Mountaineers Ready For Hard Game With Andrews Here Friday

Local Players Are Slow Getting Into Shape, Andrews Team Rated As Good

The Waynesville Mountaineers, led by Yancey Bridges, went through their final hard workout Wednesday afternoon in preparation for the game, with Andrews on the local field Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Little is known of the Andrews team except that they have a heavy fast team.

The Mountaineers have been rather slow in getting into shape this season, and many new candidates will be given a trial for the first string positions in the opening game, according to Coach Weatherby last night.

Present indications are that a large number of fans will turn out to see the first game of the season, and also the first to be played on the local field since it was rebuilt last fall. The field now compares second to none in Western North Carolina.

Bank Officials Tell Why They Cut Rate

Since the First National Bank here started making a charge of five cents on all out of town checks up to five dollars and ten cents on all above five there has been quite a bit of comment and objection on the part of some depositors.

The bank officials told The Mountaineer yesterday that they got their authority to make this charge from the New Banking bill that was passed by the last Congress and went into effect June 16th.

Another subject that has caused an unlimited number of objections has been the reduction of the interest rate from four per cent to three per cent. This was also provided for in the bill. All members of the Federal Reserve System are not allowed to pay any other member interest on demand deposits, except in the case of savings deposits, then only one per cent is paid.

The officials of the First National Bank here started in July paying only three per cent on savings. The Federal Reserve Board has requested that all banks make this change before October first, and gave the banks the right to make the change immediately after June 16th.

The greatest amount of criticism comes from individuals that only have a small check cashed occasionally, and not from the large depositors who are paying as high as $1.50 a day to get foreign checks cashed, it was stated.

Literary Digest Publishes Article About New College

Nation-Wide Publicity Is Given To This Immediate Community And College

In last week's issue of The Literary Digest, the following article was carried about New College, which is located at Springdale, the 1800 acre farm belonging to Lenoir Gwyn.

The article under the heading "Putting College Students On Farms To Fit Them for Life" reads as follows: A new note to college life was added this summer when sixty-five students and instructors of New College, a training school for teachers, affiliated with Teachers College, Columbia University, opened a farm community in North Carolina as a regular part of the college course. New College represents a distinct departure from the usual educational procedure, when it opened in September, 1932, and the farm community is required course for all students. It is one of the many unusual features of the institution.

Dr. Clarence Linton, secretary of Teachers College, who is supervising the college in the absence of Lenoir Gwyn, said the farm community was in keeping with the general policy of fitting the students to life situations. The college requires that each student spend a year of study in Europe and the traditional point and credit system peculiar to virtually all schools has been abolished. Students are also required to spend a period of several months in some industrial experience.

It was a supreme compliment to North Carolina when that State was chosen as the ideal region for the community. According to Dr. Linton, "The mountains of North Carolina were favorably considered because of the remoteness of the location, the admirability of the climate of southwestern North Carolina, and the rich biological, botanical, geological, geographical and sociological resources of this area. The State provides not only the greatest variety of fauna and flora but also the best examples of each to be found within a like area in the United States."

New College seeks to discover superior young men and women and interest them in education as a professional career. Dr. Linton explained "Special emphasis is placed on a broad cultural foundation which is permeated by a professional viewpoint. To this end each student is urged to have as many contacts with life situations as possible. The curriculum is a broad and instructive one learning first hand what rural life is like in the attempt to establish a community life with an educational program. Here sixty-five students and instructors divide their time between study and work. The community is located on an 1800-acre farm in the Blue Ridge mountains, eighteen miles from Waynesville, about the same distance from Canton and approximately thirty-five miles from Asheville.

"Most of the work of the community is done by students and faculty. Students of household arts, planning, purchase, prepare, and serve the food. All cooperate in planting, cultivating and harvesting the garden and field crops, and in caring for the chickens, pigs and cows which furnish food for the group. Others cut and bring in the wood, which is the chief fuel for cooking, while some assume the care of buildings and grounds."

The tables are turned in this informal academic environment. Student and instructors exchange places, and any one who knows something that others do not may become a teacher. Much of the supervision is done actually by the students. The community is permanent and will be open all the year round.

