

6 MEN CAN RUN COUNTRY, SAYS SEN. HUEY LONG

In a rip-snorting, fire-eating interview in his hotel suite in New York, Senator Huey Long, the Louisiana "Kingfish," declared that six men control the wealth of America. Not only that, "they can run the country," he said.

He named them as follows: J. Pierpont Morgan, John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Mellon, George B. Baker, the New York banker.

Du Pont, he didn't say which one; Henry Ford.

"I'd rather have them with me than all the Congressmen that have sat since the first American Congress," thundered Long.

After naming Morgan, Rockefeller and Mellon, Senator Long said: "I'll stop right there. That's enough."

Oh, well, he'd go along—so he decided to give what he termed "honorable mention" to Baker, the du Ponts and Henry Ford.

A reporter asked Huey what he thought of the prosecution of Charles E. Mitchell, the New York banker, for alleged income tax evasion. Pounding his fists he shouted:

"We in America have a policy of going after dead lions. Why, when Insull went broke and ducked to Greece they said: 'Go after him! Get him!' And when Mitchell got in trouble they said: 'Let's go him too!' Why, Mitchell hasn't done a thing he hasn't been doing for 20 years."

"500 years' wealthy men have been practicing and profiting under a system that the Government and everybody else know about and condoned."

Long declared that certain things were bound to happen "when 85 per cent of the wealth of the country is in the hands of 5 per cent of the people."

How are you going to get the money away from rich men, a reporter wanted to know. Long had the answer:

"To bid any man to earn more than $1,000,000 in a year; forbid any child or person to inherit more than $5,000,000; levy a capital tax of 1 per cent on all fortunes over $1,000,000, and graduate the tax upward until you reach $100,000,000."

"This form of taxation would bring into the Government $15,000,000,000 a year. There would be no such thing as taxing the so-called common people, and no such thing as unemployment."

For more than an hour Senator Long answered questions. He didn't dodge a single one. The only hesitancy he showed was when some one asked him if he'd like to be the dictator of the United States. He didn't believe in dictators.

Beer—"It may be the solution of the prohibition question. It's going to take the push off the effort for outright repeal."

Farm Relief—"My idea is to balance production with consumption."

Railroads—"No, I would not favor a national dictator for the carriers."

Hitler—"There never has been a country that put the heel on the Jews that ever lived."

Inflation—"We're not inflating the small depositor in their graves. We're raising the flag of purity over the big banks and closing the little ones."

And so on for an hour and fifteen minutes.—Baltimore News.

"Ten cents worth of bicarbonate of soda for indigestion at this time of night," said the infuriated druggist, who had been aroused at two a. m., "when a glass of hot water would have done just as well!"

"Well, well," returned MacDougal, "I thank you for the advice, and I'll no bother you after all. Good night."

School Grounds An Index To Citizenship

BY B. B. BENNY

There is an phase of our school work which has shown a practice of our citizenship program more than campus beautification. Not a school has fallen down on the job since the opportunity presented itself last December to have the yards fixed as an asset to the community life.

First of all we wish to thank the Principal of each school for exerting influential leadership in this matter and in some cases especially staying by early and late to see that projects were carried out properly. Second we wish to express our appreciation to the P. T. A. for educational progressive and cooperative leadership shown throughout the year. In Waynesville Township the P. T. A.'s are really the most vital part of our organization. Five organizations in the six white schools and also one in the negro schools that are really functioning for the benefit of the child and the welfare of the community.

Planting out native shrubbery has prevailed throughout all our projects. Evergreens in a few cases, and on several campi the ground has been leveled and lawn grass sowed. Rock walls have been built at strategic points and a few columns erected at entrances. Several basket ball courts have been planned and the football field at the high school has been graded and put in first class condition. If a good sod can be grown during the summer we will have one of the best football fields in Western North Carolina.

This type of work is accomplished only through the cooperative efforts of Principals, P. T. A.'s and all community organizations.

2-Cent Local Postage Rate Seems Likely

Washington.—House leaders and Post-office official agreed at a conference with President Roosevelt on a reduction in local letter postage to two cents, with authority for the President to raise or lower the postal rates generally.

