was assisted in receiving by her mother Mrs. J. W. Weaver, and little Miss Doris Colkitt received the silver offering. During the second hour Mrs. Long was assisted by Mrs. James L. Robinson, and her small daughter, Miss Mary Robinson, received the offering.

In the dining room, where Russian tea was served with small cakes and yellow mints, Mrs. J. P. Dicus and Mrs. Ben Colkitt poured tea the first hour with Miss Emily Siler and Miss Lois Dicus, serving. Mrs. R. L. Prevost and Mrs. S. H. Bushnell poured tea during the second hour and were assisted in serving by Miss Hazelnie Swift and Miss Martha Dicus.

About sixty guests called during the hours from four to six.

SENIORS HAVE PARTY

The members of the Senior Class of the Waynesville Township High School assembled at the home of Miss Eugenia Boston on last Saturday evening for their first social meeting of the year.

The home was thrown en suite and beautifully arranged throughout with chrysanthemums and other fall flowers.

Miss Hattie Sier Freeman was in charge of the games which furnished the entertainment during the evening. Punch and cake were served from an attractively appointed table.

Among those present were: Miss Bernice McEhannon and Miss Bessie Boyd of the high school faculty, and Misses Jean Morrison, Louise Moody, Louisa Thackston, Carmen Platt, Hilda Limer, Elizabeth Sheehan, Sibyl Underwood, Mary Glee Ferguson, and Hattie Sier Freeman. AUDUBORN BIRD SOCIETY

The Pine Tree Troop of Girl Scouts which was organized in our town at a year and a half ago is rapidly becoming the most absorbing feature in the lives of its members. Because of the interest aroused in birds by the nature study of the summer the girls are becoming members of the Auduborn Bird Society.

One division of their work which the girls especially enjoy in signaling. The project which the troop is now working on is a play taken from part of Jean Webster's book "Just Patty," which they hope to present to the public soon.

About two weeks ago a number of the girls, accompanied by Captain Smith, went to Asheville to a Girl Scout rally meeting. They returned enthusiastic over the work and the progress of the troop here.

As the girls desired to aid in the raising of money for the library a Girl Scout tea will be held Wednesday, Nov. 16, 1932, at the home of Captain Smith.

Any girl between the age of 10 and 18 years who is interested in becoming a member of the local troop should attend the meeting on Nov. 25, 1932, at the Central Elementary school building as that day has been set aside for the consideration and reception of new members.
