An Announcement----An Invitation

RESIDENT BUYING SERVICE
ESTABLISHED IN NEW YORK

Resident Buyer Our Guest November 17-18

To Meet Our Customers

Ready-To-Wear Clearance Sale, Nov. 17-25

1st.—Our Ready-To-Wear Department has arranged for a Resident Buyer in New York City in the person of Mrs. Nancy Jane Riddle. Through her services we shall make available to Waynesville, the newest, smartest, and best creations of the garment center of the world—New York.

2nd.—Definitely by the Christmas season, new merchandise will be received weekly. Garments will not be allowed to remain in our stock beyond a short predetermined period. Always you may expect to find a fresh selection of frocks in the newest styles and materials.

3rd.—Inauguration of the new system requires elimination of our present stock. Friday, November 17, we begin a Clearance Sale of Ready-To-Wear as a Pre-Thanksgiving event. It continues 8 days through Saturday, November 25.

It's a mutually advantageous proposition—ours to sell at sharply reduced prices—and yours to buy the resulting bargains. Having decided to clear out every item of our present stock of dresses and coats our prices will be merchandise movers. See our ad elsewhere.

AN INVITATION

Mrs. Riddle visits us Friday and Saturday, November 17-18 for the special purpose of meeting our customers. We invite you to visit our store on one of those days for personal consultation with her. Your doing so will impress her with our style and quality needs. Mutual benefit will result to yourself, your store and to Mrs. Riddle. Be our guest on that day.

Mrs. Riddle is a southerner in the most complimentary sense. She is personally attractive—her smartly chosen clothing being a tribute to her taste. Comparatively young—yet her buying experience in New York extends over a period of several years. Her buying has been for southern firms. She knows southern style needs. She will know yours. She hopes to meet you personally.

OUR POLICY

We propose a Ready-To-Wear Department which shall meet generously every genuine need of our community. Extremes in price and style will be avoided as foreign to Waynesville and as tending to make all prices high. We propose in Ready-To-Wear, as in other Departments, to provide the best combination in price—quality—and style.

Whatever may be modish, smart, individual—the very best, we expect to have. Always you may be assured that our garments have come from the designer by the quickest, most direct route. Constantly our Buyer, Mrs. Riddle, will be on the watch for the new.

Our new system will not permit merchandise to remain beyond a short predetermined period. Absolutely, garments are not to be carried over from one season to another.

We shall have for the younger matron and our go-thither girls, the modishly smart—What you want and when.

For the matron and the older woman we intend particularly to provide. This will include handsome provision for those inclined to be stout.

LEGION AUXILIARY MEETS.—The American Legion Auxiliary of Haywood Post No. 47 held its regular meeting Monday night at the Masonic Temple.

After the usual order of opening, a short business session followed. The members of the post and auxiliary then adjourned to the W. W. N. C. Cafe where the hostesses, Mrs. Tom Lee, Mrs. F. H. Saunders, and Mrs. C. A. Black served coffee and cakes.

MISS ADORA HOLTZCLAW PRESENTED TO SOCIETY.—Miss Adora Evelyn Holtzclaw was presented to society last week at a ball given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gilbert Holtzclaw, at the Commonwealth Club in Richmond, Virginia. A number of out-of-town guests attended this affair, which was preceded by several small dinners.

Mr. and Mrs. Holtzclaw, Miss Holtzclaw, her guest, Miss Christine Luke, of Keswick, and her aunts, Mrs. George H. Smathers, of Asheville, and Mrs. Adora Rayne received the guests in the foyer just off the ballroom.

Mrs. Holtzclaw wore a gown of black velvet with a train and trimmed with silver cloth at the neck. Her flowers were green, brown and purple orchids. Mrs. Smathers' dress was of dark blue velvet. Miss Holtzclaw was dressed in a frock of white, metallic gauze with gold thread and made with a small train. A scarf-like arrangement veiled the shoulders and fell in with a small train. She carried an arm bouquet of Talisman roses.

The ballroom was decorated with yellow and bronze pom-pom and large chrysanthemums, which were arranged in the corners of the room before a background of palms. Punch was served throughout the evening in the library and the guests had breakfast at 2 o'clock in the morning.

Miss Holtzclaw has a wide circle of friends in Waynesville where she makes her summer home.