Chairman Doughton of the House Ways and Means Committee and Postmaster General Farley headed the delegation consulting with the President. Arrangements were made for immediate introduction of the new postal legislation.

The local or "drop" letters are those which are delivered within the city or within the postoffice district in which they are mailed.

The present three-cent rate would be maintained for letters going out of the city of origin.

Chairman Mead of the House Post-office Committee, Representative Rapon of Arkansas, a member of the Ways and Means Committee; Joseph C. O'Mahoney, First Assistant Postmaster General, and Director Douglas of the budget were the others attending the meeting. O'Mahoney said: "It is our hope that the lower rates will increase business and stimulate revenues. Anyway, we are going to try it for the period of a year with provision for the President to raise or lower them further if necessary."

Marshall von Hindenburg has preserved his Teutonic temper and his sense of humor. London "Public Opinion" furnishes this example: Interviewer: "What do you do, sir, when you get nervous?" Hindenburg: "I whistle." Interviewer: "But I never heard you whistle?" Hindenburg: "Neither did I."

Use Government Loans To The Best Advantage Urged

Some North Carolina farmers, who are using governmental seed and fertilizer loans to finance their crops this season have been given the impression that they must buy certain brands of material in expending the money loaned to them.

This is a mistake. According to advice received by Dean O. Schaub at State College from the director of crop production loans in Washington, the regulations governing these loans do not contain any requirements or suggestions to borrowers as to the purchase of any particular brand or manufacturer. Director C. W. Warburton says borrower are free to use the proceeds of their loans for any needed supplies within the regulations, using their best efforts to obtain the best possible value for the money expended. It is not a part of the duty of the supervisors to suggest or direct crop loan borrowers to buy goods of any particular brand or manufacturer or to purchase supplies from any particular source.

Mr. Schaub says this information should clear up this confusion at once. Tarheel farmers borrowing from the Government seed loan fund should use the money to the best possible advantage, buying where best prices can be secured and obtaining the best materials possible with the money available. The regulations do not say that a borrower has to buy a certain kind of nitrogen fertilizer; for instance, if he believes some other kind would give better results, or would be a better buy for his particular conditions.

"Pat," said the doctor, "your case is a very peculiar and baffling one; if you'll agree, I'd like to call in another physician. Two heads are better than one, you know."

"Oh agree," returned the willing patient. "Sure, th' felly must be worth seein'." Bring in the doctor with the two heads.

Relieved By Taking Cardui

"I was weak and run-down and suffered quite a bit with pains in my side," writes Mrs. Nick Barranco, of Beaumont, Texas. "I was nervous, I did not rest well at night, and my appetite was poor. "My mother had used Cardui with beneficial result, so I decided to take it. I surely am glad I did, for it stopped the pain in my side and built up my general health. I took seven bottles in all." Cardui is sold at all drug stores.

Senate Adopts Measures In Which $16,000,000 Is Appropriated For Eight Month School Term In State

Over $23,000,000 Was Budgeted For 6-Months and Two Months.

SEN. HUEY LONG'S bill to extend the school term in the State from six to eight months, which was passed by the Senate last Thursday, appropriates $16,000,000 for the purpose. The bill also appropriates $15,000,000 for the purpose of extending the school term from six to eight months, and $15,000,000 for the purpose of extending the school term from six to eight months.

The House had sent over an appropriation for the six months term with extended term aid, which the Senate committee on appropriations endorsed, after increasing the amounts. However, the Senate, by a vote of 23 to 17, substituted the proposal for an eight months term supported by the State without ad valorem taxes, for which $16,000,000 was proposed. The question of whether charter districts would be permitted to supplement this fund was not included, but would be left to the school machinery bill.

The $16,000,000 appropriation for eight months, if it should be adopted, would mean a cut of $7,392,487 from the $23,392,487 which budgeted for the operation of the six months school year. This year the State school funds included $15,000,000 from county funds, $1,225,000 from district funds, and a total of $18,625,000 for the six months term, and $8,592,987 from all other sources for the two months extended term.

The cut of $7,392,487 for the year 1934-35 would mean that the school for a recent year, if carried through, would mean that practically the entire amount would come from reduction in salaries of the teachers.