Vocational Boys Are Hard At Work

In the past week the vocational boys of Waynesville, gathered up among themselves enough tomatoes to make a truck load, which was about 120 bushels, and took them to the markets of Florida to see if there was any market for them.

The boys received two cents per pound for their tomatoes, and if they find this to be profitable an effort will be made to ship more.

The boys held their first regular Aggie Club meeting since the beginning of school on Tuesday morning, September 19. The program was well carried out, and every boy took a part. They hope to carry on their meetings, having better success the coming year than they had in the past. Reporter. ARTHUR FRANCIS.

State Makes Drastic Cuts In Allotments For County Schools

Proposed Health Zone Will Include Haywood County

Dr. Zeigler Says It Would Mean $30,000 A Year For Waynesville

Dr. M. A. Zeigler, director of division of county health work for the Federal government for the state, while on a recent visit here, stated that he was very much encouraged over the prospects of making the territory of Haywood, Jackson and Swain counties into a health zone, and the creation of a training school here for giving practical instruction to those interested in entering that field of work.

The organization would be under the supervision of the Federal government, and would be paid for by the Federal government, State and County. The county's share of the expense would only be slightly more than what is now being appropriated to the Sanitary Inspector.

If this project is completed, it would give to this territory two full-time sanitary inspectors, two trained nurses and a full-time physician. The cost of these additional workers to the county would be only a slight increase over the present cost, according to E. L. Hinton, sanitary officer for this county and with whom Dr. Zeigler has been consulting on the project.

The Federal government is anxious to establish such zones throughout the country, especially near national parks.

When the project is established, the Federal government would then advertise the fact that a health zone adjoining the park under their supervision was being carried on, and this would, within itself, according to those who have studied the matter, be a drawing card to this section.

The trained nurses would work among the poor and needy of the county, together with the doctor. The sanitary inspectors would do the same work now being done by Mr. Hinton, but in a broader field.

Dr. Zeigler estimated that at least $30,000 would be brought to Waynesville each year by students coming here for training in that field of work. The student would remain for six or eight weeks, getting practical training.

Dr. Zeigler also stated that he and others who now have office elsewhere in the state would spend much of their time here in seeing after the work and in making experiments.

Offices in the court house would have to be provided if it was not at no expense to the county. This would be headquarters for the entire area.

County Board Of Education Orders All Light Service Discontinued

The state school board in making allotments for the coming school year gave Haywood county only about half of what was necessary to operate on, which resulted in the Haywood County Board of Education in executive session here Tuesday making several orders such as having all light service in the schools of the county discontinued, unless the principal of each school shall be personally responsible for the light and raise enough money to pay for them.

Last year the county was allotted $1,128.87 for light and water. This year the allotment is $488. The county board found that the minimum for water for this year is $492.22, leaving a balance of the allotment of only $92.78, which will just about pay the first month's light bill for the schools, according to Jack Messer, county superintendent. It was because of this that the board decided to discontinue all light service.

The state set aside $9,500 for transportation for this county. Twenty-three busses are operated in the county including Beaversdam. This figure, about $3.90 per child for the school year. Because of the curtailment of funds, the state board ordered that only student drivers drive the busses and replace the present adult drivers. The student drivers are to receive $7.50 per month.

The Haywood County School Board, by cutting down on gas and oil have on their way clear to offer adult drivers $12 per month to remain as drivers. This offer was only made Wednesday and none had given their answer at press time Wednesday afternoon. It is doubtful whether they will remain at that low figure, it was said. Last year the drivers were paid from $30 to $25 per month. The 23 busses in this county cover 970 miles a day, or an average of 41.5 miles each.

For instructional supplies $276 was allotted, or about $2 per teacher in the county.

The salaries of full-time janitors was placed at $227.50 per year.

The salaries of the board of education last year was $100 each. This year the salary for the three members of the board is $100 or $33.33 each. This is the entire salary and nothing is allowed for transportation as heretofore.

Mr. Messer stated that the only way the county could add additional funds to those set by the state was to call a special election and have the people vote for them. This however, is not feasible at the present time, he stated.