SALISBURY VISITORS HONORED.—Outstanding among the social activities of the fall season was the bridge dinner given on Friday evening by Mrs. Diana Shoolbred at Sunny Cove Orchard, the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Black. The affair was given in honor of Mrs. Tom Snyder and Miss Elizabeth Wright of Salisbury, house guests of the hostess.

Quantities of late autumn flowers were attractively arranged in the living rooms to denote a color scheme of yellow and green. The large table in the dining room was covered with a handsome lace cloth and centered with a bowl of yellow chrysanthemums and flanked by burning tapers. Dinner was served on a charmingly appointed table also lighted by

MRS. BEN COLKITT BRIDGE HOSTESS.

Mrs. Ben Colkitt was hostess at a delightful affair on last Friday afternoon when she entertained at bridge at her home on Central avenue.

Beautifully arranged bowls of chrysanthemums in shades of yellow and orange were placed in the rooms where four tables were grouped for playing. The color note of yellow was furthered in the tallies and in the salad course served after the game.

When the scores were totaled Mrs. C. M. Dicus was found to hold high and Mrs. J. P. Dicus had low score. Each was presented an attractive prize as well as Mrs. Rufus Siler who won the consolation.

Those playing bridge were: Mrs. Eugene Alley, Mrs. Jim Killian, Mrs. N. M. Medford, Mrs. J. P. Dicus, Mrs. C. M. Dicus, Mrs. Rufus Siler, Mrs. John N. Shoolbred, Miss Robina Miller, Mrs. J. W. Seaver, Mrs. Tom Lee, Jr., Mrs. William Hannah, Mrs. S. P. Gay, Mrs. Hugh Massie, Mrs. Diana Shoolbred, and Miss Martha Mock. Tea guests were Mrs. R. N. Barber, Mrs. and Mrs. James Harden Howell.

OPERAETTA TO BE PRESENTED AT HIGH SCHOOL.

The members of the Latin Club and the Glee Club of the High School are working on an operaetta under the direction of Miss Grace Crocker. This opera is "The Sunbonnet Girl." The Sunbonnet Girl is a charming operaetta the libretto of which is full of spirit and fittingly animated to match the lively, tuneful music. Far above the general level of amusement the witty story has its share in the evening's entertainment.

There is pleasure in the delightful plot, situation, comedy and dialog to the musical end of things. There are fifteen in the cast besides a chorus of 25 girls and 15 boys, and in addition to this, there will be a flower ballet of little girls from the Central Elementary School. There will be bright, colorful costumes and the general ensemble of the whole operaetta should commend the interest of Waynesville for the very best talent of the school will be represented.

The operaetta will be given on Wednesday evening, November 29, in the High School auditorium.

MARS HILL STUDENTS SPEND WEEK-END AT HOME.

Miss Edith Baucum and Miss Doris Messer, both students at Mars Hill, accompanied by several of their classmates, spent last week-end at their respective homes. Miss Baucum's guests were, Miss Sara Barrett and Miss Wilma Johnson. Miss Messer's visitors were Misses Miriam and Dorothy Early and Peggy Hines. Joining the house parties Saturday were Bob Hastings and Lafayette Dean also from Mars Hill College.

On Saturday evening the visitors were, delightfully honored with an informal reception given by Miss Messer and Miss Baucum at the home of Miss Baucum.

About fifteen of the city's younger social set were invited to meet the visitors and after an evening of entertainment the hostesses served an ice course.

MISS CLARA DAVIS IS BRIDE OF MR. W. E. EAGLE.

Of interest is the announcement by Mr. and Mrs. Grady Boyd of the marriage of their sister, Mrs. Clara Davis, of Decatur, Georgia, and Mr. William E. Eagle of Atlanta. The wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd on last Friday at noon. Mrs. Boyd on last Friday at noon. The Presbyterian church officiating. Only members of the two families were in attendance.

The living-room where the vows were spoken, was simply but effectively decorated in white and green. There were no attendants and the couple entered together. The bride wore a stunning green model with carnal cape and muffs and smart black accessories, and her flowers were a shoulder corsage of pink roses and lilies of the valley.

Following a wedding breakfast the couple left for Washington and Rockwell, Maryland, the former home of the groom. After the honeymoon the couple will reside in Atlanta.

Mrs. Eagle is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bell and has spent several summers with her family in Waynesville where she has a wide circle of friends. The groom is originally from Maryland, but has
