STAR OF THE EAST

Star of the East, that long ago
Brought wise men on their way
Where, angels singing to and fro,
The Child of Bethlehem lay—
Above that Syrian hill afar
Thou shinest out tonight, O Star!

Star of the East, the night wear drear
But for the tender grace
That with thy glory comes to cheer
Earth's lonliest, darkest place;
For by that charity we see
Where there is hope for all and me.

Star of the East! show us the way
In Wisdom undefiled,
To seek that manger out and lay
Our gifts before the child—
To bring our hearts and offer them
Unto our King in Bethlehem!

Homer Ferguson Makes "Hit" In Suffolk Recently

Former Waynesville Man Delivers Address At Suffolk. Splendid Write-Up Given

The Uplift official organ of the Jackson Training School, in last week's issue had the following to say about Homer L. Ferguson, well-known Haywood county man, and now engaged in business as president of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company.

The article written by Charles E. Roger, editor of the Uplift read as follows:

"We thoroughly enjoy the Suffolk News-Herald, edited in a most able manner. One editorial of the last issue of that tidewater journal captioned, 'Ferguson, Optimist and Seer,' caught attention of the writer. We very soon knew that the Ferguson referred to is no other than one of North Carolina's most distinguished sons, Mr. Homer Ferguson, shipbuilder and president of the Newport News Dry Dock hails from a most distinguished family of Waynesville, N. C.

"He was invited by the business men of the progressive little city, Suffolk, to make an address, and from all reports he made a 'hit' for the press, stated he 'radiated' refreshing enthusiasm to his audience which is a difficult thing to do during this era of un-usual economy.

"But courage, good, just and unflinching faith are ingredients of the Ferguson's, there are several of them, brothers and cousins, who have held responsible positions, locally and nationally, and in each case have departed themselves acceptably, showing at all times faith in their people and faith in the resources of their country. We judge he spoke with an understanding heart showing he was conversant with conditions confronting individuals and big business. He reached the climax of his speech saying, 'We are not whipped,' the American people have too much stick-to-itiveness and common sense not to think and work their way out of this depression. That is the talk of a statesman. He speaks like a man who is working to make a job, or add dignity to a job, and not working just to hold a job. He further gave color to his speech when he told his audience it was absolutely unnecessary to go beyond the boundary lines of the southeast for brain and brawn to develop, neither for material with which to build. As proof of his statement he said there were in his great plant men to the manor born who could build and design the most intricate machinery and build the greatest vessels that float. Surely talks of this nature give a hope, and inspire confidence in our fellowmen—a thing much needed to restore business to normalcy. Such enthusiasm is constructive, giving ideals that doubtless will be absorbed and bring about good results.

"Knowing the temperament of these eastern Virginians—enthusiastic and appreciative, we wager as an evidence their high esteem for this adopted son of Virginia they felt much like toasting Ferguson in this style:

"Here's to the man who plans things—
Builds things—makes things—
Who prattles not of wonders of old,
Nor glazes over an astral gold,
But takes off his coat and takes hold
And does things."
