

Nobody's Business

By GEE MCGEE

IT'S MY NERVES, I RECKON
 I went to a movie the other night to see a picture that I had been wanting to see and hear for several months. I had no other business there except to enjoy the picture. I don't know how picture shows operate in your town, but our theaters give a guy much more than he pays for.

I arrived about 8 o'clock, just after goober halls had been fairly well scattered between many of the seats. The house was not crowded, just comfortably full. The 12-year-old boy who sat behind me seemed to rest better with his right foot on my right shoulder and his left foot on my left shoulder. Some boys must sit like that; he had several imitators.

The first 5 minutes the screen explained who in town had the best dry cleaning and who sold the coldest ice, and where the sweetest drugs were compounded; the next 10 minutes informed the audience all about the coming pictures for Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday; the next 15 minutes notified us that some nice pictures would come next week and week after next.

And the next 15 minutes were taken up with some miscellaneous bits of the picture that were shown "exclusively in this theater" next summer and next fall. I was not awake when the operator found out that he had failed to tell us where to buy the nicest furniture and who sold the fastest automobiles and how to keep out of debt by buying an icebox with only 2-dollar down payment. That took a while too.

It was getting late but I was right there with one end of my ticket in my mouth, for which I had paid all the ticket seller charged me. Just to see the main feature picture. Our baby had gone to sleep and my old lady was leaning heavily upon my side. The boy just behind me had removed one foot from my left ear; it evidently had gone to sleep too.

Just about the time I was nearly "gone" from weakness and boredom, the real picture started. If I had not been tired, I am sure I would have pronounced it the best of the season. Restless men like me, who are always in a hurry, hope some day to find a show that shows nothing but the show it is showing. I pick out the picture; I want to see from newspaper ads, and I trade at stores and shops because I see their ads also, and because of their fine reputations.

POLITICAL DOPE FROM FLAT ROCK
 ...the political different hats have been thrown on 6 different hats have been pitched into the municipal ring, some mud-linging has already been slung and the worst is just around the corner. Flat rock needs a change.

Holsom moore has had his flatform printed on a grocery store circular and scattered them far and wide, who has tacked up over 250 telegram posts; some posts have over 50 of same on them with his pitcher.

Holsom has announced the following platform to wit: lower taxes, more c. w. a. and p. w. a. and less graft; law-enforcement all the way from shooting craps to assault and battery; government loan for sewage, and a new school board. He is running for mayor; the present incumbent is also running, but has not told his flatform except his record, which is very weak.

Jud Clark is seeking the job of councilman from ward No. 1. He is in favor of a fire alarm system with government money, lower taxes, free meals for the poor school children, including 6 of his'n and 108 per month to each member of the town council, all on the dimmeratic ticket.

Bert Clark is after setting on the town council from ward no. 3. His planks differ from jud's planks, as they do not speak outer count of his hogs rooting up his patch of corn in 1913. He is in favor of free silver at the rate of 16 to 1; higher price gold; the league of nations; old age pensions for world war vets. Ansoforth, he is willing to serve free as a city father.

John Clark is running for the fourth time without avail in the first 3 races. He claims to be been counted out last year at the poles. He thinks jappan ought to be gun out of chinarr. He also thinks bishop cannon should not be sued again. He has a short wet plank in his platform and believes a beer tax and a whiskey tax should keep up all public works and the schools, and release land and dogs and tobacco from the confiscatory taxes now put on same.

Yore cory spondent, hon, mike Clark, rfd, is asking his friends to seat him at the poles next month as councillor from ward no. 2. He is running on his merits and the rose, velvet flatform. He favors taxing the copper-rations and letting the little man have a chance. He wants the poor and needy took better care of at the government's expense and he also favors stronger beer, weaker licker, shorter dresses, higher tariffs, wider blankets in hotels and lower-nake dresses. He is sure to win if nobody else comes out, as he is the only one so far to file a pledge in this ward.

A visiting nurse was examining some children in a Forsyth county school. One youngster, aged six, was sadly underweight. The nurse made inquiries as to his diet and the following dialogue took place:
 "You don't drink milk?"
 "Nope."
 "Live on a farm and don't drink milk at all?"
 "Nope, we ain't got hardly enough milk for the hogs."
